Stassen Trails Taft In Ohio GOP Primary Election

Ohio Senator's Delegates Lead In 11 Districts

Stassen's Backers Ahead In 6 Races

COLUMBUS, O., May 4 (AP) — Candidates backing Senator Robert A. Taft led in 11 and supporters of Harold E. Stassen were ahead in 6 of 23 contested delegate races in early returns tonight from the Ohio GOP Presidential primary.

Reports were not available from three districts in which six additional delegates were chosen.

Taft's nine candidates led the field in a 10-man race to pick nine delegates at large. But since Stassen had entered only one candidate in this field, only that single place was among the 23 being contested.

Taft Leads In 10

Reports from eight districts — each picking two delegates — gave Taft men the lead in 10 and Stassen backers in six.

In the state-wide race, Carrington T. Marshall, Stassen's lone entry, trailed Ed Schorr, low man among Taft's nine candidates on returns from 233 polling places (including 50 in the cities) of the state's 9,385.

In the district voting, Stassen showed strength in the Third, Seventh, Sixteenth and Eighteenth Congressional Districts.

In the Third District, which includes Dayton and other industrial cities, his two candidates led the Taft men.

His two entrants also were ahead on scattered returns from the sixteenth district, including Canton and Northeast Ohio industrial districts.

In the Seventh District, which embraces Springfield and nine agricultural counties in West Central Ohio one of his delegates led and a Taft man was second.

In the eighteenth district, including five Eastern Ohio counties where lie part of the Ohio coal fields, a Taft man led, but a Stassen man was second.

Taft's two candidates were leading in the Ninth, Twentieth, Twenty-First and Twenty-Second Districts. The latter three embrace the city of Cleveland.

Stassen Seeks 23

Besides his single at-large race entry, Stassen had candidates running for 22 District delegate posts in an effort to take 23 of the state's 53 convention nominating votes away from Taft.

Politicians said Stassen must win 10 or more to keep his primary band wagon going in high gear. By the same token, they said the loss of 10 would seriously damage Taft's personal chance for the nomination.

Because of a complicated ballot —top-heavy with state Republican and Democratic candidates—counting in the 9,385 polling places was expected to be slow in the knockdown Presidential battle.

Despite generally murky skies, active interest in the national contest reached such a peak that Cleveland election officials said voters followed the unusual course there of taking more Republican than Democratic primary ballots.

Taft forces had counted on Cleveland as one of their strongholds, but Stassen followers were just as sure they would break into the lineup in the three Congressional districts electing six delegates there.

Voting also was reported heavy in Akron but not up to the expected mark in Youngstown.

The Stassen people claimed strength there in a last-minute check which they said would give them 15 of the 23 delegate races in which they have candidates entered. Stassen publicly has claimed only a majority of 12.

Bonus To Replace Draft Suggested

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—Rep. Allen (R-Ill) today proposed a substitute for the draft—a program to build up the Armed Forces by paying a bonus to volunteers.

Allen suggested that men who enlist for a two year period get a bonus of $1,000 or be entitled to the benefits of the GI bill of rights. Those who sign up for three years would get $1,500.

Allen, chairman of the House Rules Committee and influential in Republican affairs, said a cost comparison between his plan and a draft could not be made.

He said the cost of a draft has been estimated all the way from $2,500,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 a year. This would include the cost of inducting men, equipping, training, feeding and clothing them.

Allen said his proposed bonus would cost $350,000,000 a year. In addition, of course would be the cost of equipping, training, feeding and clothing the volunteers.

Allen said there would be no Selective Service organization to support, under his plan, but he was unable to say what the cost of Selective Service would be under the draft program.

Hearings Are Set To Study Tougher Taft-Hartley Act

Testimony Will Be Taken May 24

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—With a national railroad strike threatening, congressional hearings aimed at tightening the Taft-Hartley Act were set today for May 24.

They were called by Senator Ball (R-Minn), chairman of the "watchdog" committee set up by the Senate and House to check the operations of the 1947 labor bill.

Will Take Testimony

That joint committee will take the testimony.

Perhaps significantly, Ball did not question whether the law should be changed to meet the threats of work stoppages in basic strike-menaced industries. His statement on the matter asked only how the law's provisions should be strengthened.

Ball said the committee isn't interested in broad, general statements for or against the law, but "specific suggestions, preferably related to factual experience, for its improvement."

He mentioned the railroad strike, set to begin a week from today, in what looked like a broad hint that the committee will discuss bringing rail workers under the Taft-Hartley Law. A separate law, the Railroad Labor Act, now covers their disputes.

Federal mediators, however, thus far have been unable to bring the carriers and their aggrieved employes together in the dispute over wages and working rules. The White House was reported watching the developments closely, although Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said any action by the White House is unlikely at this time.

Lists Specific Problems

Ball listed several specific problems he expects the committee to take up.

Among these was the provision in the present law requiring an authorization election before a union shop contract. Ball said the National Labor Relations Board is "flooded" with petitions for such elections. He questioned whether all forms of compulsory union membership should be eliminated, or whether the requirement for authorization elections should be abolished.

Other questions raised by Ball:

How can both representation and unfair practices cases be speeded to final decisions?

Senate Committee Approves Drafting Men 19 Through 25

Would Train Boys 18 Years Of Age

WASHINGTON, May 4 (INS)—The Senate Armed Services Committee approved tentatively today sections of its Military Manpower Bill which calls for the draft of men 19 through 25 and the training of 18-year-olds.

Chairman Gurney (R) S. D., told newsmen that there was "general concurrence in the committee with the whole idea and objectives" on the combined draft - training bill, which the military estimates would put 350 thousand men into uniform the first year.

Conform With House

The draft ages of the Senate Bill conform to those in the legislation approved yesterday by the House Armed Services Committee. However, the House Bill does not propose the training of 18-year-old youths, a provision which the two houses probably will have to fight out in conference.

Gurney said that an amendment was proposed to limit the number of doctors to be inducted to safeguard civilian health. He said:

"There will be specific provision so that no one community will be stripped of all its doctors."

However, he said it was a "foregone conclusion" that some doctors about 26 years of age will be drafted.

The American Medical Association sought unsuccessfully to have the House Committee bar the draft of doctors over 26. Under the House Bill, the President could demand the induction of physicians up to 45 years of age.

Sections Are Approved

Gurney said his Senate Committee approved the first eight of the 60 pages of its bill.

Other committeemen said the Faces Conduct Count

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 4 (AP)—Sen. Glen Taylor (D-Idaho) arrived this afternoon to face disorderly conduct charges in Police Court tonight. The charges stem from his arrest Saturday night when he attempted to use the negro entrance to a mixed meeting.

24 Greek Rebels Are Executed

ATHENS, May 4 (INS)—Twenty-four Communist guerrillas and their supporters who have been under death sentence for murder were executed in Athens today.

A previous report, accepted as official, that a total of 152 Communists were executed throughout Greece today was denied tonight by Acting Justice Minister Constantine Rendis.

Rendis also denied a report that the government had asked a speed-up in the executions of 835 other Communists under death sentence.

Most of this group were captured after the December, 1944, rebellion, but some have been seized in the past 12 months by troops and police.

Rendis said these cases, which are subject to review by a pardons board, will follow the "normal legal procedure."

Vice Premier and Foreign Minister Constantine Tsaldaris denied that today's executions were in retaliation for the assassination Saturday of Justice Minister Christos Ladas.

(A Reuters dispatch from Athens said Premier Themistocles Sophoulis after conferring with Tsaldaris, decided to reshuffle his cabinet and present a new list to King Paul Wednesday.)

The government regards the Ladas assassination as part of a Communist plot which also is aimed at Premier Sophoulis.

The Premier said today the government would not be "intimidated" by the Communists.

The mass roundup of Communists suspected of connections with the plot continues.

Another 100 Communists were arrested today for questioning.

Governor May Call Special Md. Assembly

Date Expected To Be Set Shortly

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 4 (AP)—Governor Lane indicated today he will set the date for a special General Assembly session late this week or nearly next.

First, he wants to talk the whole thing over with key men of the legislature.

Even after he gets their reaction to his program, other items have to be considered:

Setting in motion the mechanics of a special session, making known the gist of a study of current state salary rates and recommendations for a general increase; agreeing on a convenient date.

A budget Bureau survey released yesterday suggested Maryland's lawmakers will be asked to appropriate $2,601,654.

All but $500,000 of that sum would be for pay raises to state employes. The balance would be added to public welfare funds.

Will Discuss Welfare Fund

The Governor said he would take up the Emergency Welfare Appropriation, along with salary boosts, when he confers with General Assembly leaders.

A similar emergency payment was approved at last year's special session, but not without energetic opposition.

Several lesser matters will also be on the conference agenda. One, the governor said, will be whether or not money paid from the general emergency fund within the last year should be lumped into the regular budget.

That would stabilize such projects as the new State Department of Information.

Among the legislators Lane probably will call in are Senate President Joseph R. Byrnes, Majority Leader L. Harold Sothoron, House Speaker C. Ferdinand Sybert and Mapority Leader Leroy Pumphrey.

Both the majority leaders are chairmen of assembly that handle money bills — the Senate Finance Committee and House Ways and Means Committee.

Just what a committee studying state payrolls has recommended will not be known until its lengthy report is made public by the Governor. That will not be until the General Assembly's top men have seen it.

Figures released by the Budget Bureau support recent speculation that a cost-of-living raise of about 10 per cent will be proposed. Salaries cost the state between $22,000,000 and $23,000,000 a year now.

Break Downs Totals

In their report, the budget experts broke down appropriation totals between general and special funds, and again between what would be necessary for a cost-of-living raise and to maintain increases already given this year by the state employes' standard salary board.

When Former Governor O'Conor approved pay hikes in 1946, raises granted during the preceding year were deducted from the general increase.

Finding a date for the upcoming session is no simple chore. By custom, the Governor gives at least 10 days' notice to the General Assembly. By next week, that would advance the possible date to state convention time.

McCarty, Warren Lead In Fla. Election

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 4 (AP)—Dan McCarty, young Fort Pierce citrus grower, and Fuller Warren, Jacksonville attorney, moved to the front of the nine-man Florida Democratic Governorship race on the basis of early primary returns tonight.

Colin English, state superintendent of education, was running a strong third.

Unofficial returns from 89 of the state's 1,537 precincts, gave McCarty 10,822, Warren 9,315, English 6,798, W. A. Shands 3,710, Tob Watson 3,495, Richard H. Cooper 623, Bernarr MacFadden 428, F. D. Akin 172, and Basil H. Pollitt 164.

LOYALTY PARADE-- Beribboned ex-servicemen carry Old Glory and flags of veteran organizations on Fifth Avenue, N. Y., during the Loyalty Day parade held in opposition to the leftist-observed May Day demonstration. On nearby Eighth Avenue, 12,000 left wingers were also marching. More than 2,000,000 spectators cheered the 130,000 veterans and members of various patriotic organizations in the parade.

Jews Offered Equal Rights In Palestine

Alabama Split In Civil Rights Election Bolt

BIRMINGHAM, May 4. (AP)—Early returns indicated tonight that Alabama's delegation to the Democratic convention will be split between those advocating and those opposing a bolt over the Civil Right issue.

With 19 boxes counted in today's primary, Senator Lister Hill (D-Ala) and former Gov. Chauncey Sparks held the lead among candidates for delegate to the Democratic National Convention. Both are opposed to the proposed walkout. Hill had 538 and Sparks 524.

Following them were three candidates pledged to walk out. They were Handy Ellis, 520 votes; State Democratic Party Chairman Gessner T. McCorvey, and Eugene (Bull) Connor. Gov. James E. Folsom, himself a candidate for a "favorite son" nomination, was trailing with 269 votes.

Battle South Of Jerusalem

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 4 (INS)—Transjordan's King Abdullah offered the Jews equal rights in a unified Arab Palestine today. He warned through the United Nations that if they don't accept this solution violence will reach "the pinnacle of horror" in the Holy Land after May 15.

The Arab monarch addressed his communication to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie, who will refer it without comment to the 58-nation Political Committee.

Debate In Session

The royal message reached Lake Success in the middle of an inconclusive debate in the 12-Nation Trusteeship Council over recommendations for a neutral municipal administration of Jerusalem after an Arab-Jewish truce has been achieved.

The morning originally was reserved for a special plenary meeting of the general assembly to approve a Jerusalem truce believed to be nearing completion under the auspices of the International Red Cross.

Silence out of Jerusalem, however, and consequent assumption that negotiations have struck another snag, caused a cancellation of the plenary session.

The political committee, counselled by Britain yesterday to drop the temporary trusteeship scheme and to seek an emergency neutral authority witrout delay, has little desire to seize the initiative and have a showdown.

The U. S. has begun to throw cold water on the British plan for a stop-gap regime in Palestine and Britain displays definite opposition to the U. S. temporary trusteeship scheme. The Anglo-American rift further complicates hopes for practical steps on the Holy Land by the political committee.

Message Dispatched Early

King Abdullah's communication apparently was dispatched before the arrival in Amman of the Security Council's three-man consular truce commission. Abdullah's offer of equality to the Jews in an Arab-dominated Palestine government is a proposal the Jews from the first have categorically rejected.

The Arab monarch's message to Lie states in part:

"The calamities occurring in Palestine are beyond belief and after May the 15th will reach the pinnacle of horror.

"I deplore and reprobate the useless killing and attacks the one upon the other. . .

"I am nevertheless persuaded that the Jewish people as a whole desire to live in amity with the Arabs. Everything cries for intervention to halt this butchery.

Durant Ordered Back To Prison

RICHMOND, Va., May 4. (AP)—The United States Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals today ordered Kathleen Nash Durant back to prison.

In an opinion written by Judge Morris A. Soper the Appellate Court reversed a decision of Federal Judge Ben Moore, Charleston, W. Va., and ordered that he remand the former WAC captain to the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W. Va.

Mrs. Durant, sentenced to five years at hard labor by an Army Court Martial in the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewel theft case in Germany, was released by Judge Moore in September, 1947, on a writ of habeas corpus. The appellate court today directed that the writ be dismissed.

The husband of Mrs. Durant, former Colonel Jack Durant, now is serving 15 years in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta under a court martial conviction in the case. His counsel also has instituted proceedings to gain his freedom on grounds similar to that followed by counsel for his wife.

Judge Soper's opinion, concurred in by Judges John J. Parker and Armstead M. Dobie, said the lower court's findings were erroneous and not altogether accurate.

Maryland Voters Turn Attention To Conventions

Meade's Defeat Is Only Major Upset

BALTIMORE, May 4 (AP) — With all primary election matters settled, Maryland voters turned their attention today to their state political conventions, which seem almost certain to send uninstructed delegations to Philadelphia.

The major upset in the voting yesterday was the defeat of Rep. Hugh A. Meade, Baltimore City, for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Second District. He was beaten by State Senator William P. Bolton, whose home is in Baltimore County.

All other Congressmen were renominated, the two Republicans without opposition.

Maryland Republicans will hold their state convention in Baltimore May 20.

The Democrats have not fixed the date for their meeting and likely will not do so until the end of the week. It probably will be sometime in the week of May 23.

Under the law, the state conventions must be held within 30 days after the primary.

Uninstructed Delegates Likely

Although a few Republican State Delegates favoring General Douglas MacArthur for President were elected, the preponderance of those going to the state convention apparently will stand for an uninstructed delegation. Most of the party leaders have approved that plan.

Some Democratic leaders have said they were almost certain their Philadelphia delegation will go uninstructed. There has been some talk of a Maryland boom for Senator Millard S. Tydings for Vice President but whether the convention will take any action is undetermined.

Each state convention will have 152 delegates. Each county or legislative district sends representatives to the total of the number of members of the legislature from the district.

Governor Lane, who also is Democratic National Committeeman, will have a conference in Annapolis this week on a state convention date.

Heads YWCA

NEW YORK, May 4 (INS)—The Young Women's Christian Association tonight announced the selection of Mrs. Arthur F. Anderson, of New York as president for the third consecutive year.

Other officers elected include Mrs. William Spencer Bowen, Westfield, N. J., first vice president; and Mrs. Edward W. Macy, Brooklyn, second vice president.

Talks To Avert National Strike End In Failure

Douglass To Report To President Truman

CHICAGO, May 4—(AP)—Federal seizure of the nation's railroads became a possibility tonight after the collapse of mediation efforts to avert a strike called for May 11.

Soon after the collapse of the talks, the three unions issued strike instructions and said that union members would continue to operate troop trains, hospital trains, and milk trains when and if the strike takes place.

Attempts of Frank Douglass, chairman of the National (railway) Mediation Board, to settle the wage dispute between the carriers and three operating brotherhoods broke down today.

Douglass, who said that neither side had budged during five days of conference here, announced he would go to Washington tonight to report to President Truman.

Truman Watches Talks

The President was reported by White House assistants to have been watching the Chicago mediation efforts closely.

General counsel Francis A. Silver of the Office of Defense Transportation said in Washington that legislation is still on the statute books making it possible for Mr. Truman to order federal operation of the railroads.

The walkout has been set for next Tuesday by unions representing 190,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen. The strike was called a week ago after breakdown of direct negotiations between union and railroad representatives.

The three unions have demanded a 30 per cent increase in wages and changes in working rules. They have rejected an offer by the carrieers of 15½ cents an hour.

Nineteen other railroad unions have accepted the 15½ cent raise. Those unions which have agreed upon the increase were said by railroad officials to represent 90 per cent of the country's railroad employes.

The 15½ cent figure was recommended by a Presidential fact-finding board as a basis for settlement of wage demands by the three brotherhoods.

After the final conference with union negotiators today, Douglass said "neither the railroad brotherhoods nor the carriers will budge from their position of a week ago.

"The railroads' position is that they have done everything they can under the National Railway Act.

Labor Demands More

"The labor organizations have insisted all the way through the talks with me that the carriers will have to give them more before they will settle. Consequently, we have stopped negotiations and we are going to Washington tonight to report to President Truman."

With Douglass was Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., a member of the government mediation staff.

With the threatened stoppage only a week away, there remained two courses open to the government in addition to federal operation of the railroads.

The second possibility was hasty enactment by Congress of legislation to bring the railroads under the Taft-Hartley Act and its injunction procedure for national emergency strikes. The Taft-Hartley Law now specifically excludes railroad workers because they are covered by the Railway Labor Act, passed in 1926.

Leaders of the three unions have contended throughout the dispute that the 15½-cent hourly increase offer was insufficient in view of increased living costs.

The carriers maintained that the 15½-cent pattern established during negotiations with the other brotherhoods last fall was sustained by the Presidential board as adequate.

Although the unions claim 190,000 members, the railroads estimate only

Committee Will Get Oleo Bill

WASHINGTON, May 4. (INST)—The Senate battled for five hours today over the bill to repeal oleomargarine taxes and then postponed until tomorrow a showdown vote over whether the measure should go to the Agriculture or Finance Committees.

The chamber agreed to vote on the question at 2 p. m. (EDT).

The vote will come on an appeal by Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark., from a ruling by Senate President Vandenberg (R) Mich., that the House-passed measure should go to the Agriculture Committee. Fulbright asked that it be sent to Finance.

He admitted that he might be defeated in his effort to keep he measure out of the hands of the Agriculture Committee, which he fears will pigeonhole it. He said:

"The situation looks very bad for the future of the bill."

Forecasts are that the Republican majority will line up almost solidly behind Vandenberg and that most Democrats will support Fulbright.

The Arkansas Senator declared that the Senate would undoubtedly pass the bill "if a vote could be had on its merits."

Stronger UN With Or Without Russia Suggested In Congress

WASHINGTON, May 4 — (AP) — Blueprints for a new, stronger United Nations—with or without Russia—were laid before Congress today by a group of Republican and Democratic representatives.

They differed in some details but the broad outlines were the same: Let the U. S. take the lead in a move to rebuild U. N. with the big power to veto weakened and the peace-keeping authority of the world organization greatly strengthened.

Tomorrow the House Foreign Affairs Committee, holding hearings on U. N. revision proposals, will hear two "outside" witnesses—Secretary of State Marshall and the Chief U. S. Delegate to the United Nations, Warren Austin.

Marshall and his advisers have avoided committing themselves on the Congressional proposals. Hence the secretary's testimony is awaited with unusual interest. Some Congressmen expect he will advise against "tampering" with the present U. N. setup at this time, despite the administration's outspoken indignation at Russia's repeated use of the veto.

But some of the congressional revisionalists feel that the veto power stands in the way of the U. N.'s working for peace.

Teachers Strike Gives 30,000 Pupils Holiday In Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 4 (INS) — A teachers' strike over wage demands closed virtually all of Providence's public schools today and gave 30,000 students an unscheduled holiday.

The children were sent home when 600 members of the AFL-Teachers Alliance walked off their jobs, and the Independent Teachers' Association voted to respect their picket lines.

Two hundred teachers, not members of either group, took no part in the walkout.

The strike closed 53 elementary schools, eight junior high schools and four senior high schools, except for custodial staffs. Survey showed less than 10 isolated classes in session during the day.

The teachers' wage demands are two-fold. They want equal pay for men and women, and they want parity for all teachers regardless of whether they teach primary, junior or senior high grades.

The teachers are demanding a flat pay scale ranging from $2,400 to $4,800 a year. Currently, elementary teachers start at $2,100 and the upper grade teachers at $2,300. All three groups' base pay includes a $300 cost of living bonus and $600 from the state.

Stassen Trails Taft In Ohio GOP Primary Election

Stassen's Backers Ahead In 6 Races

COLUMBUS, O., May 4 (AP) — Candidates backing Senator Robert A. Taft led in 11 and supporters of Harold E. Stassen were ahead in 6 of 23 contested delegate races in early returns tonight from the Ohio GOP Presidential primary.

Reports were not available from three districts in which six additional delegates were chosen.

Taft's nine candidates led the field in a 10-man race to pick nine delegates at large. But since Stassen had entered only one candidate in this field, only that single place was among the 23 being contested.

Taft Leads In 10

Reports from eight districts — each picking two delegates — gave Taft men the lead in 10 and Stassen backers in six.

In the state-wide race, Carrington T. Marshall, Stassen's lone entry, trailed Ed Schorr, low man among Taft's nine candidates on returns from 233 polling places (including 50 in the cities) of the state's 9,385.

In the district voting, Stassen showed strength in the Third, Seventh, Sixteenth and Eighteenth Congressional Districts.

In the Third District, which includes Dayton and other industrial cities, his two candidates led the Taft men.

His two entrants also were ahead on scattered returns from the sixteenth district, including Canton and Northeast Ohio industrial districts.

In the Seventh District, which embraces Springfield and nine agricultural counties in West Central Ohio one of his delegates led and a Taft man was second.

In the eighteenth district, including five Eastern Ohio counties where lie part of the Ohio coal fields, a Taft man led, but a Stassen man was second.

Taft's two candidates were leading in the Ninth, Twentieth, Twenty-First and Twenty-Second Districts. The latter three embrace the city of Cleveland.

Stassen Seeks 23

Besides his single at-large race entry, Stassen had candidates running for 22 District delegate posts in an effort to take 23 of the state's 53 convention nominating votes away from Taft.

Politicians said Stassen must win 10 or more to keep his primary band wagon going in high gear. By the same token, they said the loss of 10 would seriously damage Taft's personal chance for the nomination.

Because of a complicated ballot —top-heavy with state Republican and Democratic candidates—counting in the 9,385 polling places was expected to be slow in the knock-down Presidential battle.

Bonus To Replace Draft Suggested

WASHINGTON, May 4. (AP)—Rep. Allen (R-Ill) today proposed a substitute for the draft—a program to build up the Armed Forces by paying a bonus to volunteers.

Allen suggested that men who enlist for a two year period get a bonus of $1,000 or be entitled to the benefits of the GI bill of rights. Those who sign up for three years would get $1,500.

He said the cost of a draft has been estimated all the way from $2,500,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 a year. This would include the cost of inducting men, equipping, training, feeding and clothing them.

Allen said his proposed bonus would cost $350,000,000 a year. In addition, of course would be the cost of equipping, training, feeding and clothing the volunteers.

Allen said there would be no Selective Service organization to support, under his plan, but he was unable to say what the cost of Selective Service would be under the draft program.

Hearings Are Set To Study Tougher Taft-Hartley Act

Testimony Will Be Taken May 24

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—With a national railroad strike threatening, congressional hearings aimed at tightening the Taft-Hartley Act were set today for May 24.

They were called by Senator Ball (R-Minn), chairman of the "watchdog" committee set up by the Senate and House to check the operations of the 1947 labor bill.

with petitions for such elections. He questioned whether all forms of compulsory union membership should be eliminated, or whether the requirement for authorization elections should be abolished.

Other questions raised by Ball:

How can both representation and unfair practices cases be speeded to final decisions?

Senate Committee Approves Drafting Men 19 Through 25

Would Train Boys 18 Years Of Age

WASHINGTON, May 4 (INS)—The Senate Armed Services Committee approved tentatively today sections of its Military Manpower Bill which calls for the draft of men 19 through 25 and the training of 18-year-olds.

Chairman Gurney (R) S. D., told newsmen that there was "general concurrence in the committee with the whole idea and objectives" on the combined draft - training bill, which the military estimates would put 350 thousand men into uniform the first year.

Conform With House

The draft ages of the Senate Bill conform to those in the legislation approved yesterday by the House Armed Services Committee. However, the House Bill does not propose the training of 18-year-old youths, a provision which the two houses probably will have to fight out in conference.

Gurney said that an amendment was proposed to limit the number of doctors to be inducted to safeguard civilian health. He said:

"There will be specific provision so that no one community will be stripped of all its doctors."

However, he said it was a "foregone conclusion" that some doctors about 26 years of age will be drafted.

The American Medical Association sought unsuccessfully to have the House Committee bar the draft of doctors over 26. Under the House Bill, the President could demand the induction of physicians up to 45 years of age.

Sections Are Approved

Gurney said his Senate Committee approved the first eight of the 60 pages of its bill.

Other committeemen said the

24 Greek Rebels Are Executed

ATHENS, May 4 (INS)—Twenty-four Communist guerrillas and their supporters who have been under death sentence for murder were executed in Athens today.

A previous report, accepted as official, that a total of 152 Communists were executed throughout Greece today was denied tonight by Acting Justice Minister Constantine Rendis.

Rendis also denied a report that the government had asked a speed-up in the executions of 835 other Communists under death sentence.

Most of this group were captured after the December, 1944, rebellion, but some have been seized in the past 12 months by troops and police.

Rendis said these cases, which are subject to review by a pardons board, will follow the "normal legal procedure."

Vice Premier and Foreign Minister Constantine Tsaldaris denied that today's executions were in retaliation for the assassination Saturday of Justice Minister Christos Ladas.

(A Reuters dispatch from Athens said Premier Themistocles Sophoulis after conferring with Tsaldaris, decided to reshuffle his cabinet and present a new list to King Paul Wednesday.)

The government regards the Ladas assassination as part of a Communist plot which also is aimed at Premier Sophoulis.

The Premier said today the government would not be "intimidated" by the Communists.

The mass roundup of Communists suspected of connections with the plot continues.

Another 100 Communists were arrested today for questioning.

Governor May Call Special Md. Assembly

Date Expected To Be Set Shortly

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 4 (AP)—Governor Lane indicated today he will set the date for a special General Assembly session late this week or nearly next.

First, he wants to talk the whole thing over with key men of the legislature.

Even after he gets their reaction to his program, other items have to be considered:

Setting in motion the mechanics of a special session, making known the gist of a study of current state salary rates and recommendations for a general increase; agreeing on a convenient date.

A budget Bureau survey released yesterday suggested Maryland's lawmakers will be asked to appropriate $2,601,654.

All but $500,000 of that sum would be for pay raises to state employes. The balance would be added to public welfare funds.

Will Discuss Welfare Fund

The Governor said he would take up the Emergency Welfare Appropriation, along with salary boosts, when he confers with General Assembly leaders.

A similar emergency payment was approved at last year's special session, but not without energetic opposition.

Several lesser matters will also be on the conference agenda. One, the governor said, will be whether or not money paid from the general emergency fund within the last year should be lumped into the regular budget.

That would stabilize such projects as the new State Department of Information.

Among the legislators Lane probably will call in are Senate President Joseph R. Byrnes, Majority Leader L. Harold Sothoron, House Speaker C. Ferdinand Sybert and Mapority Leader Leroy Pumphrey.

Both the majority leaders are chairmen of assembly that handle money bills — the Senate Finance Committee and House Ways and Means Committee.

Just what a committee studying state payrolls has recommended will not be known until its lengthy report is made public by the Governor. That will not be until the General Assembly's top men have seen it.

Figures released by the Budget Bureau support recent speculation that a cost-of-living raise of about 10 per cent will be proposed. Salaries cost the state between $22,000,000 and $23,000,000 a year now.

Break Downs Totals

In their report, the budget experts broke down appropriation totals between general and special funds, and again between what would be necessary for a cost-of-living raise and to maintain increases already given this year by the state employes' standard salary board.

When Former Governor O'Conor approved pay hikes in 1946, raises granted during the preceding year were deducted from the general increase.

Finding a date for the upcoming session is no simple chore. By custom, the Governor gives at least 10 days' notice to the General Assembly. By next week, that would advance the possible date to state convention time.

McCarty, Warren Lead In Fla. Election

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 4 (AP)—Dan McCarty, young Fort Pierce citrus grower, and Fuller Warren, Jacksonville attorney, moved to the front of the nine-man Florida Democratic Governorship race on the basis of early primary returns tonight.

Colin English, state superintendent of education, was running a strong third.

Unofficial returns from 89 of the state's 1,537 precincts, gave McCarty 10,822, Warren 9,315, English 6,798, W. A. Shands 3,710, Tob Watson 3,495, Richard H. Cooper 623, Bernarr MacFadden 428, F. D. Akin 172, and Basil H. Pollitt 164.

LOYALTY PARADE—Beribboned ex-servicemen carry Old Glory and flags of veteran organizations on Fifth Avenue, N. Y., during the Loyalty Day parade held in opposition to the leftist-observed May Day demonstration. On nearby Eighth Avenue, 12,000 left wingers were also marching. More than 2,000,000 spectators cheered the 130,000 veterans and members of various patriotic organizations in the parade.

Jews Offered Equal Rights In Palestine

Alabama Split In Civil Rights Election Bolt

BIRMINGHAM, May 4. (AP)—Early returns indicated tonight that Alabama's delegation to the Democratic convention will be split between those advocating and those opposing a bolt over the Civil Right issue.

With 19 boxes counted in today's primary, Senator Lister Hill (D-Ala) and former Gov. Chauncey Sparks held the lead among candidates for delegate to the Democratic National Convention. Both are opposed to the proposed walkout. Hill had 538 and Sparks 524.

Following them were three candidates pledged to walk out. They were Handy Ellis, 520 votes; State Democratic Party Chairman Gessner T. McCorvey, and Eugene (Bull) Connor. Gov. James E. Folsom, himself a candidate for a "favorite son" nomination, was trailing with 269 votes.

Battle South Of Jerusalem

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 4 (INS)—Transjordan's King Abdullah offered the Jews equal rights in a unified Arab Palestine today. He warned through the United Nations that if they don't accept this solution violence will reach "the pinnacle of horror" in the Holy Land after May 15.

The Arab monarch addressed his communication to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie, who will refer it without comment to the 58-nation Political Committee.

Debate In Session

The royal message reached Lake Success in the middle of an inconclusive debate in the 12-Nation Trusteeship Council over recommendations for a neutral municipal administration of Jerusalem after an Arab-Jewish truce has been achieved.

The morning originally was reserved for a special plenary meeting of the general assembly to approve a Jerusalem truce believed to be nearing completion under the auspices of the International Red Cross.

Silence out of Jerusalem, however, and consequent assumption that negotiations have struck another snag, caused a cancellation of the plenary session.

The political committee, counselled by Britain yesterday to drop the temporary trusteeship scheme and to seek an emergency neutral authority witrout delay, has little desire to seize the initiative and have a showdown.

The U. S. has begun to throw cold water on the British plan for a stop-gap regime in Palestine and Britain displays definite opposition to the U. S. temporary trusteeship scheme. The Anglo-American rift further complicates hopes for practical steps on the Holy Land by the political committee.

Message Dispatched Early

King Abdullah's communication apparently was dispatched before the arrival in Amman of the Security Council's three-man consular truce commission. Abdullah's offer of equality to the Jews in an Arab-dominated Palestine government is a proposal the Jews from the first have categorically rejected.

The Arab monarch's message to Lie states in part:

"The calamities occurring in Palestine are beyond belief and after May the 15th will reach the pinnacle of horror.

"I deplore and reprobate the useless killing and attacks the one upon the other. . .

"I am nevertheless persuaded that the Jewish people as a whole desire to live in amity with the Arabs. Everything cries for intervention to halt this butchery.

Durant Ordered Back To Prison

RICHMOND, Va., May 4. (AP)—The United States Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals today ordered Kathleen Nash Durant back to prison.

In an opinion written by Judge Morris A. Soper the Appellate Court reversed a decision of Federal Judge Ben Moore, Charleston, W. Va., and ordered that he remand the former WAC captain to the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W. Va.

Mrs. Durant, sentenced to five years at hard labor by an Army Court Martial in the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewel theft case in Germany, was released by Judge Moore in September, 1947, on a writ of habeas corpus. The appellate court today directed that the writ be dismissed.

The husband of Mrs. Durant, former Colonel Jack Durant, now is serving 15 years in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta under a court martial conviction in the case. His counsel also has instituted proceedings to gain his freedom on grounds similar to that followed by counsel for his wife.

Judge Soper's opinion, concurred in by Judges John J. Parker and Armstead M. Dobie, said the lower court's findings were erroneous and not altogether accurate.

Maryland Voters Turn Attention To Conventions

Meade's Defeat Is Only Major Upset

BALTIMORE, May 4 (AP) — With all primary election matters settled, Maryland voters turned their attention today to their state political conventions, which seem almost certain to send uninstructed delegations to Philadelphia.

The major upset in the voting yesterday was the defeat of Rep. Hugh A. Meade, Baltimore City, for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Second District. He was beaten by State Senator William P. Bolton, whose home is in Baltimore County.

All other Congressmen were renominated, the two Republicans without opposition.

Maryland Republicans will hold their state convention in Baltimore May 20.

The Democrats have not fixed the date for their meeting and likely will not do so until the end of the week. It probably will be sometime in the week of May 23.

Under the law, the state conventions must be held within 30 days after the primary.

Uninstructed Delegates Likely

Although a few Republican State Delegates favoring General Douglas MacArthur for President were elected, the preponderance of those going to the state convention apparently will stand for an uninstructed delegation. Most of the party leaders have approved that plan.

Some Democratic leaders have said they were almost certain their Philadelphia delegation will go uninstructed. There has been some talk of a Maryland boom for Senator Millard S. Tydings for Vice President but whether the convention will take any action is undetermined.

Each state convention will have 152 delegates. Each county or legislative district sends representatives to the total of the number of members of the legislature from the district.

Governor Lane, who also is Democratic National Committeeman, will have a conference in Annapolis this week on a state convention date.

Talks To Avert National Strike End In Failure

Douglass To Report To President Truman

CHICAGO, May 4—(AP)—Federal seizure of the nation's railroads became a possibility tonight after the collapse of mediation efforts to avert a strike called for May 11.

Soon after the collapse of the talks, the three unions issued strike instructions and said that union members would continue to operate troop trains, hospital trains, and milk trains when and if the strike takes place.

Attempts of Frank Douglass, chairman of the National (railway) Mediation Board, to settle the wage dispute between the carriers and three operating brotherhoods broke down today.

Douglass, who said that neither side had budged during five days of conference here, announced he would go to Washington tonight to report to President Truman.

Truman Watches Talks

The President was reported by White House assistants to have been watching the Chicago mediation efforts closely.

General counsel Francis A. Silver of the Office of Defense Transportation said in Washington that legislation is still on the statute books making it possible for Mr. Truman to order federal operation of the railroads.

The walkout has been set for next Tuesday by unions representing 190,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen. The strike was called a week ago after breakdown of direct negotiations between union and railroad representatives.

The three unions have demanded a 30 per cent increase in wages and changes in working rules. They have rejected an offer by the carrieers of 15½ cents an hour.

Nineteen other railroad unions have accepted the 15½ cent raise. Those unions which have agreed upon the increase were said by railroad officials to represent 90 per cent of the country's railroad employes.

The 15½ cent figure was recommended by a Presidential fact-finding board as a basis for settlement of wage demands by the three brotherhoods.

After the final conference with union negotiators today, Douglass said "neither the railroad brotherhoods nor the carriers will budge from their position of a week ago.

"The railroads' position is that they have done everything they can under the National Railway Act.

Labor Demands More

"The labor organizations have insisted all the way through the talks with me that the carriers will have to give them more before they will settle. Consequently, we have stopped negotiations and we are going to Washington tonight to report to President Truman."

With Douglass was Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., a member of the government mediation staff.

With the threatened stoppage only a week away, there remained two courses open to the government in addition to federal operation of the railroads.

The second possibility was hasty enactment by Congress of legislation to bring the railroads under the Taft-Hartley Act and its injunction procedure for national emergency strikes. The Taft-Hartley Law now specifically excludes railroad workers because they are covered by the Railway Labor Act, passed in 1926.

Leaders of the three unions have contended throughout the dispute that the 15½-cent hourly increase offer was insufficient in view of increased living costs.

The carriers maintained that the 15½-cent pattern established during negotiations with the other brotherhoods last fall was sustained by the Presidential board as adequate.

Although the unions claim 190,000 members, the railroads estimate only

Committee Will Get Oleo Bill

WASHINGTON, May 4. (INST)—The Senate battled for five hours today over the bill to repeal oleomargarine taxes and then postponed until tomorrow a showdown vote over whether the measure should go to the Agriculture or Finance Committees.

The chamber agreed to vote on the question at 2 p. m. (EDT).

The vote will come on an appeal by Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark., from a ruling by Senate President Vandenberg (R) Mich., that the House-passed measure should go to the Agriculture Committee. Fulbright asked that it be sent to Finance.

He admitted that he might be defeated in his effort to keep he measure out of the hands of the Agriculture Committee, which he fears will pigeonhole it. He said:

"The situation looks very bad for the future of the bill."

Forecasts are that the Republican majority will line up almost solidly behind Vandenberg and that most Democrats will support Fulbright.

The Arkansas Senator declared that the Senate would undoubtedly pass the bill "if a vote could be had on its merits."

Stronger UN With Or Without Russia Suggested In Congress

WASHINGTON, May 4 — (AP) — Blueprints for a new, stronger United Nations—with or without Russia—were laid before Congress today by a group of Republican and Democratic representatives.

They differed in some details but the broad outlines were the same: Let the U. S. take the lead in a move to rebuild U. N. with the big power to veto weakened and the peace-keeping authority of the world organization greatly strengthened.

Tomorrow the House Foreign Affairs Committee, holding hearings on U. N. revision proposals, will hear two "outside" witnesses—Secretary of State Marshall and the Chief U. S. Delegate to the United Nations, Warren Austin.

Marshall and his advisers have avoided committing themselves on the Congressional proposals. Hence the secretary's testimony is awaited with unusual interest. Some Congressmen expect he will advise against "tampering" with the present U. N. setup at this time, despite the administration's outspoken indignation at Russia's repeated use of the veto.

But some of the congressional revisionalists feel that the veto power stands in the way of the U. N.'s working for peace.

Teachers Strike Gives 30,000 Pupils Holiday In Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 4 (INS) — A teachers' strike over wage demands closed virtually all of Providence's public schools today and gave 30,000 students an unscheduled holiday.

The children were sent home when 600 members of the AFL-Teachers Alliance walked off their jobs, and the Independent Teachers' Association voted to respect their picket lines.

Two hundred teachers, not members of either group, took no part in the walkout.

The strike closed 53 elementary schools, eight junior high schools and four senior high schools, except for custodial staffs. Survey showed less than 10 isolated classes in session during the day.

The teachers' wage demands are two-fold. They want equal pay for men and women, and they want parity for all teachers regardless of whether they teach primary, junior or senior high grades.

The teachers are demanding a flat pay scale ranging from $2,400 to $4,800 a year. Currently, elementary teachers start at $2,100 and the upper grade teachers at $2,300. All three groups' base pay includes a $300 cost of living bonus and $600 from the state.

MAN GETS $12,500 FOR LOSS OF ARM

A circuit Court jury returned a verdict of $12,500 yesterday afternoon for Foster L. Shipley, Baltimore, for the loss of his right arm in a truck-car crash last July 29 on Uhl Highway, 11 miles south of Cumberland. The plaintiff had sued Ralph D. Wilson, owner of the truck, for $25,000.

Shipley was a passenger in Jonah Hose's car when it struck the parked truck. Witnesses told the jury the truck was parked without lights at the time.

The plaintiff was employed as a welder and burner by the Maryland Drydock Company, Baltimore, and it was claimed the loss of the arm probably resulted in the loss, at least partially, of his trade.

County Mourns Death Of Clerk Of Court Jackson

If one sought for the absolute antithesis of the "stuffed shirt" type of man, he could hardly do better than name the late Robert Jackson, whose sudden death will be genuinely mourned by the thousands of Allegany countians who knew him so well, either through personal contact or by name.

His duties as Chief Clerk of the Circuit Court during the past eleven years afforded him the opportunity to meet personally most of the people who, at one time or another, found it necessary to visit the Court House. And, whatever their mission, he would take a personal interest in it.

"Bob," as he was familiarly known, gave liberally of his time and services, and if advice were sought he gave it unhesitatingly. He was capable of this because during the 34 years of his connection with the court clerk's office he kept abreast with the rapid growth of business which flowed through his hands, with the result that his knowledge of the affairs of his ofifce made him one of the best informed officials of the county.

But he carried his responsibility with a light manner, a constant sense of humor and a wit that was to make him one of the most affable men in the county's public life. He had the rare ability of being able to remember, not only faces, but to call by name the thousands of persons he met, even though the renewal of some acquaintances might have been after long intervals. As a result, his popularity was enhanced to such a degree as to discourage anyone who might have entertained a desire to contest his right to his position.

In the death of "Bob" Jackson, the county has lost a faithful servant, and Cumberland one of her best citizens. A warm heart and a lively spirit was fused in this man.

Americans have lost none of their traditional bravery, as demonstrated by the number of men willing to be President, despite the fact the White House has been termed a fire trap.

John L. Lewis Calls For New Contract Talks

John L. Lewis has asked the soft coal operators to meet with him on May 18 "for the purpose of negotiating a successor contract" to the one now in existence. The Taft-Hartley Act requires that a party wishing to end a labor agreement must give the other side 60 days' notice. The contract expires June 30.

So Mr. Lewis has taken the first and necessary step toward a coal strike. Or perhaps it would be more appropriate to call it just another step, since he laid the groundwork for a walkout when he instigated the recent month-long stoppage. That period when little coal came out of the mines left the country short of this vital commodity and it is not to be expected that an appreciable reserve will be built up by June 30.

It is also very convenient for Lewis that the vacation period provided by the contract will begin June 26 and the mines will therefore be closed down for the ensuing 10 days. By the time the vacation period ends, any reserves will have just about disappeared. And, if there is no contract, the miners will, it is expected, adhere to their long practice of "no contract, no work."

Lewis is likely to make demands the operators will not grant, except under pressure. He will almost certainly ask for a royalty big enough to pay the $100 a month pensions he wants for retiring miners. It is reported he will also demand a 35-hour week and a bigger vacation allowance.

Peace in the soft coal fields is vital to the nation's economy just now.

If the nation is to be reactivated for air raids, it will be discovered the buckets of sand went into the flower garden, while those silly little pumps have been taken apart by the children.

Still Rising

People who have been waiting for building costs to decline are still waiting—and indications are they will keep on waiting for a long time. Latest figures gathered by the Department of Commerce show that the upward trend has not been checked.

Construction costs have more than doubled since 1939, the department reports. In February of this year they were 108.7 per cent higher than the 1939 average. They were also 13 per cent higher than in the same month a year ago and 1 per cent higher than last December.

But the department notes that the rate of rise for both materials and construction now is "relatively slow." That may indicate that the peak has been almost reached. Materials are available in greater quantity and the flow of supplies should make for greater efficiency and economy.

Whether wages will rise further and whether labor productivity will increase are unanswered questions that will, of course, have a bearing on the future.

Meanwhile, it must be noted, many people are not waiting. At the first quarter rate, if continued, construction for this year will reach an estimated total of $15,000,000,000, according to the report. That is 20 per cent above last year. So the threat implicit in high prices—that they will eventually check demand and cause a slump in the industry—is still only potential.

The department also says that because of high costs the physical volume of construction will be "substantially below the peak volume of previous years." But the indications are it will be big enough to keep suppliers and builders fairly happy.

Three per cent of America's millionaires die annually, and heirs and inheritance taxes take care of the millions.

Too Much Boogie?

A possible explanation of the anti-Yankee aspects of the recent disturbances in Colombia might be found in the fact that shortly before the Pan-American conference opened, Colombians were introduced to a new aspect of U. S. culture in the form of a 10-ton plane load of juke boxes.

A scientist who says there is no such thing as time may have been led into error by listening to jazz musicians.

A Bunion Is No Joke

Bunions are joykillers that take the fun out of walking. Furthermore, the deformity frequently makes it difficult to obtain comfortable shoes and in women particularly, the cosmetic effect is discouraging.

The disorder develops when the large toe bends outwardly. In extheme cases, the "piggy" that goes to market" crowds its neighbor, lying over or under the second digit. But the structure that really suffers is the joint where the metatarsals and phalanges of the feet join. The angle created by the bent toe leaves this area exposed and the resultant irritation causes most of the trouble.

At first the joint becomes thickened but, as irritation continues, nature comes to the rescue by covering the region with a small sac that acts as a cushion to protect the protruding part. But this is no advantage because in time the sac becomes inflamed, increased discomfort and disability. When this occurs, pain and swelling are so marked that walking is almost impossible.

It is generally conceded that bunions favor those who wear pointed, narrow shoes but this factor alone is not always responsible because many individuals have been addicted to such footgear for years without acquiring the abnormality. It is often associated with other foot disorders indicating a combination of faulty shoes and poor walking habits. The malady is encouraged when the heel does not bear its share of the body weight; the foot is thrown out of balance, producing extra pressure on the metatarsals and toes. This is most likely to take place when wearing high or narrow healed shoes. The same can be said of the flatfooted walker; with each step he rolls off the inner side of the great toe, slowly forcing it toward the center of the foot.

Such irregularities should always be watched in children in order to prevent the defect as well as by adults who notice that the toe is beginning to lose its proper alignment. If a minor distortion exists, and the foot is still pliable, restoration is possible without resorting to surgery. Properly fitted shoes are needed, into which pads or bars are attached to shift the weight. But unless the victim learns to walk correctly, many of these innovations will be useless. Women may find treatment along this line difficult because the type of shoe recommended does not conform to the style. It is true that flats are now the mode; next month, stilts may again be in vogue. But even if corrective shoes are purchased for ordinary wear, the gals can use the fancy numbers for dancing and parties.

A half-moon or oval shaped pad, placed around the bursa, decreases pressure from the shoes. This procedure can be used to alleviate distress until other methods have rectified the basic fault.

Surgery is recommended should simpler measures fail. During the war, when hospitals were crowded, Compere and others discovered that an operation could be performed successfully without keeping the patient in bed. Immediately after removal of the bunion, a special bandage was applied and the individual encouraged to walk. The end results were good and, in many instances, the period of disability was reduced.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The sportsmen's vacation show here in Los Angeles has been demonstrating the latest in automobiles—the convertible double-bed model. Just imagine, all you have to do is push a button and the inside of your car becomes youd bedroom.

I can see it all now. In the future when you stop at a gas station, the attendant will ask you "Gas . . . oil? . .Change your sheets?".

Naturally, all our cars will have four speeds . . . first, second, third . .and pleasant dreams.

And if the back-seat driver gets too annoying you can tell her to go take a nap.

It will be just my luck to get a mother-in-law who talks in her sleep.

Having a bed in the car will change a lot of our sleeping habits. If you have insomnia, instead of sheep jumping over a fence, you'll count hot rods jumping over pedestrians.

And hitch-hikers will probably be very fussy. Before getting into your car they won't ask "where are you going?". . .just "have you got an inner spring mattress?"

Of course, all this can get you into trouble. I took a ride in one of those convertible double-bed model cars yesterday and was stopped by a cop while going through a hospital zone. I asked him "going too fast?" and he answered "no. . . pajamas too loud."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senator Taft's Advisers Suggest That He Become Known As a Liberal; Vermont's Aiken Leads Maple-Syrup Battle; Oil Lobby Has Two Great Goals

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 4—Senator Robert Taft, worried about his poor showing in the presidential polls, has been consulting with professional opinion researchers. Their advice has been that he become known as a "liberal."

One of Taft's advisers is Dr. Claude E. Robinson of Princeton, N. J., president of Opinion Research Corporation, who has collected opinions on Taft from all over the country.

"You are so busy with the practical side of government," he told the Senator, "that you have lost sight of the fact that people think in terms of goals. You should start letting people know that you are on the side of the Lord."

He suggested that Taft reveal himself in his "true role" as a liberal and stress his stand for the public good, that he start by examining the question of what is a liberal and defining it as one who believes in liberty and higher living standards. The strategy then is to show that Taft possesses the practical sense to ahcieve these goals.

Dr. Robinson warned that the public is still fearful that the Republican Party represents "reaction and the vested interests." He quoted a typical opinion from his surveys—that "no poor man should be a Republican." The best way to combat this, he recommended, is to set up goals and catch the eye of the common man. Taft could bid for the leadership of the "revolutionary" movement—the revolution which started Judy 4, 1776, advised Dr. Robinson.

He also tried to console Taft over the results of the Gallup Poll which registers his political strength at an alarming low. Taft's standing against President Truman was just one Republican contender against the undisputed Democratic candidate, Dr. Robinson pointed out. If Taft were the sole Republican nominee, the results would be different.

It was shortly after consulting with Dr. Robinson that Taft came out with his political "new look," starting off with a speech, "What Is a Liberal?"

NOTE—Dr. Robinson works for one division of the Gallup Poll—that which handles private research. Dr. George Gallup, head of the poll, is a close friend of Governor Dewey's and frequently advises him on public reaction.

Battle Over Syrup

A small-scale battle similar to the oleomargarine feud is in the offing—this time over maple syrup. Vermont's conscientious Senator George Aiken, who can detect pure Vermont maple syrup from all the synthetic substitutes, will crack down on restaurants that offer maple syrup on the menu, then serve corn syrup instead.

Aiken has already consulted the Food and Drug Administration and the Federal Trade Commission. He argues that if restaurants can get away with passing off corn syrup as maple syrup, they will start substituting margarine for butter as soon as the taxes on yellow margarine are lifted.

Incidentally, Aiken is a powerful member of the Senate Agriculture Committee which must pass on the repeal of margarine taxes. That battle has only passed the House—is only half won.

The Far-Flung Oil Lobby

To understand the ramifications of the oil lobby, you have to realize that it has two great goals—Arabian oil and Tidelands oil. These comprise the two greatest untapped oil resources in the world.

It isn't fair to put every American oil company in the lobby, because a lot of them only suffer as a result of the bad publicity stirred up by their competitors. Actually, Standard Oil of California and the Texas Oil Company are the prime movers in the lobby, with the Guaranty Trust Company and some of the big bankers putting up considerable amounts of dough.

To understand one phase of how the lobby works, you need only call the roll of government officials who worked for the Arab-American oil combine. Oilmen were able to put their own officials inside the government, then draw them out again, almost at will. So it's easy to see how the lobby operates with greased lightning efficiency—whether it be Palestine or selling overpriced oil.

Here is a list of key officials who at one time or another worked for both sides:

Adm. Andrew F. Carter, head of the Army-Navy petroleum board, now with the American-Arabian oil combine. His brother, Adm, William J. Carter, was in charge of naval purchases and ordered the Arabian oil for which the Navy paid $38,000,000 too much.

James Duce, head of the foreign division of the petroleum administration for war, is now vice-president of American-Arabian oil.

C. F. Snodgrass, served under Duce in the government, is now with International Corp., employed to build the Arabian pipeline.

Comdr. Ralph Fowler of the Navy's fuel division, participated in the negotiations by which the Navy purchased high-priced Arabian oil, is now employed by the American-Arabian Oil Co.

Lt. Col. E. P. Kavanaugh, on the Army-Navy oil board, got special priorities for American-Arabian Oil to build its refinery. He now represents the combine in Washington.

Franz Von Schilling was middle eastern oil attache for the State Department in Cairo, while on leave from the oil combine. He is now back with them.

J. Howard Marshall, general counsel for the petroleum administration for war, is attorney for Standard Oil of California.

No matter how conscientious some of these may have been, it is difficult for anyone to determine the dividing line between duty to his country and duty to his company. Significantly, Ralph Davies, deputy administrator of the Petroleum Administration, later lost out with Standard of California, reputedly because he favored his country more than his company.

Stassen Seeks Something Of A Novelty In U. S. Politics

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The energetic Harold E. Stassen finds himself in fundamental disagreement with Senator Taft on both foreign and domestic questions.

Mr. Stassen welcomes division within the party. He thinks that if there is a close division on any subject, the next Republican platform should state, "On this proposal the party is divided, in the proportion of three in favor, to two opposed"! This is something of a novelty in politics. It would appear to give Mr. Stassen, if he is the nominee, and is in the minority on some question—or several questions—the right to publicly oppose the platform throughout the campaign.

Beginning with his campaign for the nomination five years ago—when he wrote two articles in the Saturday Evening Post — he has asked for a "challenging," "dynamic," "positive" and "constructive" approach on at least a hundred subjects. One of his Post articles is entitled: "We Need A World Government." This was two years before the United Nations Charter was written. He advocated a "world police force," international control of tariffs, etc.

What He Proposed

In 1945, he proposed an international air force of five bomber squadrons "manned by volunteers from the United Nations." These squadrons would be based at five different points around the world; the United States would give each squadron five atom bombs—25 in all—and then stop making them. Assuming that Russians would "volunteer" to make up one, or more, of these squadrons, we would then rest in peace—or pieces.

He proposed that "no one shall engage in atomic research without registering with the United Nations Atomic Commission," but having registered, "any scientist would then be free . . . to publish his results to the world"!

In May of 1947, Stassen proposed to "loan" 10%, or give a "tithe," of our national production of goods and food to the world, and repeat every year for ten years. 10% for ten years would total at least one hundred billion dollars. That is six times the Marshall Plan estimate, and twice as generous as Henry Wallace's scheme which called for only the piddling sum of fifty billion dollars. For each year of the ten, Mr. Stassen's "tithe" would be 25 times the $400,000,000 aid to Greece and Turkey.

He said, "We should not expect repayment in dollars or manufactured goods because the rest of the world cannot repay in either one of them. And we do not need either of them"!

When the Taft-Hartley bill was before Congress, Mr. Stassen urged Republicans to confer with President Truman and "try to meet his views." If his views had been met, no law would have been written that would have stopped Mr. Lewis' coal strike. He thinks the Taft-Hartley Law should now be amended as follows: (1) Permit the use of labor union treasury funds in political campaigns. (2) Revise the non-Communist affidavit provision which, he says, "overreaches itself." (3) Restore the closed shop, leaving that "to free contract between management and labor."

Participation in G.E. Strike

During the General Motors strike in 1946, he joined a committee asking contributions to aid the strikers. The chairman of this committee was Harold L. Ickes, and Stassen's fellow members included Senator Taylor of Idaho (now candidate for Vice - President on the Wallace ticket), Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Claude Pepper, Leon Henderson, etc. This committee got a ruling from Washington that contributions to the fund were tax deductible! As contributors would pay less income taxes, this meant that the government was, in effect, subsidizing one side of an industrial dispute.

Although he welcomes party differences on most subjects, as proof of Vim, Vigor and Vitality, he hopes for a completely "bi - partisan" foreign policy. As the Republican Convention meets first, he hopes it will write a foreign policy plank which could then be submitted for adoption by the Democratic Convention as a truly "bi-partisan" statement of American purposes.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Mr. Truman will heckle the west next month in order to bust up that Douglas boom. Seems that Bill has been making hey-hey while the sun shone.

Gael Sullivan quits the Democrats to go into another branch of show business. He got more interference in his job than a farmer milking a six-legged calf.

Sullivan was quite friendly with both Truman and Douglas so that leaves another vacancy to be increased. Of course Truman can call Bill in and say, "Judge, I don't want you running for President on your dinner hour."

Being an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court old Bill naturally has the five-four slant on everything. That's the unbalanced view.

I wouldn't advise Bill to have his glims examined in Harry's spectacle shop. That oculist prescribes nothing but rose-colored glasses.

Barrage Of Propaganda Makes For Confusion Of Average Man

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 4 — Three Three addresses delivered on the addresses delivered on the same day on somewhat the same subject illustrate what a confusing time the average person must have nowadays trying to find truth amid a barrage of propaganda.

Philip Murray, head of the CIO, gave an address on wages and prices in the steel industry, while William Green, president of the AFL, discussed corporate profits as a whole. Irving Olds, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, evidently noting a similar argument made by Mr. Murray in other speeches, undertook to give a rebuttal.

Mr. Green's speech was the least temperate of all—or maybe that was the way it was prepared for him by his propaganda bureau. He says:

"According to official government figures, corporate profits reached a record peak of 17 billion dollars in 1947. We all thought that business 1947. We all thought that business was reaping heavy profits during the war. But the 1947 peacetime figure was 71 per cent higher than the 10 billon dollars in profits which American industry gained during the war year of 1944. Just think of it—the postwar profiteers have almost doubled the swag which the war profiteers raked in."

Bit Severe To Call It "Swag"

It's a bit severe, even for Mr. Green, to call all the profits of American industry by the little word "swag." In that 17-billion figure are all kinds of businesses, and it comes a little hard to have Mr. Green, who denounces Communists one day and uses their lingo on the next, to call all profits "swag."

Anyway, whoever prepared the speech for gentle Mr. Green went on to say that the 17 billion dollars of corporate profits after taxes in 1947 "represent an increase of 35 per cent in corporate buying power over 1944." Did the prices of goods and materials bought by industry really decline by 35 per cent since 1944? Weren't Mr. Green's economic experts mixing a numerical increase in profits with "buying power" per dollar?

Turning to the Murray speech one finds the head of the CIO also criticizing profits as if they were something sinful. He says:

"The United States Steel Corporation, the so-called 'bellwether' of the industry, enjoyed staggering profits last year of approximately 244 million dollars before federal income taxes, and 153 million dollars after such taxes. This corporation's profits in the year 1947 increased 73 per cent over 1946."

On the same day, Mr. Olds of United States Steel was telling his stockholders that profits were the same in 1947 as for 1946—namely, 6 cents on a dollar of sales. This, he says, is the "lowest for any peacetime year in the history of United States Steel during which steel operations were at a level approaching full capacity." He adds:

"Such a return on sales is only slightly more than half of the corporation's average return on sales in 1920, 1923, 1926, 1928, or 1940. It is interesting to note that United States Steel's profits in 1947 from all operations was approximately $70,000,000 less than in 1929, although in 1947 its sales in dollar amounts were twice those of 1929.

Lower Earnings Cited

"These relative lower earnings in 1947 reflect the effect of higher costs which has continuously developed over recent years . . .

"I should like to call attention to the fact that although shipments of steel products in the first quarter of 1948 were approximately 300,000 tons larger than in the corresponding quarter of last year, the profit of United States Steel for the first quarter of this year was approximately $5,300,000 less than in the first quarter of 1947. This dimunition in earning power of the corporation is primarily occasioned by higher costs. By way of illustration, employment costs in the first quarter of 1948 were up $31,600,000 over the similar quarter a year ago; and the cost of purchased goods and services for the quarter was $55,300,000 higher than for the same quarter last year."

On top of this, while the coal strike deprived the United States Steel Corporation of 3,200,000 tons of coal and 430,000 tons of pig iron and 430,000 tons of steel ingots, the "left wingers" are criticizing the steel industry for not building more plants and facilities. At the same time the labor bosses are saying, in effect, that profits must be less and less and that there must not be money set aside to finance expansion or to encourage investors to lend money needed for such expansion. Strangely enough, the labor-union bosses decry Communism but they follow the "party line" when it comes to disparaging the American profits-and-loss system.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Loyalty Parade

On May First, two parades marched the streets of New York: The parade of the loyal; the parade of the disloyal. The latter is an annual event, a feature of the international world revolution, a symbol of those who once believed in human liberty but have now become the agents, spies, provocateurs of Soviet Russia. The May First international celebration has often been accompanied by bloodshed and civil war. It has been adopted by Soviet Russia as its own.

The loyal parade was a spontaneous expression of love for the United States of America by Americans.

It was astonishing how many marched in the loyal parade. For actually, most Americans are loyal to their country and require no special demonstration to assert the fact. They are loyal day by day. They are loyal to the traditions of this land without feeling the need for external manifestations.

Yet they marched, if for no other reason than to establish that that other display was a weak and tawdry thing, an ugly excrescene in a fair city.

But this also it demonstrated: The Communists were free to march and to announce their fealty to Stalin and their loyalty to Henry Wallace. Wonderful company Henry has got into! They shouted their hate for America and their love for Henry and he took no steps to repudiate the association.

Poor, old Hank! Driven by ambition, he now plays the role similar to that of the lovers of Germany before the United States entered the war against Germany, the role of one, whose ambitions having been thwarted, uses any medium to project himself on the political arena.

There must be many in the United States who do not accept George Marshall's foreign policy as the acme of wisdom; but they also do not accept the leadership of the nation's official Fifth Column.

The May First parade of the Communists was, in New York, a Henry Wallace parade. The streethawkers sold Wallace buttons and Wallace neckties—along with the usual Communist paraphernalia. It is increasingly difficult to believe that one reared in Iowa, of a Republican agricultural family, one who had held the second highest office in the land, could permit himself to be so used.

The loyal parade suffered one serious omission and it was noted. Not a single contingent appeared of the National Guard or of the armed forces of the United States. The absence of these units was too complete to prevent any other conclusion that than orders had come down from Washington forbidding them to march in the loyalty parade. No one prevented the Communists from marching in United States Military and Naval uniforms; someone must have issued a "confidential" instruction to keep loyal military contingents out of the loyalty parade. Who did it?

Presumably, it is a continuation of that stupid policy, pursued by our State Department, that the United States must go easy on American Communists while we continue to do business with their mother country. That policy was best expressed by James Byrnes, when he was Secretary of State, in reply to Representative Bartel J. Jonkman of Michigan:

"You must realize, Congressman, that it is a difficult matter to do wholesale firing of people merely because they belong to what is here a minority party, when the same party is the sole and dominant party of a great country with which I have serious and difficult diplomatic negotiations."

In a word, our government recognized that an American Communist could be protected, even in a spying job within the government itself, by Stalin. This was the most amazing admission of unprincipled expediency, of impotence even to defend the country; some similar attitude must have been responsible for the universal absence of any Military or Naval contingent from the loyal parade. Certainly, the National Guard should have been there.

But never mind all that! It was a grand exhibition of loyalty, and the Mayor of New York, Bill O'Dwyer, was in the grandstand to give the loyal marchers his official blessing. Apparently, Bill O'Dwyer was not worried lest Stalin disapprove. Next year, perhaps, millions will march. Let us make May Day American—as every day should be.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The Pure Pleasure Of It

We can only eat so much. We can only wear one suit of clothes at a time. In other words, our actual essentials or necessities are very few. Everything else is simply accumulation. Something to boast of by a considerable number of people. But I like to think that the majority like to do much—in the way of kindness and thoughtful things—just for the pure pleasure of it.

If you don't quite get my meaning, try and select something that you think a great deal of, and decide to give it away to someone who you feel sure will be delighted with it—then you will understand. I have given away many a treasured thing that I wouldn't think of selling for money—and, lo and behold, what a thrill to the transaction! It has often been said that the only things we keep are the things that we give away.

I recently visited with a friend who had just received page proofs of a book on which he had spent ten years of preparation! It was only going to be printed in a limited edition, and he told me that he would make no material profit from his work, but that he had a lot of fun doing it. You have to plant desires deep in yourself so that they will have good roofage. Then there will be plenty of fruitage to give away and to share.

The late R. B. Cunningham Graham early fascinated me. He wrote around 40 books—not merely to sell, but just because he so enjoyed writing them. He got fun out of it. But a very great writer he was! Now we, who love him, get fun (and intellectual profit) out of reading his books.

The genuine collector of things doesn't do so to make a financial profit. He does it for the pure pleasure of it. And, of course, that means mental and spiritual profit. A hobby is a stimulating pursuit. You keep discovering things, and you keep hunting new fields. Each surprise is an uplft. The things that enrich and ennoble us most in this life are not the things that money could buy, though often money is the means. I have always found it difficult to put a money value on anything that I loved.

County Mourns Death Of Clerk Of Court Jackson

If one sought for the absolute antithesis of the "stuffed shirt" type of man, he could hardly do better than name the late Robert Jackson, whose sudden death will be genuinely mourned by the thousands of Allegany countians who knew him so well, either through personal contact or by name.

His duties as Chief Clerk of the Circuit Court during the past eleven years afforded him the opportunity to meet personally most of the people who, at one time or another, found it necessary to visit the Court House. And, whatever their mission, he would take a personal interest in it.

"Bob," as he was familiarly known, gave liberally of his time and services, and if advice were sought he gave it unhesitatingly. He was capable of this because during the 34 years of his connection with the court clerk's office he kept abreast with the rapid growth of business which flowed through his hands, with the result that his knowledge of the affairs of his ofifce made him one of the best informed officials of the county.

But he carried his responsibility with a light manner, a constant sense of humor and a wit that was to make him one of the most affable men in the county's public life. He had the rare ability of being able to remember, not only faces, but to call by name the thousands of persons he met, even though the renewal of some acquaintances might have been after long intervals. As a result, his popularity was enhanced to such a degree as to discourage anyone who might have entertained a desire to contest his right to his position.

In the death of "Bob" Jackson, the county has lost a faithful servant, and Cumberland one of her best citizens. A warm heart and a lively spirit was fused in this man.

Americans have lost none of their traditional bravery, as demonstrated by the number of men willing to be President, despite the fact the White House has been termed a fire trap.

John L. Lewis Calls For New Contract Talks

John L. Lewis has asked the soft coal operators to meet with him on May 18 "for the purpose of negotiating a successor contract" to the one now in existence. The Taft-Hartley Act requires that a party wishing to end a labor agreement must give the other side 60 days' notice. The contract expires June 30.

So Mr. Lewis has taken the first and necessary step toward a coal strike. Or perhaps it would be more appropriate to call it just another step, since he laid the groundwork for a walkout when he instigated the recent month-long stoppage. That period when little coal came out of the mines left the country short of this vital commodity and it is not to be expected that an appreciable reserve will be built up by June 30.

It is also very convenient for Lewis that the vacation period provided by the contract will begin June 26 and the mines will therefore be closed down for the ensuing 10 days. By the time the vacation period ends, any reserves will have just about disappeared. And, if there is no contract, the miners will, it is expected, adhere to their long practice of "no contract, no work."

Lewis is likely to make demands the operators will not grant, except under pressure. He will almost certainly ask for a royalty big enough to pay the $100 a month pensions he wants for retiring miners. It is reported he will also demand a 35-hour week and a bigger vacation allowance.

Peace in the soft coal fields is vital to the nation's economy just now.

If the nation is to be reactivated for air raids, it will be discovered the buckets of sand went into the flower garden, while those silly little pumps have been taken apart by the children.

Still Rising

People who have been waiting for building costs to decline are still waiting—and indications are they will keep on waiting for a long time. Latest figures gathered by the Department of Commerce show that the upward trend has not been checked.

Construction costs have more than doubled since 1939, the department reports. In February of this year they were 108.7 per cent higher than the 1939 average. They were also 13 per cent higher than in the same month a year ago and 1 per cent higher than last December.

But the department notes that the rate of rise for both materials and construction now is "relatively slow." That may indicate that the peak has been almost reached. Materials are available in greater quantity and the flow of supplies should make for greater efficiency and economy.

Whether wages will rise further and whether labor productivity will increase are unanswered questions that will, of course, have a bearing on the future.

Meanwhile, it must be noted, many people are not waiting. At the first quarter rate, if continued, construction for this year will reach an estimated total of $15,000,000,000, according to the report. That is 20 per cent above last year. So the threat implicit in high prices—that they will eventually check demand and cause a slump in the industry—is still only potential.

The department also says that because of high costs the physical volume of construction will be "substantially below the peak volume of previous years." But the indications are it will be big enough to keep suppliers and builders fairly happy.

Three per cent of America's millionaires die annually, and heirs and inheritance taxes take care of the millions.

Too Much Boogie?

A possible explanation of the anti-Yankee aspects of the recent disturbances in Colombia might be found in the fact that shortly before the Pan-American conference opened, Colombians were introduced to a new aspect of U. S. culture in the form of a 10-ton plane load of juke boxes.

A scientist who says there is no such thing as time may have been led into error by listening to jazz musicians.

A Bunion Is No Joke

Bunions are joykillers that take the fun out of walking. Furthermore, the deformity frequently makes it difficult to obtain comfortable shoes and, in women particularly, the cosmetic effect is discouraging.

The disorder develops when the large toe bends outwardly. In extreme cases, the "piggy" that goes to market" crowds its neighbor, lying over or under the second digit. But the structure that really suffers is the joint where the metatarsals and phalanges of the feet join. The angle created by the bent toe leaves this area exposed and the resultant irritation causes most of the trouble.

At first the joint becomes thickened but, as irritation continues, nature comes to the rescue by covering the region with a small sac that acts as a cushion to protect the protruding part. But this is no advantage because in time the sac becomes inflamed, increased discomfort and disability. When this occurs, pain and swelling are so marked that walking is almost impossible.

It is generally conceded that bunions favor those who wear pointed, narrow shoes but this factor alone is not always responsible because many individuals have been addicted to such footgear for years without acquiring the abnormality. It is often associated with other foot disorders indicating a combination of faulty shoes and poor walking habits. The malady is encouraged when the heel does not bear its share of the body weight; the foot is thrown out of balance, producing extra pressure on the metatarsals and toes. This is most likely to take place when wearing high or narrow healed shoes. The same can be said of the flatfooted walker; with each step he rolls off the inner side of the great toe, slowly forcing it toward the center of the foot.

Such irregularities should always be watched in children in order to prevent the defect as well as by adults who notice that the toe is beginning to lose its proper alignment. If a minor distortion exists, and the foot is still pliable, restoration is possible without resorting to surgery. Properly fitted shoes are needed, into which pads or bars are attached to shift the weight. But unless the victim learns to walk correctly, many of these innovations will be useless. Women may find treatment along this line difficult because the type of shoe recommended does not conform to the style. It is true that flats are now the mode; next month, stilts may again be in vogue. But even if corrective shoes are purchased for ordinary wear, the gals can use the fancy numbers for dancing and parties.

A half-moon or oval shaped pad, placed around the bursa, decreases pressure from the shoes. This procedure can be used to alleviate distress until other methods have rectified the basic fault.

Surgery is recommended should simpler measures fail. During the war, when hospitals were crowded, Compere and others discovered that an operation could be performed successfully without keeping the patient in bed. Immediately after removal of the bunion, a special bandage was applied and the individual encouraged to walk. The end results were good and, in many instances, the period of disability was reduced.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The sportsmen's vacation show here in Los Angeles has been demonstrating the latest in automobiles—the convertible double-bed model. Just imagine, all you have to do is push a button and the inside of your car becomes youd bedroom.

I can see it all now. In the future when you stop at a gas station, the attendant will ask you "Gas . . . oil? . .Change your sheets?".

Naturally, all our cars will have four speeds . . . first, second, third . .and pleasant dreams.

And if the back-seat driver gets too annoying you can tell her to go take a nap.

It will be just my luck to get a mother-in-law who talks in her sleep.

Having a bed in the car will change a lot of our sleeping habits. If you have insomnia, instead of sheep jumping over a fence, you'll count hot rods jumping over pedestrians.

And hitch-hikers will probably be very fussy. Before getting into your car they won't ask "where are you going?". . just "have you got an inner spring mattress?"

Of course, all this can get you into trouble. I took a ride in one of those convertible double-bed model cars yesterday and was stopped by a cop while going through a nospital zone. I asked him "going too fast?" and he answered "no. . . pajamas too loud."

DOESN'T LOOK LIKE THAT'S GOING TO WORK EITHER

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senator Taft's Advisers Suggest That He Become Known As a Liberal; Vermont's Aiken Leads Maple-Syrup Battle; Oil Lobby Has Two Great Goals

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 4—Senator Robert Taft, worried about his poor showing in the presidential polls, has been consulting with professional opinion researchers. Their advice has been that he become known as a "liberal."

One of Taft's advisers is Dr. Claude E. Robinson of Princeton, N. J., president of Opinion Research Corporation, who has collected opinions on Taft from all over the country.

"You are so busy with the practical side of government," he told the Senator, "that you have lost sight of the fact that people think in terms of goals. You should start letting people know that you are on the side of the Lord."

He suggested that Taft reveal himself in his "true role" as a liberal and stress his stand for the public good, that he start by examining the question of what is a liberal and defining it as one who believes in liberty and higher living standards. The strategy then is to show that Taft possesses the practical sense to ahcieve these goals.

Dr. Robinson warned that the public is still fearful that the Republican Party represents "reaction and the vested interests." He quoted a typical opinion from his surveys—that "no poor man should be a Republican." The best way to combat this, he recommended, is to set up goals and catch the eye of the common man. Taft could bid for the leadership of the "revolutionary" movement—the revolution which started Judy 4, 1776, advised Dr. Robinson.

He also tried to console Taft over the results of the Gallup Poll which registers his political strength at an alarming low. Taft's standing against President Truman was just one Republican contender against the undisputed Democratic candidate, Dr. Robinson pointed out. If Taft were the sole Republican nominee, the results would be different.

It was shortly after consulting with Dr. Robinson that Taft came out with his political "new look," starting off with a speech, "What Is a Liberal?"

NOTE—Dr. Robinson works for one division of the Gallup Poll—that which handles private research. Dr. George Gallup, head of the poll, is a close friend of Governor Dewey's and frequently advises him on public reaction.

Battle Over Syrup

A small-scale battle similar to the oleomargarine feud is in the offing—this time over maple syrup.

Vermont's conscientious Senator George Aiken, who can detect pure Vermont maple syrup from all the synthetic substitutes, will crack down on restaurants that offer maple syrup on the menu, then serve corn syrup instead.

Aiken has already consulted the Food and Drug Administration and the Federal Trade Commission. He argues that if restaurants can get away with passing off corn syrup as maple syrup, they will start substituting margarine for butter as soon as the taxes on yellow margarine are lifted.

Incidentally, Aiken is a powerful member of the Senate Agriculture Committee which must pass on the repeal of margarine taxes. That battle has only passed the House—is only half won.

The Far-Flung Oil Lobby

To understand the ramifications of the oil lobby, you have to realize that it has two great goals—Arabian oil and Tidelands oil. These comprise the two greatest untapped oil resources in the world.

It isn't fair to put every American oil company in the lobby, because a lot of them only suffer as a result of the bad publicity stirred up by their competitors. Actually, Standard Oil of California and the Texas Oil Company are the prime movers in the lobby, with the Guaranty Trust Company and some of the big bankers putting up considerable amounts of dough.

To understand one phase of how the lobby works, you need only call the roll of government officials who worked for the Arabian oil combine. Oilmen were able to put their own officials inside the government, then draw them out again, almost at will. So it's easy to see how the lobby operates with greased lightning efficiency—whether it be Palestine or selling overpriced oil.

Here is a list of key officials who at one time or another worked for both sides:

Adm. Andrew F. Carter, head of the Army-Navy petroleum board, now with the American-Arabian oil combine. His brother, Adm, William J. Carter, was in charge of naval purchases and ordered the Arabian oil for which the Navy paid $38,000,000 too much.

James Duce, head of the foreign division of the petroleum administration for war, is now vice-president of American-Arabian oil.

C. F. Snodgrass, served under Duce in the government, is now with International Corp., employed to build the Arabian pipeline.

Comdr. Ralph Fowler of the Navy's fuel division, participated in the negotiations by which the Navy purchased high-priced Arabian oil, is now employed by the American-Arabian Oil Co.

Lt. Col. E. P. Kavanaugh, on the Army-Navy oil board, got special priorities for American-Arabian Oil to build its refinery. He now represents the combine in Washington.

Franz Von Schilling was middle eastern oil attache for the State Department in Cairo, while on leave from the oil combine. He is now back with them.

J. Howard Marshall, general counsel for the petroleum administration for war, is attorney for Standard Oil of California.

No matter how conscientious some of these may have been, it is difficult for anyone to determine the dividing line between duty to his country and duty to his company. Significantly, Ralph Davies, deputy administrator of the Petroleum Administration, later lost out with Standard of California, reputedly because he favored his country more than his company.

Stassen Seeks Something Of A Novelty In U. S. Politics

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The energetic Harold E. Stassen finds himself in fundamental disagreement with Senator Taft on both foreign and domestic questions.

Mr. Stassen welcomes division within the party. He thinks that if there is a close division on any subject, the next Republican platform should state, "On this proposal the party is divided, in the proportion of three in favor, to two opposed"! This is something of a novelty in politics. It would appear to give Mr. Stassen, if he is the nominee, and is in the minority on some question—or several questions—the right to publicly oppose the platform throughout the campaign.

Beginning with his campaign for the nomination five years ago—when he wrote two articles in the Saturday Evening Post — he has asked for a "challenging," "dynamic," "positive" and "constructive" approach on at least a hundred subjects. One of his Post articles is entitled: "We Need A World Government." This was two years before the United Nations Charter was written. He advocated a "world police force," international control of tariffs, etc.

What He Proposed

In 1945, he proposed an international air force of five bomber squadrons "manned by volunteers from the United Nations." These squadrons would be based at five different points around the world; the United States would give each squadron five atom bombs—25 in all —and then stop making them. Assuming that Russians would "volunteer" to make up one, or more, of these squadrons, we would then rest in peace—or pieces.

He proposed that "no one shall engage in atomic research without registering with the United Nations Atomic Commission," but having registered, "any scientist would then be free . . . to publish his results to the world"!

In May of 1947, Stassen proposed to "loan" 10%, or give a "tithe," of our national production of goods and food to the world, and repeat every year for ten years. 10% for ten years would total at least one hundred billion dollars. That is six times the Marshall Plan estimate, and twice as generous as Henry Wallace's scheme which called for only the piddling sum of fifty billion dollars. For each year of the ten, Mr. Stassen's "tithe" would be 25 times the $400,000,000 aid to Greece and Turkey.

He said, "We should not expect repayment in dollars or manufactured goods because the rest of the world cannot repay in either one of them. And we do not need either of them"!

When the Taft-Hartley bill was before Congress, Mr. Stassen urged Republicans to confer with President Truman and "try to meet his views." If his views had been met, no law would have been written that would have stopped Mr. Lewis' coal strike. He thinks the Taft-Hartley Law should now be amended as follows: (1) Permit the use of labor union treasury funds in political campaigns. (2) Revise the non-Communist affidavit provision which, he says, "overreaches itself." (3) Restore the closed shop, leaving that "to free contract between management and labor."

Participation in G.E. Strike

During the General Motors strike in 1946, he joined a committee asking contributions to aid the strikers. The chairman of this committee was Harold L. Ickes, and Stassen's fellow members included Senator Taylor of Idaho (now candidate for Vice - President on the Wallace ticket), Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Claude Pepper, Leon Henderson, etc. This committee got a ruling from Washington that contributions to the fund were tax deductible! As contributors would pay less income taxes, this meant that the government was, in effect, subsidizing one side of an industrial dispute.

Although he welcomes party differences on most subjects, as proof of Vim, Vigor and Vitality, he hopes for a completely "bi - partisan" foreign policy. As the Republican Convention meets first, he hopes it will write a foreign policy plank which could then be submitted for adoption by the Democratic Convention as a truly "bi-partisan" statement of American purposes.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Mr. Truman will heckle the west next month in order to bust up that Douglas boom. Seems that Bill has been making hey-hey while the sun shone.

Gael Sullivan quits the Democrats to go into another branch of show business. He got more interference in his job than a farmer milking a six-legged calf.

Sullivan was quite friendly with both Truman and Douglas so that leaves another vacancy to be increased. Of course Truman can call Bill in and say, "Judge, I don't want you running for President on your dinner hour."

Being an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court old Bill naturally has the five-four slant on everything. That's the unbalanced view.

I wouldn't advise Bill to have his glims examined in Harry's spectacle shop. That oculist prescribes nothing but rose-colored glasses.

Barrage Of Propaganda Makes For Confusion Of Average Man

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 4 — Three Three addresses delivered on the addresses delivered on the same day on somewhat the same subject illustrate what a confusing time the average person must have nowadays trying to find truth amid a barrage of propaganda.

Philip Murray, head of the CIO, gave an address on wages and prices in the steel industry, while William Green, president of the AFL, discussed corporate profits as a whole. Irving Olds, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, evidently noting a similar argument made by Mr. Murray in other speeches, undertook to give a rebuttal.

Mr. Green's speech was the least temperate of all—or maybe that was the way it was prepared for him by his propaganda bureau. He says:

"According to official government figures, corporate profits reached a record peak of 17 billion dollars in 1947. We all thought that business 1947. We all thought that business was reaping heavy profits during the war. But the 1947 peacetime figure was 71 per cent higher than the 10 billon dollars in profits which American industry gained during the war year of 1944. Just think of it—the postwar profiteers have almost doubled the swag which the war profiteers raked in."

Bit Severe To Call It "Swag"

It's a bit severe, even for Mr. Green, to call all the profits of American industry by the little word "swag." In that 17-billion figure are all kinds of businesses, and it comes a little hard to have Mr. Green, who denounces Communists one day and uses their lingo on the next, to call all profits "swag."

Anyway, whoever prepared the speech for gentle Mr. Green went on to say that the 17 billion dollars of corporate profits after taxes in 1947 "represent an increase of 35 per cent in corporate buying power over 1944." Did the prices of goods and materials bought by industry really decline by 35 per cent since 1944? Weren't Mr. Green's economic experts mixing a numerical increase in profits with "buying power" per dollar?

Turning to the Murray speech one finds the head of the CIO also criticizing profits as if they were something sinful. He says:

"The United States Steel Corporation, the so-called 'bellwether' of the industry, enjoyed staggering profits last year of approximately 244 million dollars before federal income taxes, and 153 million dollars after such taxes. This corporation's profits in the year 1947 increased 73 per cent over 1946."

On the same day, Mr. Olds of United States Steel was telling his stockholders that profits were the same in 1947 as for 1946—namely, 6 cents on a dollar of sales. This, he says, is the "lowest for any peacetime year in the history of United States Steel during which steel operations were at a level approaching full capacity." He adds:

"Such a return on sales is only slightly more than half of the corporation's average return on sales in 1920, 1923, 1926, 1928, or 1940. It is interesting to note that United States Steel's profits in 1947 from all operations was approximately $70,000,000 less than in 1929, although in 1947 its sales in dollar amounts were twice those of 1929.

Lower Earnings Cited

"These relative lower earnings in 1947 reflect the effect of higher costs which has continuously developed over recent years . . .

"I should like to call attention to the fact that although shipments of steel products in the first quarter of 1948 were approximately 300,000 tons larger than in the corresponding quarter of last year, the profit of United States Steel for the first quarter of this year was approximately $5,300,000 less than in the first quarter of 1947. This dimunition in earning power of the corporation is primarily occasioned by higher costs. By way of illustration, employment costs in the first quarter of 1948 were up $31,600,000 over the similar quarter a year ago; and the cost of purchased goods and services for the quarter was $55,300,000 higher than for the same quarter last year."

On top of this, while the coal strike deprived the United States Steel Corporation of 3,200,000 tons of coal and 430,000 tons of pig iron and 430,000 tons of steel ingots, the "left wingers" are criticizing the steel industry for not building more plants and facilities. At the same time the labor bosses are saying, in effect, that profits must be less and less and that there must not be money set aside to finance expansion or to encourage investors to lend money needed for such expansion. Strangely enough, the labor-union bosses decry Communism but they follow the "party line" when it comes to disparaging the American profits-and-loss system.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Loyalty Parade

On May First, two parades marched the streets of New York: The parade of the loyal; the parade of the disloyal. The latter is an annual event, a feature of the international world revolution, a symbol of those who once believed in human liberty but have now become the agents, spies, provocateurs of Soviet Russia. The May First international celebration has often been accompanied by bloodshed and civil war. It has been adopted by Soviet Russia as its own.

The loyal parade was a spontaneous expression of love for the United States of America by Americans.

It was astonishing how many marched in the loyal parade. For actually, most Americans are loyal to their country and require no special demonstration to assert the fact. They are loyal day by day. They are loyal to the traditions of this land without feeling the need for external manifestations.

Yet they marched, if for no other reason than to establish that that other display was a weak and tawdry thing, an ugly excrescene in a fair city.

But this also it demonstrated: The Communists were free to march and to announce their fealty to Stalin and their loyalty to Henry Wallace. Wonderful company Henry has got into! They shouted their hate for America and their love for Henry and he took no steps to repudiate the association.

Poor, old Hank! Driven by ambition, he now plays the role similar to that of the lovers of Germany before the United States entered the war against Germany, the role of one, whose ambitions having been thwarted, uses any medium to project himself on the political arena.

There must be many in the United States who do not accept George Marshall's foreign policy as the acme of wisdom; but they also do not accept the leadership of the nation's official Fifth Column.

The May First parade of the Communists was, in New York, a Henry Wallace parade. The streethawkers sold Wallace buttons and Wallace neckties—along with the usual Communist paraphernalia. It is increasingly difficult to believe that one reared in Iowa, of a Republican agricultural family, one who had held the second highest office in the land, could permit himself to be so used.

The loyal parade suffered one serious omission and it was noted. Not a single contingent appeared of the National Guard or of the armed forces of the United States. The absence of these units was too complete to prevent any other conclusion that than orders had come down from Washington forbidding them to march in the loyalty parade. No one prevented the Communists from marching in United States Military and Naval uniforms; someone must have issued a "confidential" instruction to keep loyal military contingents out of the loyalty parade. Who did it?

Presumably, it is a continuation of that stupid policy, pursued by our State Department, that the United States must go easy on American Communists while we continue to do business with their mother country. That policy was best expressed by James Byrnes, when he was Secretary of State, in reply to Representative Bartel J. Jonkman of Michigan:

"You must realize, Congressman, that it is a difficult matter to do wholesale firing of people merely because they belong to what is here a minority party, when the same party is the sole and dominant party of a great country with which I have serious and difficult diplomatic negotiations."

In a word, our government recognized that an American Communist could be protected, even in a spying job within the government itself, by Stalin. This was the most amazing admission of unprincipled expediency, of impotence even to defend the country; some similar attitude must have been responsible for the universal absence of any Military or Naval contingent from the loyal parade. Certainly, the National Guard should have been there.

But never mind all that! It was a grand exhibition of loyalty, and the Mayor of New York, Bill O'Dwyer, was in the grandstand to give the loyal marchers his official blessing. Apparently, Bill O'Dwyer was not worried lest Stalin disapprove. Next year, perhaps, millions will march. Let us make May Day American—as every day should be.

Today's Talk

The Pure Pleasure Of It

We can only eat so much. We can only wear one suit of clothes at a time. In other words, our actual essentials or necessities are very few. Everything else is simply accumulation. Something to boast of by a considerable number of people. But I like to think that the majority like to do much—in the way of kindness and thoughtful things—just for the pure pleasure of it.

If you don't quite get my meaning, try and select something that you think a great deal of, and decide to give it away to someone who you feel sure will be delighted with it—then you will understand. I have given away many a treasured thing that I wouldn't think of selling for money—and, lo and behold, what a thrill to the transaction! It has often been said that the only things we keep are the things that we give away.

I recently visited with a friend who had just received page proofs of a book on which he had spent ten years of preparation! It was only going to be printed in a limited edition, and he told me that he would make no material profit from his work, but that he had a lot of fun doing it. You have to plant desires deep in yourself so that they will have good roofage. Then there will be plenty of fruitage to give away and to share.

The late R. B. Cunningham Graham early fascinated me. He wrote around 40 books—not merely to sell, but just because he so enjoyed writing them. He got fun out of it. But a very great writer he was! Now we, who love him, get fun (and intellectual profit) out of reading his books.

The genuine collector of things doesn't do so to make a financial profit. He does it for the pure pleasure of it. And, of course, that means mental and spiritual profit. A hobby is a stimulating pursuit. You keep discovering things, and you keep hunting new fields. Each surprise is an uplift. The things that enrich and ennoble us most in this life are not the things that money could buy, though often money is the means. I have always found it difficult to put a money value on anything that I loved.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

The movies are forever showing us what backstage is like when a hit show opens — celebrities crowding into dressing rooms, telegrams pasted up on mirrors, the producer beaming as the boy and girl go into a clinch.

Billy Rose

A more interesting scene would be backstage the night a flop show closes. To me, that's when the theatre is at its best. The show put on by the performers after the final curtain drops is generally one of cockeyed courage and gallantry. As the scene is being lugged out to the sidewalk, the woman star usually drops gay asides about the Hollywood agents who are pestering her. The leading man, smiling gamely, sounds off about the summer stock company he's going to run up in Vermont. Down to the smallest bit player, they all swap lies about their plans and prospects.

Of course, they fool no one — least of all themselves. The last night of a flop is like the breaking up of a family, or to get fancy, the good-bye kiss before the choo-choo pulls out.

The saddest closings of all are the borderline shows, the ones which almost caught on, the ones which might have made a go of it with a little more luck or extra push. The other night I heard a story about one of these borderline flops, and it's a sad little tale indeed.

•—•—•

The story concerns itself with the Dublin Gate Players who closed a few weeks ago at the Mansfield Theatre. This company was brought over from Ireland by backers who hoped it would duplicate the success scored by the Abbey Players some years back. The engagement was handled by Richard Skinner who has been around Broadway's success-and-failure belt a long time.

The Dublin repertory group presented three plays — "John Bull's Other Island" by Bernard Shaw, "The Old Lady Says No," and "Where Stars Walk."

Though the critics let the shows down easy, New York's enthusiasm for the Irish seemed to have ended with the St. Patrick's Day parade. The three plays lasted exactly four weeks.

On the last Saturday of the engagement, Dick Skinner left his aprtment in Greenwich Village and took a bus to the theatre. On the seat next to him, a couple of kids were arguing about what movie they were going to see that evening. They were unmistakably Irish.

"How would you gentlemen like to see a stage play?" Skinner said to the boys. "I can get you free tickets to an Irish play with Irish actors."

"You mean a show with round people?" said one of the kids.

"That's right," smiled Skinner. "Round ones. Not flat like in the movies."

The kids put their heads together, decided they had nothing to lose, and accepted the ducats Dick handed them. "I live at such-and-such an address," deadpanned the manager. "I'd appreciate it if you gentlemen wrote me what you thought of the play."

•—•—•

Around seven next morning, Skinner's doorbell rang. It was the two kids, scrubbed, shined and necktied. "We're on our way to Mass," said the younger boy, "but after church, we'd like to bring our brother around."

"I'm sorry," said Skinner, "but I'm afraid I havent any more passes. How'd you like the show?"

The older of the kids grinned. "It was swell," he said. "Like one of grandma's stories. When we got home, we told our brother, Ralph, about it. He's treasurer of the bricklayers' union. Ralph wants to see you about buying some tickets. He says the union has a lot of money in its entertainment fund, and seeing as how most of the members are Irish, he thinks it might be a good idea to buy a couple of tickets for each one."

"How many belong to Ralph's union" Skinner asked.

"About three thousand," said the kid.

The manager tells me he felt like bawling. Six thousand tickets would have come close to packing the Mansfield for a week. The Irishmen and their wives figured to love the shows about ould sod, and it would have been like hiring six thousand press agents. That one extra push might have gotten the troupe a six-month run.

But there was nothing the manager could do about it. The Dublin players had left for Canada at three that morning.

"And they talk about the luck of the Irish!" said Skinner.

Bride's Trousseau, Graduates' Dresses Feature Style Show

"Route to Pleasure, Showing of Summer Fashions" was held last night at Rosenbaum's Store, under the auspices of the Memorial and Allegany Hospital Auxiliaries. The entire proceeds from the large crowd attending the two night performances will be given to the two auxiliaries. The Memorial group will use its funds [illegible] clinic and the latter for the cautery machine.

The show featured resort and travel wear for the season ahead as well as fashions for the summer season at home. The setting was that of a garden with a fountain playing water in the center. Colored lights playing on the waters added to the summer garden theme.

Fashions, as commentated on by Miss Patricia Maloney, were divided into several groups of daytime wear and sports wear. A special feature was the showing of summer and graduation fashions for the high school girls, especially designed to be worn at graduation and after.

The audience was entertained by a song and dance by little Rose Marie Matthews, who gave a splendid performance.

An innovation in the method of presenting the fashions was had by having the traditional bride appear first on the program and then having her stand by while the clothes she picked for her trousseau were shown on the other models. The bride wore a white marquisette gown over white satin. The bridesmaids wore maize taffeta hooped skirt gowns, reminiscent of the Victorian era.

The show was concluded by the presentation of a graduate in cap and gown, surrounded by models in different styles of white graduation dresses; all wore gold accessories.

Participating in the review were Miss Sue Bartlett, Miss Frances Allen, Miss Jean Poorbaugh, Miss Sarah Keller, Miss Margaret Smith, Mrs. Delores Roeder, Miss Helen Griffith, Mrs. Millicent Stein, Mrs. H. A. Mackey, Miss Eileen Brinker, Mrs. Marie Reissig, Mrs. Lois O'Donnell, Mrs. R. C. Roberts, Miss Betty Bright and Miss Catherine McMannis.

Millard Outlines

This is because of the human factor in industry. Employers realize that to get good, competent and skilled labor and hold it, living standards and home surroundings must be high. If not, people move elsewhere so they and their children can have these advantages.

One of the saddest things in any community, and to the older people of a community is the steady exodus of its young people, the speaker continued. Cities that are stagnant, backward, and failing to keep pace with other cities, are finding their best brains being drained off, because there are better opportunities elsewhere, and surroundings are more attractive.

War Made Competition

Millard reminded his listeners that thousands of young men and young women saw much of America and much of the world during the war. When they come back home, they are not satisfied with things as they are because they have often seen better living and working conditions elsewhere. The only way to keep them at home and let them serve their city, is for the city to keep pace, through its government, with other places.

Millard reminded his audience that a city manager and a new charter would not remedy all the ills of any city. In the final analysis, the responsibility rests with the individual citizen, and the amount of this responsibility he willingly shares.

A city manager and a council manager plan of government, coupled with as much Home Rule as attainable, will be steps in the direction of progress, he declared.

People will, if such a plan is adopted take more interest in their government because they will be better informed, and will soon realize that more services are possible for the same tax dollar than have been attained before, because efficiency has come to town.

Question Period

In a question period following his address, Millard told questioners that a city manager is not an autocrat and not a dictator. He is hired and he can be discharged if he is inefficient.

He does not begin by firing public employes, but he does try to organize them and help them become more efficient and render greater service to the public and the city.

He encourages and advises and counsels, but he takes his orders from the city council to which he is responsible. He is a trained manager, hired to do a specific job, just as a department store or industry hires a manager in those particular fields.

When the idea is new,, it arouses suspicion and question, he explained, but after people learn about it, understand it and see it work, it will, with their help and interest, succeed, he predicted.

A city manager is committed to the ideal of "increasing the richness of life of the humble" Millard declared, and is trained in the job of runnnig the business of government.

Bride's Trousseau, Graduates' Dresses Feature Style Show

"Route to Pleasure, Showing of Summer Fashions" was held last night at Rosenbaum's Store, under the auspices of the Memorial and Allegany Hospital Auxiliaries. The entire proceeds from the large crowd attending the two night performances will be given to the two auxiliaries. The Memorial group will use its funds [illegible] clinic and the latter for the cautery machine.

The show featured resort and travel wear for the season ahead as well as fashions for the summer season at home. The setting was that of a garden with a fountain playing water in the center. Colored lights playing on the waters added to the summer garden theme.

Fashions, as commentated on by Miss Patricia Maloney, were divided into several groups of daytime wear and sports wear. A special feature was the showing of summer and graduation fashions for the high school girls, especially designed to be worn at graduation and after.

The audience was entertained by a song and dance by little Rose Marie Matthews, who gave a splendid performance.

An innovation in the method of presenting the fashions was had by having the traditional bride appear first on the program and then having her stand by while the clothes she picked for her trousseau were shown on the other models. The bride wore a white marquisette gown over white satin. The bridesmaids wore maize taffeta hooped skirt gowns, reminiscent of the Victorian era.

The show was concluded by the presentation of a graduate in cap and gown, surrounded by models in different styles of white graduation dresses; all wore gold accessories.

Participating in the review were Miss Sue Bartlett, Miss Frances Allen, Miss Jean Poorbaugh, Miss Sarah Keller, Miss Margaret Smith, Mrs. Delores Roeder, Miss Helen Griffith, Mrs. Millicent Stein, Mrs. H. A. Mackey, Miss Eileen Brinker, Mrs. Marie Reissig, Mrs. Lois O'Donnell, Mrs. R. C. Roberts, Miss Betty Bright and Miss Catherine McMannis.

Jews Report Knocking Out 20 Arab Cars

Rejection Means Horror, King Says

JERUSALEM, May 4 (INS) — Jews said tonight their troops knocked out 20 Arab armored cars in an all-day battle against a big Arab force attacking four Zionist settlements in the Hebrow Hills. The battle scene is south of Jerusalem.

In Jerusalem itself a British government spokesman said truce talks are proceeding "satisfactorily." He indicated that the three-man United Nations Truce committee had joined the local peace moves.

Red Cross Seeks Truce

The International Red Cross also took its first formal step in trying to win a truce in the Holy City.

The first Zionist stamps in the Jewish-projected Palestine state were issued today. They are a reissue of Jewish national fund stamps on which a map of the U.N. partition boundaries has been superimposed.

The first all-Jewish train also ran a 20-mile Haifa-Hadera route, escorted by cheering members of the Zionist Militia, Haganah.

The main fighting during the day occurred in the Hebron Hills. Jews said it was continuing tonight, but this was not immediately confirmed by other sources.

One unconfirmed report said Haganah aircraft counter-attacked the Arabs with 25-pound anti-personnel bombs.

The Jews said Arab artillery extensively damaged the Kfar-Etzion settlement on the Bethlehem-Hebron road which was mined south of Bethlehem to prevent quick dispatch of Zionist reinforcements.

Arab informants acknowledged their forces had deployed for an attack in the frequently-contested area, while the British Army said the Arabs occupied an abandoned Russian monastery near Kfar-Etzion.

Jews, Arabs Invited

In Jerusalem itself, the International Red Cross took its first formal step to try to win a truce in all of the Holy City. It invited Arab-Jewish response without any immediate reaction.

The Jewish Irgun Zvai Leumi Group, with the reported consent of Haganah, occupied the Arab village of Yehouda. This was the last Arab stronghold endangering Jewish communications between Tel Aviv and the British-held International Airport at Lydda.

Haganah informants claimed their own troops grabbed the Arab village of Aqir in southern Palestine after a four-hour battle.

Haganah also claimed that another "invasion force" of the Lebanese regular army entered Northern Palestine. It said this force, equipped with light artillery, is en route to Ramat Naphtali, near Lake Hula (Huleh).

Irish War Bride Goes Shopping After Being Freed From Prison

Must Return To Native Country

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 4—(INS)—Irish War Bride Bridget Waters left prison today for the first time in 18 months—and like any other woman went shopping in anticipation of her trip to Ireland.

Accompanied by Mrs. Richard Sheehy, the warden's wife, the handsome Irish girl slowly made the rounds of clothing stores outfitting herself and her three-year-old child.

She also visited an appliance store to order household necessities that are so scarce abroad.

Expects Freedom in 10 Days

The red-haired widow expects to be free within a week or 10 days. She is undecided, however, where she will settle following her re-entry into Ireland. She told the warden's wife:

"I don't know whether it will be Ireland or England when I get back. The only thing I know how to do is nursing and as far as I know I'll apply for a nursing position."

In an unexpected action last night, the Nevada State Parole Board voted to free Mrs. Waters only if she is deported immediately to Ireland.

The state board originally planned to vote on her parole after an absent member had recovered from an operation.

The 27-year-old war bride was originally sentenced to one to five years for manslaughter for the killing her estranged husband, Frank Waters, Jr.

Claimed Shot Accident

She claimed during the trial that her small pistol unexpectedly went off as Waters attempted to take her baby from her. He was instantly killed.

Both the district attorney of Clark Coutny and Trial Judge A. S. Henderson, who conducted the Waters trial, opposed her request for parole.

One indication that Mrs. Waters wants the American episode erased from her child's mind is that she refused to call him by his given name, Frank, after his father.

The paroled mother constantly refers to her son as "Johnny."

The boy has been living with a state-appointed foster parent and visited her twice last week for a period of six hours.

He appealed before board members by saying he wanted his mother back with him.

Gurney said he doubted many changes would be made in the new version of the legislation, which the committee took up for the first time today. He predicted that it would take only a few more days for agreement on all provisions.

The chairman said that the language of the bill on the training of 18-year-old youths will have to bt changed in some places.

During the period, scant housing accommodations in Annapolis will be jammed.

Only one thing is sure. The session will have to be called conveniently in advance of July 1. That's the start of a new fiscal year, which all observers say is the logical time for pay raises to take effect.

Bill Proposed To Jail Newsmen Who Use Secret Facts

Would Also Impose Fine Of $1,000

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—The House Rules Committee approved today a bill threatening jail to any newspaperman who prints certain facts stamped "confidential" by a committee of Congress.

The bill would:

1. Force executive departments to hand over whatever information a committee wants.

2. Permit a committee by majority vote to decide whether any of the information should be made public.

3. Make it a misdemeanor—with a maximum penalty of a year in jail and $1,000 fine—for anyone to divulge information ruled confidential. This means committee members, too.

The bill results from refusal of the Commerce Department—backed by President Truman—to hand over to the House un-American Activities Committee an FBI loyalty report on Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the Bureau of Standards. An aroused House voted to demand the report when the committee failed to get it. Again nothing happened.

Approval of the Rules Committee get the bill out to the House for a vote. The Senate hasn't acted.

Amendments are certain to be offered. Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), a newspaper publisher and a member of the Rules Committee, said the penalty provision might run up against Constitutional Press Rights.

Brown said he will try to exempt bona fide reporters from the penalty. Thus it would apply to committee members or employes who drop the information to reporters, but the reporter printing such "leaks" would not be punished.

But the author of the bill, Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich) of the House Expenditures Committee said there is no reason why a newspaperman who publishes information considered confidential should not be punished.

Said Hoffman: The press "has no all-inclusive right and privilege of disclosing information that is detrimental to the country."

Another amendment to be proposed would forbid government officials leaving office to take with them data of an official nature. Brown said it would keep them from carrying off office memoranda for their memoirs.

Yesterday's primary, with the lightest vote in years, developed only two close congressional contests, one between Meade and Balton in the Second district. The other was between F. Byrne Austin, Takoma Park, and Will Allen, Bethesda, in the Sixth.

Austin was the winner by an unofficial vote of 3,814 to 3,517 with only four small polling places missing. Austin in November will oppose Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Frostburg, who won the Repubican nomination without opposition.

The lineup by Congressional districts for the general election will be:

First—Rep. Edward T. Miller, Republican, and former State Senator S. Scott Beck, Democrat. Beck defeated Earl Bennett, Cambridge, by a margin of around 2,000.

Second—State Senator Bolton, Towson, Democrat, and A. Earl Shipley, Westminster, Republican. In his victory, Bolton gave the district "back to the counties" and chalked up a major victory for Baltimore County Commissioners who supported him. Meade had been one of the few "city" men ever to win in the Second.

Third—Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, Democrat, and John A. Janetzke, Republican. Janetzke was nominated without opposition and Garmatz easily defeated Anthony F. Didomenico, city councilman. Garmatz ran as a protege of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, whom he succeeded in Congress last year.

Fourth—Rep. George H. Fallon, Democrat, and James W. Miller, Republican. Fallon had a decisive victory over Leo H. McCormick, former State OPA director, and Miller easily defeated Paul Robertson, former Republican city chairman.

Fifth—Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer, Democrat, and C. Maurice Widemeyer of Annapolis, Republican. Sasscer had little trouble disposing of his only opponent and Weidemeyer won out in a field of three.

Sixth—Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Republican, and F. Byrne Austin, Democrat.

Rejection Means Horror, King Says

JERUSALEM, May 4 (INS) — Jews said tonight their troops knocked out 20 Arab armored cars in an all-day battle against a big Arab force attacking four Zionist settlements in the Hebrow Hills. The battle scene is south of Jerusalem.

In Jerusalem itself a British government spokesman said truce talks are proceeding "satisfactorily." He indicated that the three-man United Nations Truce committee had joined the local peace moves.

Red Cross Seeks Truce

The International Red Cross also took its first formal step in trying to win a truce in the Holy City.

The first Zionist stamps in the Jewish-projected Palestine state were issued today. They are a reissue of Jewish national fund stamps on which a map of the U.N. partition boundaries has been superimposed.

The first all-Jewish train also ran a 20-mile Haifa-Hadera route, escorted by cheering members of the Zionist Militia, Haganah.

The main fighting during the day occurred in the Hebron Hills. Jews said it was continuing tonight, but this was not immediately confirmed by other sources.

One unconfirmed report said Haganah aircraft counter-attacked the Arabs with 25-pound anti-personnel bombs.

The Jews said Arab artillery extensively damaged the Kfar-Etzion settlement on the Bethlehem-Hebron road which was mined south of Bethlehem to prevent quick dispatch of Zionist reinforcements.

Arab informants acknowledged their forces had deployed for an attack in the frequently-contested area, while the British Army said the Arabs occupied an abandoned Russian monastery near Kfar-Etzion.

In Jerusalem itself, the International Red Cross took its first formal step to try to win a truce in all of the Holy City. It invited Arab-Jewish response without any immediate reaction.

Advice To The Lovelorn

She Loves Her Husband But Her In-Laws Make Her Life Unpleasant

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A young woman who has been so happily married for two years that her companionship with her husband seems to her like a continuation of his courtship writes me that his relatives make life so miserable that she feels the situation is getting unbearable. There is apparently no serious disagreement between herself and them. Instead, she is subjected to a series of relatively trifling unpleasantnesses which add up to continual friction.

"I love my husband very much," she says, "and can't help showing it. Don't misunderstand me; we don't neck in anyone's presence, but it isn't unusual for us to wink across the room or smile when our eyes meet.

"When we are with his people we are constantly being criticized for such things. If I even as much as sit beside my husband, they have some nasty remark to make. Because we never go away anywhere except together, I am accused of henpecking him. Also, we have a baby girl, and because my methods of child care are quite different from theirs, I am constantly being laughed at.

"My husband can overlook their nagging but I can't. Often upon returning home after spending a day with them, my nerves are so on edge that I break down and have a good cry."

The husband in the case cannot understand why these things affect his wife so much. He tells her that she is acting strangely, and she wonders if there is something wrong with her because of the way all this affects her.

It is not surprising that her husband fails to understand how his wife feels. Most of us are so used to our family's attitudes and habits that they don't make the same impression on us that they do on people who aren't used to them. Before he was married, this man undoubtedly learned how to brush off the things his family did that annoyed him, and so he finds it hard to understand why his wife can't do the same thing.

It is entirely different, however, when you are subject to criticism and nagging from people who are related to you only by marriage. And it is quite understandable that this young woman should resent it. She has sense enough to realize that she would make a great mistake to come between her husband and his family and she wants to make an adjustment which will keep her from getting so upset.

What she will have to do, I think, is to make up her mind to take a little different attitude toward this matter. Obviously, she is a very sensitive person who is easily hurt and finds it hard to hide the fact that she has been wounded.

It will take a lot of practice, but if she would laugh off the family's slurring remarks, and at least pretend that she thought them very unimportant, it might in time cure them. There is never any fun in nagging a person who simply brushes it off and doesn't take it seriously. These people probably know that what they say gets this girl's goat, and so they keep on doing it. If she will train herself to conceal that fact, they would get no satisfaction out of goading her and would probably eventually stop.

I think this will be a much better way to try and solve this problem than to make an issue of it either with the family or with her husband. To do that could easily make the whole thing worse, whereas the other technique can make it grow less and less important.

County Roads Crews Get 48-Hour Week

Employes on county roads will work an eight-hour day six days a week, according to Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

A committee representing county road employes had objected to the nine-hour day, and following a conference Wilkinson said it was agreed that the work day should be shortened. The employes had asked for a 40-hour week, but when it was explained to them that this would involve hiring men for summer months and furloughing them through the winter, the six-day week was acceptable.

Wilkinson also told the men their present pay scale is higher that state roads employes and employes of the Cumberland Street Department.

Man Who "Roughs Up" Nurses Is Fined

The man accused of brushing aside nurses and orderlies in Memorial Hospital dispensary Saturday night following an automobile accident, was fined $50 and costs Tuesday by Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell, Ridgeley, on a motor vehicle charge.

The man, Chester Robert McBride, Shanks, W. Va., was being treated for injuries received in a car wreck when the incident happened. He pleaded guilty to the charge of drunken driving and aside from his fine received a 60 days suspended sentence. His driver's license also was revoked.

Rubber Workers Will Nominate Sunday

Nomination of officers of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the union hall, A. E. Johnson, president, announced yesterday.

Officer to be filled include president, vice president, treasurer, secretary, seven executive board members, one member of the policy committee, one trustee, a guide, one sentinel and five members of the labor-management committee.

Sailing boats in the family bathtub can be dangerous for moppet sailors. The tu should be filled with barely enough to float a toy boat.

County May Rebuild Union Street Bldg.

Plans are being considered by the Allegany County Commissioners to rebuild the first two floors of the fire-gutted Union Street County office building, it was indicated yesterday at the regular meeting of the Board.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert said that a reliable local contractor has proposed that the third floor and old roof lines be eliminated and the structure be remodeled and rebuilt as a two-story county office building.

This work could be done for the cost of insurance on the structure, the Commissioners believe, and sufficient space would be provided in a two-story building to house the State's Attorney offices, Trial Magistrates Court, the county engineer's office, and quarters for several other offices.

The insurance on the building amounts to $42,500 and Lemmert believes this amount would remodel the building. The Board has asked Hunter B. Helfrich, local contractor, to make an estimate of damage and cost of repairs for the county. He is expected to submit a report in a few days, after which the commissioners will reach a final decision.

Patterson's Creek Remains Polluted

According to an announcement yesterday, Patterson's Creek is still polluted and unsuited for swimming, West Virginia Health Department authorities said after recent tests were made at various sections.

The health department does not have the power to prohibit swimming in the stream, but can stop operation of beaches which charge admission for bathing.

The department reports that the water is much improved over last year, but said the spread of waste material from the privy vaults on the Creek watershed has left its effect in the water.

Fort Hill Will Crown May Queen

June Clark will be May Queen at impressive ceremonies Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Fort Hill High School auditorium.

Attendants will be Coleen Burke, and Marybell Bageant, seniors; Joanne Shirley and Oleta Conway, juniors, Greta Crites and Lois Davis, sophomores; Jean Fogle and Virginia Bennett, freshmen; Phyllis McKenzie, eighth grade, and Shirley Hendrickson, seventh grade.

Following the coronation, the Fort Hill Players will present an original script, "Our Maryland," in honor of the Queen and her court. The story tells the early history and legend of Maryland.

It is said that one person in every three in the U. S. resides in a different state from the one in which he was born.

County Roads Crews Get 48-Hour Week

Employes on county roads will work an eight-hour day six days a week, according to Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

A committee representing county road employes had objected to the nine-hour day, and following a conference Wilkinson said it was agreed that the work day should be shortened. The employes had asked for a 40-hour week, but when it was explained to them that this would involve hiring men for summer months and furloughing them through the winter, the six-day week was acceptable.

Wilkinson also told the men their present pay scale is higher that state roads employes and employes of the Cumberland Street Department.

County May Rebuild Union Street Bldg.

Plans are being considered by the Allegany County Commissioners to rebuild the first two floors of the fire-gutted Union Street County office building, it was indicated yesterday at the regular meeting of the Board.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert said that a reliable local contractor has proposed that the third floor and old roof lines be eliminated and the structure be remodeled and rebuilt as a two-story county office building.

This work could be done for the cost of insurance on the structure, the Commissioners believe, and sufficient space would be provided in a two-story building to house the State's Attorney offices, Trial Magistrates Court, the county engineer's office and quarters for several other offices.

The insurance on the building amounts to $42,500 and Lemmert believes this amount would remodel the building. The Board has asked Hunter B. Helfrich, local contractor, to make an estimate of damage and cost of repairs for the county. He is expected to submit a report in a few days, after which the commissioners will reach a final decision.

Patterson's Creek Remains Polluted

According to an announcement yesterday, Patterson's Creek is still polluted and unsuited for swimming, West Virginia Health Department authorities said after recent tests were made at various sections.

The health department does not have the power to prohibit swimming in the stream, but can stop operation of beaches which charge admission for bathing.

The department reports that the water is much improved over last year, but said the spread of waste material from the privy vaults on the Creek watershed has left its effect in the water.

Mayor Receives Belgian Request

Mayor Thomas S. Post has been requested by a Belgian solicitor to aid in securing information relating to an inheritance case.

The solicitor wrote that in 1894-1895 a "Belgian solicitor (notary) was requested by an American contemporary to search for families Lamair, Lemair, or Lamaire (the ortography of the name led to believe there was an error) in view of an important inheritance coming from a certain Lamair who died in America.

"This Lamair was of Belgian nationality, born in Humbeek (Belgium) and later emigrated to America."

The solicitor asked that Mayor Post attempt to find where the man died, the value of his estate and any other information he might deem important.

CIO Ford Workers Seek 30-Cent Hourly Pay Hike

DETROIT, May 4,—(AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers yesterday issued a demand for a 30-cent hourly wage increase at Ford Motor Company plants.

The wage figure was set by the UAW's National Ford Council at a meeting here. A hospital plan, pension setup and guaranteed weekly wage also were included among benefits the council voted to seek in Ford negotiations this summer.

Two Drivers Forfeit Bonds In Police Court

Anton Anthony, 507 Bedford Street, forfeited $6.45 bond on a charge of passing on a white line in LaVale Saturday, when he failed to appear for trial Tuesday morning in Police Court. Elmer J. Jeffries, Midland, also forfeited a like amount for exceeding the 30 mile limit in a 30 mile zone.

Eugene Leonard Lutz, 728 Fayette Street, was fined $3.75 in the same court for failing to observe a traffic signal at the Dingle Circle last Friday. All arrests were made by State Trooper George Coddington.

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 4 (INS)—The Fight Managers Guild is annoyed no end.

It seems that foolish editors all over the country have been putting news about wars, and politics and strikes on page one and completely ignoring the fight managers.

The fight managers think this only goes to show how far back the world has drifted.

Here they've been staging a strike against Madison Square Garden and Mike Jacobs and neither the editors nor anybody else appears to care a continental about this world-shaking event.

We mention it now because of its more amusing aspects and to give you a better insight as to how things work in the fight racket.

The fight managers, noble, self-sacrificing souls that they are, have been demanding a cut in the television receipts of all fights.

Mike and the Garden split $100,000 a year for television of 70 fights staged in the Garden and St. Nick's Arena, a small New York club they control. This is roughly an average of $1400 a fight.

Mike offered to give up half of his $700 for each fight to the fighters on the card. The managers at first accepted this, and then later demanded half of the Garden's $1400.

Even if the Garden agreed, the fight managers then would have only a total of $700 to be split among six or eight fighters on the card.

Every main event fighter in the Garden last year got anywhere from $8000 to $50,000 for his end.

Now with those facts in mind, can you imagine anybody getting $10,000 or $20,000 for a fight squabbling over a measly $100 and cutting himself out of future fights? But that's the way a fight manager's mind works.

The Garden has five dates to fill between now and June 11 to wind up the indoor season. Thus far they have been unable to arrange the cards because of the strike.

This won't hurt either Mike or the Garden very much but what will it do for the fighters themselves?

One wonders how long the fighters will permit their managers to keep them idle. It is all very well for the managers to talk about strikes but the fighters would like to eat now and then. Especially the preliminary fighters.

The managers say television hurts the gate. But the Fox-Lesnevich, Louis-Walcott, Young-Demarco and Cerdan-Roach sold out the Garden last year despite television. Those fights couldn't have drawn more if they were not televised.

The managers made the same squawk about radio when radio was young but later they discovered that radio helped build them bigger and better gates. Television eventually also may help them.

We are not taking sides in this rhubarb but a neutral observer is forced to wonder why anybody would risk losing $10,000 to make another hundred bucks.

Moorefield High Tops Davis, 6-5

Bill Raines' Double In 7th Sews Up Tilt

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., May 4—Bill Raines' timely double in the last of the 7th scored Thomas with the run that gave Moorefield High School a 6 to 5 victory over Davis High School of Tucker county here this afternoon.

With the score knotted at 5-5 going into the last inning Johnny Vance walked and was thrown out attempting to steal second. Thomas got a life on an error, moved to second on a wild pitch by McDowell and crossed the plate on Raines' two-bagger.

Raines was the game's batting star. He collected two of the three hits yielded by McDowell and drove in three of the Yellow Jackets' six runs.

Vance, who replaced Welton on the mound in the fifth inning with none out, twirled hitless ball and received credit for the victory. McDowell of Davis fanned 10 and walked seven. Welton and Vance whiffed 11 between them.

Zordani and Moore shared four of Davis' five hits.

Moorefield will play at Romney tomorrow. Box:

Four Schools Vie In Track And Field Meet Here Today

House Of David Roster Includes Connie Creeden

Hit .362 At Atlanta Plays Here Thursday

A minor league batting star of the past several seasons in the person of Cornelius "Connie" Creeden, outfielder, and Mike Janesko, one of the oldest active pitchers in baseball are among the tossers slated to appear in the lineup when Lou Murphy's bewhiskered House of David Club plays the Cumberland Amvets of the Bi-State League in a twilight game tomorrow at 5:30 o'clock at Community Park.

The Official Baseball Guide of 1946 shows that Creeden, once the property of the Boston Braves, played 117 games with the Atlanta Crackers, champions of the Southern Association in 1945, and hit .362, just 10 points below the leader, Gil Coan of Chattanooga, now with the Washington Senators. Connie fielded .947.

Last season Creeden led the Colonial League of New England and New York State with a batting average of .393 while playing for Portchester, N. Y. He's the clean-up hitter for the House of David this season.

Veteran Pitched Here

Janesko, veteran pitcher, has played with House of David teams since 1928, and Mid-Atlantic League fans may recall that he once pitched against the Cumberland Colts in a spring exhibition contest here. In spite of his two decades of service, Mike is still a cagy twirler with a puzzling delivery and excellent control and his curves and floaters have proved difficult to hit squarely although he does not have much speed on his pitches.

He was quite a sensation down south in the spring of 1934 when he shut out the St. Louis Browns at West Palm Beach, Fla., 1-0 and was the winning pitcher in a game in which the bearded club defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 10-7 at Fort Myers, Fla.

Other members of the "Bearded Beauty" squad are Earl Newman, formerly of the Georgia-Florida League; Leon Muccianelli, formerly of Trenton of the Intertate League, and Dover of the Eastern Shore League; Joe Venetta, who played with Galax of the Blue Ridge loop last year.

Semi-Pro Stars In Lineup

Dick Fraker, first sacker, who was with Lakeland and St. Petersburg in the Florida International League in 1947; Abe Spiro, former semi-pro pitching star of Brooklyn and New York City; Frank Maren, formerly of the Wisconsin State League; Jack Baldwin, from the Canal Zone League of Central America, and Nick Mangieri, second baseman who played semi-pro ball in New York and Newark, N. J.

Ballard's Cleaners were admitted as the eighth team at a meeting of the City Softball League last night at the Amvets' Home.

The Cleaners will replace the V. F. W. which withdrew from the circuit. The new entry will make its debut today by playing Reed's Electricians at East Side Field. Manager Robert V. Chisholm, manager of Astor Cab, was fined $10 for failure to return player contracts on time. The league ruled that the fine must be paid before Friday's game or the contest will be forfeited.

Fines of $2 were plastered on Lacy's Delicatets and Astor Cab for their failure to send representatives to last night's meeting.

Sande Banished In Empire State For Sixty Days

Horse Doping Charge Brings Suspension

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, May 4 (INS)—Earl Sande, whose exploits in the saddle contributed lavishly to the fabled lore of horse racing, today was bandished from New York tracks for 60 days in connection with horse "doping" charges.

Earl Sande

Today's decision, handed down by stewards of the New York Jockey Club following testimony given by owner-trainer Sande and two employes, also voided the purse won by Sande's horse, Big Stage, in the suspected April 21 race at Jamaica.

Though the possibility of error was granted by the reviewing board, there seemed no tendency to stay the sentence. It followed less than 24 hours after the great ex-jockey was arraigned on federal charges of possessing a narcotic for stimulating a horse running in the Sande colors.

The only apparent Jockey Club recognition of Sande's one - time greatness, and his many years' standing in the esteem of horsemen everywhere, was this provision:

If He Sells Horses

That if the three-time winner of the Kentucky Derby decides to dispose of his dozen or so horses during the 60-day penalty, he is to be allowed access to New York tracks for the purpose of "effecting a sale."

Official view of the case was set forth at length in a prepared statement. But the effect was as abrupt as though the petitioner were an obscure stable boy, instead of a turf immortal whose fame apparently will reverberate down through the long corridors of time.

Yet an element of doubt as to Sande's actual guilt crept into the official review just at the end.

It was guardedly conceded, in fact, that a mistake might have been made—that the alleged presence of a narcotic and caffeine in Big Stage's post-race saliva might have introduced innocently, as Sande and stable foreman Eugene Donaldson claim.

They admitted, according to the official statement, "stimulating" Big Stage before a workout on the Saturday preceeding the questioned race, but denied doing so afterward.

This disclaimer, taken in conjunction with belief that the examining veterinarians obtained the saliva-specimen with the same tongue-strap used on Big Stage after the stimulated workout, moved the stewards to grant the possibility of error.

Suspension To Stand

But the suspension, first of any kind for Sande in a turf career of nearly 30 years, admitted no likelihood of review. Its weight also fell upon Foreman Donaldson and a groom, Francis Booth, for a 30-day period with consequent loss of privileges at tracks under the jurisdiction of the New York Jockey Club.

Sande, co-holder with Isaac Murphy of the Derby riding record until Eddie Arcaro broke it Saturday with his fourth victory on Citation, wasn't immediately available for comment.

He still must answer to the grand jury on federal charges of narcotic "possession," being free on his own recognizance after waiving examination before a federal court yesterday. Conviction on such a charge might mean imprisonment for from two to five years.

Potomac Valley Finally Stopped By Wellersburg

Corriganville Halted By Corner Merchants

The last of the undefeated teams in the County Softball League were toppled yesterday when Potomac Valley's three-game winning streak was snapped by Wellersburg, 6-3, and the Corner Merchants took the measure of Corriganville on the latter's field, 11-5.

The results of these games tied Wellersburg and Potomac Valley for first place, each team having won three games and lost one.

Wellersburg's victory, however, was protested when Manager Chaney of the Potomac Valley Cubs questioned the legality of Toler's delivery. Toler yielded five hits and fanned seven.

Robinette led the Wellersburg attack with two doubles while Nelson headed the Cubs with two singles.

A nine-run outburst in the 6th inning paved the way to the Corner Merchants' first league triumph of the season over the hitherto unbeaten Corriganville team. The uprising was marked by seven hits coupled with a walk and fielder's choice. Thirteen players stepped to the plate during the big inning.

Humbertson was the "big gun" for the Merchants with three hits while Bob Dickle walloped a home run. Mattingly and Getson had two hits apiece for the losers.

The C. & P. Telephone Company shook a two-game losing streak by walloping Ellerslie at the latter place to the tune of 14-7. The winners collected 13 hits.

The Park Cardinals went on a hitting spree, gathering 16 bingles to swamp Bedford Road by the score of 20-5 at Narrows Park. Dick Troutman with a homer and two singles, Bob Horn with two doubles and a single and John Horn with three singles led the Cards' offensive. Mertens and J. Cameron each hit safely twice for Bedford Road.

The Hyndman Firemen's game with Potomac Valley at the latter place was unreported. This is the first of 18 league games in which no report has been received. Scores:

Eagles Capture League Opener

Moose Defeat Amvets, Celanese Scores, 2-1

Manager Freddie Palmer's Fraternal Order of Eagles made their debut in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday and took the local Knights of Columbus into camp by the score of 4 to 3 at Fort Hill field.

Other openers were won by the Loyal Order of Moose, 1947 champions, Celanese, formerly Texcel, and the B.P.O. Elks.

The Eagles exploded ten hits and Weaver and Jom Rice accounted for five of the blows. Weaver had 3 for 3 and Rice had 2 for 2. Liobel homered for the Knights.

"Bobby" Cavanaugh, K. of C. shortstop, turned in a nice catch of Boyer's liner with the sacks loaded and two out in the 4th inning while Dick Boyle contributed a running catch for the Eagles.

Celanese topped the Cumberland Outdoor Club on the Rolling Mill diamond by the score of 2-1, winning the game with a two-run rally in the fifth after the opposition had gained a 1-0 edge.

Harvey doubled, went to third on Cecil Warnick's single and scored on Miller's fly to the outfield. Then Zembower singled over what proved to be the winning marker. Cubbage and Johnson had two hits each for the losers.

The Moose had to play eight innings to gain a 12-11 decision over the Amvets at Campobello. Shrader won the game with a two-bagger with two aboard in the extra inning. He circled the bases for a home run but was called out for failing to touch third base.

Shrader, Minnicks and Mason banged out three hits each for the Moose. Norm Gerdeman's homer with two on the paths in the seventh knotted the score at 10-10, forcing the game into an extra stanza. Kelly, Robinson and Gerdeman each hit safely twice for the losers.

BOSOX TRIM TIGERS

BOSTON, May 4—(INS)—A four-run outburst in the sixth inning pinned Tiger rookie Art Houtteman with his third straight loss today and the Boston Red Sox beat Detroit 6 to 3 for their third straight victory.

The loosely-played game—there were five errors — opened a long home stand for the Red Sox and enabled them to climb to the .500 mark for the first time this year.

Houtteman, who is only 20 years old checked the Red Sox with one run for five innings but was clubbed for two singles following a walk, a double by Dom DiMaggio, and a base-clearing triple by Vernon Stephens.

Dave Ferris was the winning pitcher although he was relieved in the seventh.

Beall Noses Out Central Tossers By Score Of 7-6

Evans' Fly Scores Winning Run In 6th

FROSTBURG, May 4—Beall High School scored its first victory of the season in the Bi-State Baseball Conference today by nosing out Central High School of Lonaconing, 7 to 6, at State Teachers' College Field.

The triumph broke Beall's three-game losing streak in the six-team circuit.

Leo Brady singled, stole second, advanced to third on Lancaster's sacrifice and scored the winning run in the sixth on Dick Evans' long fly to centerfield.

Earl Gracie, Beall pitcher, walked the first four men to face him and Central racked up three runs in the opening stanza. Beall spotted the Orange and Black four runs in the first three innings then took a 5-4 lead in the 5th. The visitors went ahead at 6-5 in the fifth and Beall knotted the count at 6-6 in the last half of the same frame.

Seventeen bases on balls were issued in the game, 11 by Love and Lee of Central and six by Gracie. Deffenbaugh of Beall and Green of Coney each smacked out a pair of two-baggers.

Dawson, Central left fielder, turned in a sensational one-handed stab on Bill Farrady's long drive in the second frame with two out and the bases loaded.

Central filled the bases in the 7th frame but Farrady nipped the rally in the bud when he cut off the tying run with a perfect peg to the plate.

Keyser will play Beall here Wednesday and Hyndman will be met here Thursday in a conference game. Both contests are scheduled for 3:30. Beall plays in Keyser Friday. Box:

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 4 (INS)—The Fight Managers Guild is annoyed no end.

It seems that foolish editors all over the country have been putting news about wars, and politics and strikes on page one and completely ignoring the fight managers.

The fight managers think this only goes to show how far back the world has drifted.

Here they've been staging a strike against Madison Square Garden and Mike Jacobs and neither the editors nor anybody else appears to care a continental about this world-shaking event.

We mention it now because of its more amusing aspects and to give you a better insight as to how things work in the fight racket.

The fight managers, noble, self-sacrificing souls that they are, have been demanding a cut in the television receipts of all fights.

Mike and the Garden split $100,000 a year for television of 70 fights staged in the Garden and St. Nick's Arena, a small New York club they control. This is roughly an average of $1400 a fight.

Mike offered to give up half of his $700 for each fight to the fighters on the card. The managers at first accepted this, and then later demanded half of the Garden's $1400.

Even if the Garden agreed, the fight managers then would have only a total of $700 to be split among six or eight fighters on the card.

Every main event fighter in the Garden last year got anywhere from $8000 to $50,000 for his end.

Now with those facts in mind, can you imagine anybody getting $10,000 or $20,000 for a fight squabbling over a measly $100 and cutting himself out of future fights? But that's the way a fight manager's mind works.

The Garden has five dates to fill between now and June 11 to wind up the indoor season. Thus far they have been unable to arrange the cards because of the strike.

This won't hurt either Mike or the Garden very much but what will it do for the fighters themselves?

One wonders how long the fighters will permit their managers to keep them idle. It is all very well for the managers to talk about strikes but the fighters would like to eat now and then. Especially the preliminary fighters.

The managers say television hurts the gate. But the Fox-Lesnevich, Louis-Walcott, Young-Demarco and Cerdan-Roach sold out the Garden last year despite television. Those fights couldn't have drawn more if they were not televised.

The managers made the same squawk about radio when radio was young but later they discovered that radio helped build them bigger and better gates. Television eventually also may help them.

We are not taking sides in this rhubarb but a neutral observer is forced to wonder why anybody would risk losing $10,000 to make another hundred bucks.

Moorefield High Tops Davis, 6-5

Bill Raines' Double In 7th Sews Up Tilt

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., May 4—Bill Raines' timely double in the last of the 7th scored Thomas with the run that gave Moorefield High School a 6 to 5 victory over Davis High School of Tucker county here this afternoon.

With the score knotted at 5-5 going into the last inning Johnny Vance walked and was thrown out attempting to steal second. Thomas got a life on an error, moved to second on a wild pitch by McDowell and crossed the plate on Raines' two-bagger.

Raines was the game's batting star. He collected two of the three hits yielded by McDowell and drove in three of the Yellow Jackets' six runs.

Vance, who replaced Welton on the mound in the fifth inning with none out, twirled hitless ball and received credit for the victory. McDowell of Davis fanned 10 and walked seven. Welton and Vance whiffed 11 between them.

Zordani and Moore shared four of Davis' five hits.

Moorefield will play at Romney tomorrow. Box:

Hit .362 At Atlanta Plays Here Thursday

A minor league batting star of the past several seasons in the person of Cornelius "Connie" Creeden, outfielder, and Mike Janesko, one of the oldest active pitchers in baseball are among the tossers slated to appear in the lineup when Lou Murphy's bewhiskered House of David Club plays the Cumberland Amvets of the Bi-State League in a twilight game tomorrow at 5:30 o'clock at Community Park.

The Official Baseball Guide of 1946 shows that Creeden, once the property of the Boston Braves, played 117 games with the Atlanta Crackers, champions of the Southern Association in 1945, and hit .362, just 10 points below the leader, Gil Coan of Chattanooga, now with the Washington Senators. Connie fielded .947.

Last season Creeden led the Colonial League of New England and New York State with a batting average of .393 while playing for Portchester, N. Y. He's the clean-up hitter for the House of David this season.

Veteran Pitched Here

Janesko, veteran pitcher, has played with House of David teams since 1928, and Mid-Atlantic League fans may recall that he once pitched against the Cumberland Colts in a spring exhibition contest here. In spite of his two decades of service, Mike is still a cagy twirler with a puzzling delivery and excellent control and his curves and floaters have proved difficult to hit squarely although he does not have much speed on his pitches.

He was quite a sensation down south in the spring of 1934 when he shut out the St. Louis Browns at West Palm Beach, Fla., 1-0 and was the winning pitcher in a game in which the bearded club defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 10-7 at Fort Myers, Fla.

Other members of the "Bearded Beauty" squad are Earl Newman, formerly of the Georgia-Florida League; Leon Muccianelli, formerly of Trenton of the Intertate League, and Dover of the Eastern Shore League; Joe Venetta, who played with Galax of the Blue Ridge loop last year.

Semi-Pro Stars In Lineup

Dick Fraker, first sacker, who was with Lakeland and St. Petersburg in the Florida International League in 1947; Abe Spiro, former semi-pro pitching star of Brooklyn and New York City; Frank Maren, formerly of the Wisconsin State League; Jack Baldwin, from the Canal Zone League of Central America, and Nick Mangieri, second baseman who played semi-pro ball in New York and Newark, N. J.

Prior to coming to Cumberland, the House of David will play Vandegrift and Uniontown, Pa., of the Middle Atlantic League in exhibition games.

United Brethren Tops First Methodist Team

Park Place Methodist, United Brethren and Grace Methodist won the opening games in the Central YMCA Church Softball League yesterday.

Park Place defeated Zion Reformed at Fort Hill upper field, 7-4. The winners collected 10 hits and were paced by Naugle who pounded out a double and single. Albert Tase clouted a homer while Fisher and Martin connected for triples. Reed hit a three-bagger and Robinette had a double for Zion.

Thirty-five hits were registered in the game in which United Brethren downed First Methodist at Locust Grove by the score of 14-12. The Brethren team sewed up the game with nine runs in the 6th inning. Ziler and Metz rapped out three hits each for First Methodist.

Grace Methodist racked up 14 hits in trouncing Cresaptown Methodist at Community Park by the score of 11-4. The Grace nine won the game in the first inning with an eight-run outburst. Knotts and Owens with three hits each led the attack for the winners. Owens and Lyons smashed home runs.

Four games are scheduled today in the 16-club circuit. Zion Methodist plays Centre Street at Fort Hill upper field, Episcopal plays Presbyterian at Campobello, St. Luke's meets First Christian at Fort Hill lower field and Trinity opposes Grace Baptist at Penn Avenue. Sande Banished In Empire State For Sixty Days

Horse Doping Charge Brings Suspension

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, May 4 (INS)—Earl Sande, whose exploits in the saddle contributed lavishly to the fabled lore of horse racing, today was bandished from New York tracks for 60 days in connection with horse "doping" charges.

Earl Sande

Today's decision, handed down by stewards of the New York Jockey Club following testimony given by owner-trainer Sande and two employes, also voided the purse won by Sande's horse, Big Stage, in the suspected April 21 race at Jamaica.

Though the possibility of error was granted by the reviewing board, there seemed no tendency to stay the sentence. It followed less than 24 hours after the great ex-jockey was arraigned on federal charges of possessing a narcotic for stimulating a horse running in the Sande colors.

The only apparent Jockey Club recognition of Sande's one - time greatness, and his many years' standing in the esteem of horsemen everywhere, was this provision:

If He Sells Horses

That if the three-time winner of the Kentucky Derby decides to dispose of his dozen or so horses during the 60-day penalty, he is to be allowed access to New York tracks for the purpose of "effecting a sale."

Official view of the case was set forth at length in a prepared statement. But the effect was as abrupt as though the petitioner were an obscure stable boy, instead of a turf immortal whose fame apparently will reverberate down through the long corridors of time.

Yet an element of doubt as to Sande's actual guilt crept into the official review just at the end.

It was guardedly conceded, in fact, that a mistake might have been made—that the alleged presence of a narcotic and caffeine in Big Stage's post-race saliva might have introduced innocently, as Sande and stable foreman Eugene Donaldson claim.

They admitted, according to the official statement, "stimulating" Big Stage before a workout on the Saturday preceeding the questioned race, but denied doing so afterward.

This disclaimer, taken in conjunction with belief that the examining veterinarians obtained the saliva-specimen with the same tongue-strap used on Big Stage after the stimulated workout, moved the stewards to grant the possibility of error.

Suspension To Stand

But the suspension, first of any kind for Sande in a turf career of nearly 30 years, admitted no likelihood of review. Its weight also fell upon Foreman Donaldson and a groom, Francis Booth, for a 30-day period with consequent loss of privileges at tracks under the jurisdiction of the New York Jockey Club.

Sande, co-holder with Isaac Murphy of the Derby riding record until Eddie Arcaro broke it Saturday with his fourth victory on Citation, wasn't immediately available for comment.

He still must answer to the grand jury on federal charges of narcotic "possession," being free on his own recognizance after waiving examination before a federal court yesterday. Conviction on such a charge might mean imprisonment for from two to five years.

Ballard's Is 8th City League Team

Replaces VFW Today; Loop Plasters Fines

Ballard's Cleaners were admitted as the eighth team at a meeting of the City Softball League last night at the Amvets' Home.

The Cleaners will replace the V. F. W. which withdrew from the circuit. The new entry will make its debut today by playing Reed's Electricians at East Side Field. Other games today are: North End at Lacy's, Taylor Field; Amvets at Astor Cab, Rolling Mill field, and Joe's Crusaders at Mower's Bakery, Community Park.

Ballard's will play the Amvets Sunday at 11 a. m. at Campobello. The Amvets remained idle on Monday, opening day, as a result of the withdrawal of the V.F.W.

At last night's meeting the league fined the V.F.W. $15 for not returning player contracts on time while $15 of the team's $30 forfeit fee was returned.

Manager Robert V. Chisholm, manager of Astor Cab, was fined $10 for failure to return player contracts on time. The league ruled that the fine must be paid before Friday's game or the contest will be forfeited.

Fines of $2 were plastered on Lacy's Delicatets and Astor Cab for their failure to send representatives to last night's meeting.

Potomac Valley Finally Stopped By Wellersburg

Corriganville Halted By Corner Merchants

The last of the undefeated teams in the County Softball League were toppled yesterday when Potomac Valley's three-game winning streak was snapped by Wellersburg, 6-3, and the Corner Merchants took the measure of Corriganville on the latter's field, 11-5.

The results of these games tied Wellersburg and Potomac Valley for first place, each team having won three games and lost one.

Wellersburg's victory, however, was protested when Manager Chaney of the Potomac Valley Cubs questioned the legality of Toler's delivery. Toler yielded five hits and fanned seven.

Robinette led the Wellersburg attack with two doubles while Nelson headed the Cubs with two singles.

A nine-run outburst in the 6th inning paved the way to the Corner Merchants' first league triumph of the season over the hitherto unbeaten Corriganville team. The uprising was marked by seven hits coupled with a walk and fielder's choice. Thirteen players stepped to the plate during the big inning.

Humbertson was the "big gun" for the Merchants with three hits while Bob Dickle walloped a home run. Mattingly and Getson had two hits apiece for the losers.

The C. & P. Telephone Company shook a two-game losing streak by walloping Ellerslie at the latter place to the tune of 14-7. The winners collected 13 hits.

The Park Cardinals went on a hitting spree, gathering 16 bingles to swamp Bedford Road by the score of 20-5 at Narrows Park. Dick Troutman with a homer and two singles, Bob Horn with two doubles and a single and John Horn with three singles led the Cards' offensive. Mertens and J. Cameron each hit safely twice for Bedford Road.

The Hyndman Firemen's game with Potomac Valley at the latter place was unreported. This is the first of 18 league games in which no report has been received. Scores:

Eagles Capture League Opener

Moose Defeat Amvets, Celanese Scores, 2-1

Manager Freddie Palmer's Fraternal Order of Eagles made their debut in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday and took the local Knights of Columbus into camp by the score of 4 to 3 at Fort Hill field.

Other openers were won by the Loyal Order of Moose, 1947 champions, Celanese, formerly Texcel, and the B.P.O. Elks.

The Eagles exploded ten hits and Weaver and Jom Rice accounted for five of the blows. Weaver had 3 for 3 and Rice had 2 for 2. Liobel homered for the Knights.

"Bobby" Cavanaugh, K. of C. shortstop, turned in a nice catch of Boyer's liner with the sacks loaded and two out in the 4th inning while Dick Boyle contributed a running catch for the Eagles.

Celanese topped the Cumberland Outdoor Club on the Rolling Mill diamond by the score of 2-1, winning the game with a two-run rally in the fifth after the opposition had gained a 1-0 edge.

Harvey doubled, went to third on Cecil Warnick's single and scored on Miller's fly to the outfield. Then Zembower singled over what proved to be the winning marker. Cubbage and Johnson had two hits each for the losers.

The Moose had to play eight innings to gain a 12-11 decision over the Amvets at Campobello. Shrader won the game with a two-bagger with two aboard in the extra inning. He circled the bases for a home run but was called out for failing to touch third base.

Shrader, Minnicks and Mason banged out three hits each for the Moose. Norm Gerdeman's homer with two on the paths in the seventh knotted the score at 10-10, forcing the game into an extra stanza. Kelly, Robinson and Gerdeman each hit safely twice for the losers.

BOSOX TRIM TIGERS

BOSTON, May 4—(INS)—A four-run outburst in the sixth inning pinned Tiger rookie Art Houtteman with his third straight loss today and the Boston Red Sox beat Detroit 6 to 3 for their third straight victory.

The loosely-played game—there were five errors — opened a long home stand for the Red Sox and enabled them to climb to the .500 mark for the first time this year.

Houtteman, who is only 20 years old checked the Red Sox with one run for five innings but was clubbed for two singles following a walk, a double by Dom DiMaggio, and a base-clearing triple by Vernon Stephens.

Dave Ferris was the winning pitcher although he was relieved in the seventh.

Thumping Ted Williams got two hits in three at-bats to increase his hitting average to .419. Box:

SHEA TAMES BROWNS

New York, May 4—(INS)—Pat Frank Shea, New York Yankee righthander held the St. Louis Browns to four hits today and beat them 6 to 1 to start the World Champions off on the right foot in the inagural of a 14-game homestand.

The Browns scored their only run in the fourth inning on Ray Coleman's scratch hit with two out.

The Yanks clipped Nelson Potter for single runs in the first and second innings and then added a three-run "clincher" against reliever Bryan Stephens in the seventh. Joe DiMaggio got a single in this uprising to stretch his hitting streak of ten consecutive games.

Shea, who went the distance and won his first game in three attempts, became the only other Yankee beside Allie Reynolds to pitch a complete game this year. Box:

Beall Noses Out Central Tossers By Score Of 7-6

Evans' Fly Scores Winning Run In 6th

FROSTBURG, May 4—Beall High School scored its first victory of the season in the Bi-State Baseball Conference today by nosing out Central High School of Lonaconing, 7 to 6, at State Teachers' College Field.

The triumph broke Beall's three-game losing streak in the six-team circuit.

Leo Brady singled, stole second, advanced to third on Lancaster's sacrifice and scored the winning run in the sixth on Dick Evans' long fly to centerfield.

Earl Gracie, Beall pitcher, walked the first four men to face him and Central racked up three runs in the opening stanza. Beall spotted the Orange and Black four runs in the first three innings then took a 5-4 lead in the 5th. The visitors went ahead at 6-5 in the fifth and Beall knotted the count at 6-6 in the last half of the same frame.

Seventeen bases on balls were issued in the game, 11 by Love and Lee of Central and six by Gracie. Deffenbaugh of Beall and Green of Coney each smacked out a pair of two-baggers.

Dawson, Central left fielder, turned in a sensational one-handed stab on Bill Farrady's long drive in the second frame with two out and the bases loaded.

Central filled the bases in the 7th frame but Farrady nipped the rally in the bud when he cut off the tying run with a perfect peg to the plate.

Keyser will play Beall here Wednesday and Hyndman will be met here Thursday in a conference game. Both contests are scheduled for 3:30. Beall plays in Keyser Friday. Box:

Coast Hockey League To Turn Professional

VANCOUVER, May 4 (AP) — The Pacific Coast Hockey League has voted to turn professional, President Al Leader said today.

The league is a 10-club affair, with two teams in Canada and eight from the United States. The latter are Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and Fresno. The Canadian clubs are Vancouver and New Westminster.

The change will take effect immediately with the circuit retaining its present name.

The skin of the human face is more sensitive to slight changes in temperature than are the most sensitive thermometers.

K. Of P. League Closes Season With Banquet

The Knights of Pythias Mixed Bowling League concluded its winter season recently with a banquet and dance at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall.

Fifty persons attended the affair.

Kenneth Mahaney, president, introduced Robert Wade, toastmaster, after the blessing was asked by Odith M. Brotemarkle.

Trophies were awarded to the Sheiks, winning team, and those with high set and high game for the season. Perfect attendance awards went to Mrs. Josephine Biggs, Mrs. Lucinda White, J. W. Drenning and Chet Woy. A corsage was presented to Mr. L. White and a boutonnier was given to George Arbogast, oldest member. Prizes in the form of miniature bowling games for low scores went to Irene Woy and Emmett Shipway.

Games and dancing concluded the evening's program.

Coast Hockey League To Turn Professional

VANCOUVER, May 4 (AP) — The Pacific Coast Hockey League has voted to turn professional, President Al Leader said today.

The league is a 10-club affair, with two teams in Canada and eight from the United States. The latter are Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and Fresno. The Canadian clubs are Vancouver and New Westminster.

The change will take effect immediately with the circuit retaining its present name.

The skin of the human face is more sensitive to slight changes in temperature than are the most sensitive thermometers.

Trophies were awarded to the Sheiks, winning team, and those with high set and high game for the season. Perfect attendance awards went to Mrs. Josephine Biggs, Mrs. Lucinda White, J. W. Drenning and Chet Woy. A corsage was presented to Mr. L. White and a boutonnier was given to George Arbogast, oldest member. Prizes in the form of miniature bowling games for low scores went to Irene Woy and Emmett Shipway.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 4 (INS)—Nina Foch, who was dying on the vine at Columbia before she went east and hit big in "John Loves Mary," returns to Hollywood in a blaze of glory.

Nina Foch

What could be sweeter than returning to the scene where she had been an "also ran?"

Nina goes into "Underground Man" with Glenn Ford, who is plenty hit himself these days. The story, produced by Robert Rossen, and directed by Joe Lewis, along documentary lines, is based on the man in the Treasury Department who brought Al Capone to justice and saw him sentenced to Alcatraz.

the valley for a month," she said, "doing some writing. I think it is

The treatment, I might add, has been approved by the Johnston office which has steadfastly refused Capone story, for fear it might have a bad effect on young people.

In New York there have been meetings every day between Charles Einfeld, of Enterprise Studio, and Nicholas Schenck, president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. I am reliably informed that Einfeld is negotiating to release all of his movies through MGM. The highly successful "Body and Soul" brought about the deal, plus the fact that David Loew is a partner of Einfeld.

It was David's father, Marcus Loew, who was the first president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and the guiding spirit of the organization, so naturally, some of the MGM oldtimers feel that David belongs with his father's company.

My heart goes out to both Susan Peters and Richard Quine, who started married life happily, until Susan's accident made things so difficult for both of them. Susan was in town the day after my story that she and Richard had separated.

"Dick has actually been living in better that we separate. He's really to permit any company to film the a noble guy, but he's entitled to a normal life, which he can't have with me. Many times he's been offered jobs that he couldn't take, because he couldn't leave me or take a chance. I want him to be free to have his own career which has been sadly hampered."

Dick, who doesn't want a divorce, said, "I'm not a hero—I'm just an ordinary, plain guy, and I wish that Susan would feel we could continue together."

Chit-chat:

Jean Porter wrote me from London that she and Edward Dmytryk expected to be married last Sunday—so, unless something went amiss, they should be Mr. and Mrs. when you read this.

I can't say they are facing the most cheerful honeymoon in the world. When they return here May 9, Dmytryk heads immediately for Washington where he must stand trial for refusing to answer whether or not he is a Communist. What happens there will probably affect his suit against RKO for dropping him as a director.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

I was always suspicious that the Marilyn Maxwell-Mitchel North engagement was publicity. Now that they announce they have postponed their marriage, I am sure of it.

Eileen Howe, who the New York scribes said was engaged to Macoco, at the Seacombers with Charlie Fay, Alice's brother.

Little did Conrad Hilton, owner of the Hilton hotel chain, know when he went to the Mocambo with Isabelita, that his dinner partner would be asked to sing. Paul Villon, the entertainer, was taken sick, and the lady graciously substituted. Hilton is the ex-husband of the widely publicized Zsa-Zsa Hilton.

Rita Johnson's big moment, Harold Winston, New York business man, flies in to see her Friday. She is verra, verra happy.

Seeing Tyrone Power and Linda Christian together at the Reginald Gardiner Russian Easter party, made me realize this is really a serious attachment—more serious than most people believe.

There were Easter eggs for the 150 guests, and real Russian food. Everyone was there. Mary Lee Fairbanks arrived with the David Nivens (her daughter had been christened a few hours earlier.)

Janet Gaynor, in smart black, with Adrian. Greer Garson, with her mother, had dinner with Wynn Rocamora. Ann Sothern, the Ray Millands, Mrs. Ronald Colman, in a very smart hat, said it was a preview. She and Ronnie leave for England next Monday. They came with Jack Benny, who said he had sinus and was dead tired. Who isn't?

That's all today.

I am reliably informed that Einfeld is negotiating to release all of his movies through MGM. The highly successful "Body and Soul" brought about the deal, plus the fact that David Loew is a partner of Einfeld.

It was David's father, Marcus Loew, who was the first president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and the guiding spirit of the organization, so naturally, some of the MGM oldtimers feel that David belongs with his father's company.

My heart goes out to both Susan Peters and Richard Quine, who started married life happily, until Susan's accident made things so difficult for both of them. Susan was in town the day after my story that she and Richard had separated.

"Dick has actually been living in better that we separate. He's really to permit any company to film the a noble guy, but he's entitled to a normal life, which he can't have with me. Many times he's been offered jobs that he couldn't take, because he couldn't leave me or take a chance. I want him to be free to have his own career which has been sadly hampered."

Dick, who doesn't want a divorce, said, "I'm not a hero—I'm just an ordinary, plain guy, and I wish that Susan would feel we could continue together."

Chit-chat:

Jean Porter wrote me from London that she and Edward Dmytryk expected to be married last Sunday—so, unless something went amiss, they should be Mr. and Mrs. when you read this.

I can't say they are facing the most cheerful honeymoon in the world. When they return here May 9, Dmytryk heads immediately for Washington where he must stand trial for refusing to answer whether or not he is a Communist. What happens there will probably affect his suit against RKO for dropping him as a director.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

I was always suspicious that the Marilyn Maxwell-Mitchel North engagement was publicity. Now that they announce they have postponed their marriage, I am sure of it.

Eileen Howe, who the New York scribes said was engaged to Macoco, at the Seacombers with Charlie Fay, Alice's brother.

Little did Conrad Hilton, owner of the Hilton hotel chain, know when he went to the Mocambo with Isabelita, that his dinner partner would be asked to sing. Paul Vilon, the entertainer, was taken sick, and the lady graciously substituted. Hilton is the ex-husband of the widely publicized Zsa-Zsa Hilton.

Rita Johnson's big moment, Harold Winston, New York business man, flies in to see her Friday. She is verra, verra happy.

Seeing Tyrone Power and Linda Christian together at the Reginald Gardiner Russian Easter party, made me realize this is really a serious attachment—more serious than most people believe.

There were Easter eggs for the 150 guests, and real Russian food. Everyone was there. Mary Lee Fairbanks arrived with the David Nivens (her daughter had been christened a few hours earlier.)

Janet Gaynor, in smart black, with Adrian. Greer Garson, with her mother, had dinner with Wynn Rocamora. Ann Sothern, the Ray Millands, Mrs. Ronald Colman, in a very smart hat, said it was a preview. She and Ronnie leave for England next Monday. They came with Jack Benny, who said he had sinus and was dead tired. Who isn't?

That's all today.

The air 100 miles above the earth is more than hot enough to boil water under conditions existing on the surface of the earth.

Installation Of Rev. Liesmann Is Held In Baltimore

Reception Honors Minister, Wife

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — Rev. Justus H. Liesman, former pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, was installed as pastor of All Saints Lutheran Church, Baltimore, Sunday afternoon.

Rev. J. Frank Fife, president of the Evangelical and Lutheran Synod of Maryland and pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Comforter, Baltimore, presided at the installation and delivered the charge to the congregation.

Rev. Warren C. Johnson, pastor of Nativity Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, Pa., and classmate of Rev. Liesmann at Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa., delivered the charges to the pastor. Rev. Johnson is a former pastor of Second English Lutheran Church, Lombard and Green Streets, Baltimore.

Lithurgist at the installation was Rev. Dr. Ernest R. McCauley, recently named pastor emeritus of All Saints Church after serving as pastor for 18 years. Following the installation, the congregation attended a reception in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Liesmann. All Saints Church is located at the corner of Edmondson Avenue and Lyndhurst Street, Baltimore.

Camp Dates Set

The 22 Frostburg boys who are selected by Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, to attend Camp Barrett this summer, have been assigned for the first week of the camp from July 18 through July 24.

They will be taken to the camp by a local committee of Elks, headed by Arthur L. Kirby and Will hear an address by Maj. Gen. Milton C. Reckford, adjutant general of Maryland, and concerts by bands from Washington, Silver Spring and Hagerstown.

Camp Barrett is located at Camp Ritchie, Md., and will be open for four weeks. Kirby, who attended a meeting of the Elks camp committee of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association in Hagerstown Sunday, reported that the following cash donations in support of the camp were announced:

Washington Lodge, $1,000; Annapolis Lodge, $500; Towson Lodge, $300; and Frederick Lodge, $300.

The Frostburg Elks will defray the expenses of 22 boys, none of whom are to be sons of Elks, including boys whose parents are in adverse circumstances or whose incomes are such that an organized outing will be impossible without aid.

Persons knowing of boys of good character who might qualify for the outing, are asked to notify any member of Frostburg Lodge.

Pool To Open

Plans are being made by John Lewis, Consolidation Village, manager of Frostburg's community swimming pool, to have the pool open for public use by Memorial Day.

Lewis stated that Mayor Marshall C. Skidmore and members of the city council visited the grounds Sunday and agreed to having the walks on all four sides of the pool covered with blacktop, the floor of the bath renewed and the building painted, the trees in the park trimmed and a fence built around the entire pool. WILL BE ENLARGED-- Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, last night laid plans for an addition to its present home which will provide that city with the largest Elks home in Allegany County. The addition will be built to the rear of the historic structure seen in the above picture.

Frostburg Elks Will Construct Addition To Present Lodge Home

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — The Building Committee of Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, was authorized last night to draft plans and secure estimates on the cost of constructing an addition to the present lodge structure which, when completed, will probably provide Frostburg with the largest Elks home in Allegany County.

The resolution to grant full authority to the Building Committee was submitted to the lodge by Harold Jenkins, a past exalted ruler, and unanimously approved by the 65 members attending the meeting.

Members of the Building Committee are William B. Yates, Carmel Pinto, Jack Dillon, William Lemmert, John Durst, John Keller, Robert Lemmert, Clarence Rephan and W. W. Sluss, Jr., and Exalted Ruler William B. Byers, who is ex-officio member of all committees.

The committee's authority is limited to securing one or more sets of plans and ascertaining the cost of each of the plans which are to be submitted to the lodge for final approval.

The new addition will be added to the rear of the present home, one of Frostburg's most historic structures.

The idea of enlarging the present home has been under discussion for several years but had been held in abeyance until now due to the war and the subsequent shortage of materials.

The Frostburg lodge was instituted March 21, 1899, by members of Cumberland Lodge No. 63 and met in its early years in the Eleanor Building and then in the Betz Building.

The present home was purchased February 14, 1939, from Mrs. Lawrence D. Willison and dedicated May 17-19, 1940, with elaborate ceremonies.

The present membership of the Frostburg Elks lodge is about 275 members.

WILL BE ENLARGED—Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, last night laid plans for an addition to its present home which will provide that city with the largest Elks home in Allegany County. The addition will be built to the rear of the historic structure seen in the above picture.

Frostburg Elks Will Construct Addition To Present Lodge Home

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — The Building Committee of Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, was authorized last night to draft plans and secure estimates on the cost of constructing an addition to the present lodge structure which, when completed, will probably provide Frostburg with the largest Elks home in Allegany County.

The resolution to grant full authority to the Building Committee was submitted to the lodge by Harold Jenkins, a past exalted ruler, and unanimously approved by the 65 members attending the meeting.

Members of the Building Committee are William B. Yates, Carmel Pinto, Jack Dillon, William Lemmert, John Durst, John Keller, Robert Lemmert, Clarence Rephan and W. W. Sluss, Jr., and Exalted Ruler William B. Byers, who is ex-officio member of all committees.

The committee's authority is limited to securing one or more sets of plans and ascertaining the cost of each of the plans which are to be submitted to the lodge for final approval.

The new addition will be added to the rear of the present home, one of Frostburg's most historic structures.

The idea of enlarging the present home has been under discussion for several years but had been held in abeyance until now due to the war and the subsequent shortage of materials.

The Frostburg lodge was instituted March 21, 1899, by members of Cumberland Lodge No. 63 and met in its early years in the Eleanor Building and then in the Betz Building.

The present home was purchased February 14, 1939, from Mrs. Lawrence D. Willison and dedicated May 17-19, 1940, with elaborate ceremonies.

The present membership of the Frostburg Elks lodge is about 275 members.

21 Keyser City Employes Present Petition Asking Salary Increases

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER—A petition bearing the signatures of 21 employes of the City of Keyser requesting an increase in their salary was presented to the regular meeting of the Mayor and City Council yesterday afternoon.

There was no action taken in view of the fact that there are only two months remaining in the fiscal year. Mayor Freeland pointed out that the estimated disbursements as reported in the levy estimate for the fiscal year is $78,700 and that the estimated disbursements for the months of May and June amount to $17,207.69 plus the disbursements as of April 31, which amount to $79,205.30.

Mayor Freeland added that the city is not permitted to exceed the gross amount of the budget for the entire year. The petition was filed and some action will be taken immediately at the beginning of the fiscal year in July.

A discussion was also held on the possibility of obtaining a quonset hut to be erected on Center Street to be used for storing city street equipment. Price quotations on a hut from the B and W Steel Corporation, Romney, were reviewed. It was the opinion of the councilmen and Mayor Freeland that the city equipment would require a hut at least 32'x48' which was quoted at $2,000.

The equipment had been kept in the old fire hall and since the fire hall was razed in preparation for the construction of the new hall, the equipment has been out in the open. The need for such a building will again be presented early in July.

Building permits approved by the council were James E. Leatherman, one room, to be used as a kitchen, and furnace rooms on his lot at 92 First Street. The addition is to be of concrete blocks and frame, 9x16, at an approximate cost of $500.

Mrs. Robert E. Householder was given permission to extend the back porch and bathroom at her home, 41 South F Street. The extension is to be frame 8x10, at an approximate cost of $50.

K. K. Mawhinney was granted permission to erect a garage at the rear of lot, 100 D Street. The building is to be of frame, 25x20, at an approximate cost of $175.

E. L. Mason was granted permission to erect a one story concrete block building on lots 218 and 220 D Street, 25x45. The building is to be used a public laundry.

Oppose More Meters

At the regular monthly meeting of the Keyser Business and Professional Association held Monday night in the offices of the Potomac Light and Power Company, Main Street, it was decided that a formal notice would be sent to the Mayor and City Council voicing opposition to the installation of any more parking meters in Keyser.

The letter to the city fathers will say that it is the belief of the merchants that the meters are driving rural trade out of Keyser. A spokesman for the group said it will further suggest that 50 percent of the city's income from parking meters be set aside for the purpose of lots for free parking by shoppers.

The action by the association on this matter was the result of a report that the city was planning to install parking meters on East Piedmont Street, from Mineral to Main Street. Such action by the city governing body, the group feels, was going too far and so they went on record against more meters and may act at a later date in asking the removal of some meters already installed, the spokesman said.

Plans were also made at Monday night's meeting for the beginning of Wednesday afternoon closing, which starts today at 12 o'clock noon. Most stores and business houses will observe the custom of closing Wednesday at noon through the summer months, except in weeks where holidays occur.

Three Are Fined

Three fines and one bond forfeit amounting to $40 were reported by City Clerk A. A. Jordan yesterday.

Edward L. Bittner, 27, Mt. Savage, Md., was fined $10 at a hearing before City Judge A. A. Jordan on a drunk charge. He was arrested by city police.

Lena Grapes McDonald, Limestone, was fined $10 at a hearing before Judge Jordan. She was also charged with being drunk.

21 Keyser City Employes Present Petition Asking Salary Increases

By JUNE B. ROLLEY

KEYSER—A petition bearing the signatures of 21 employes of the City of Keyser requesting an increase in their salary was presented to the regular meeting of the Mayor and City Council yesterday afternoon.

There was no action taken in view of the fact that there are only two months remaining in the fiscal year. Mayor Freeland pointed out that the estimated disbursements as reported in the levy estimate for the fiscal year is $78,700 and that the estimated disbursements for the months of May and June amount to $17,207.69 plus the disbursements as of April 31, which amount to $79,205.30.

Mayor Freeland added that the city is not permitted to exceed the gross amount of the budget for the entire year. The petition was filed and some action will be taken immediately at the beginning of the fiscal year in July.

A discussion was also held on the possibility of obtaining a quonset hut to be erected on Center Street to be used for storing city street equipment. Price quotations on a hut from the B and W Steel Corporation, Romney, were reviewed. It was the opinion of the councilmen and Mayor Freeland that the city equipment would require a hut at least 32'x48' which was quoted at $2,000.

The equipment had been kept in the old fire hall and since the fire hall was razed in preparation for the construction of the new hall, the equipment has been out in the open. The need for such a building will again be presented early in July.

Building permits approved by the council were James E. Leatherman, one room, to be used as a kitchen, and furnace rooms on his lot at 92 First Street. The addition is to be of concrete blocks and frame, 9x16, at an approximate cost of $500.

Mrs. Robert E. Householder was given permission to extend the back porch and bathroom at her home, 41 South F Street. The extension is to be frame 8x10, at an approximate cost of $50.

K. K. Mawhinney was granted permission to erect a garage at the rear of lot, 100 D Street. The building is to be of frame, 25x20, at an approximate cost of $175.

E. L. Mason was granted permission to erect a one story concrete block building on lots 218 and 220 D Street, 25x45. The building is to be used a public laundry.

Oppose More Meters

At the regular monthly meeting of the Keyser Business and Professional Association held Monday night in the offices of the Potomac Light and Power Company, Main Street, it was decided that a formal notice would be sent to the Mayor and City Council voicing opposition to the installation of any more parking meters in Keyser.

The letter to the city fathers will say that it is the belief of the merchants that the meters are driving rural trade out of Keyser. A spokesman for the group said it will further suggest that 50 percent of the city's income from parking meters be set aside for the purpose of lots for free parking by shoppers.

The action by the association on this matter was the result of a report that the city was planning to install parking meters on East Piedmont Street, from Mineral to Main Street. Such action by the city governing body, the group feels, was going too far and so they went on record against more meters and may act at a later date in asking the removal of some meters already installed, the spokesman said.

Plans were also made at Monday night's meeting for the beginning of Wednesday afternoon closing, which starts today at 12 o'clock noon. Most stores and business houses will observe the custom of closing Wednesday at noon through the summer months, except in weeks where holidays occur.

Lena Grapes McDonald, Limestone, was fined $10 at a hearing before Judge Jordan. She was also charged with being drunk.

Pension Plan To Be Offered Pulp Workers June 1

Union Gives Position On Retirement Plan

The United Paperworkers of America, CIO, announced yesterday that the pension plan for hourly paid workers of six plants of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company will become effective June 1.

The retirement plan, covering over 7,000 employes of the company's six paper mills, is a voluntary, contributory plan, which, it is estimated, will bring average retirement benefits in the long-run to about $90 a month, including Social Security benefits.

The union, which participated in lengthy discussions of the plan with the company in November and April, has informed the company that several features of the plan do not meet with its approval.

Employe contributions to the plan will be 2 per cent of gross earnings up to $57.69 per week and 2½ per cent of earnings in excess of that amount. The company will contribute close to five million dollars to cover past service if all eligible employes join the plan and in that case its annual contributions will be $410,000.

Union Not In Accord

Employes will be eligible to join the plan following their thirtieth birthday, provided they have worked for the company for one year. They will become eligible for retirement benefits at 65 years of age, though provision is made for retirement with benefits after reaching the age of 55. Employes who are now over 60 years of age will not reach their normal retirement age until their seventieth birthday.

During the discussion and in a letter to the company, union representatives stated that the pension plan doesn't give adequate protection to employes who are now in the older age group. The union also protested that the plan is to be "unilaterally instituted by the company and to be unilaterally administered by it." Union representation on the plan's administrative board was requested during the discussions.

Pension plan discussions between UPA-CIO representatives and management began last November. The discussions resulted from an agreement signed by the union and the company on August 20, 1947, stating that the company would consider a pension plan during the contract year.

First Draft Rejected

Representatives of the United Paperworkers of America-CIO, assisted by Murray Latimer, industrial pension expert and former research director of the President's Advisory Board on the Guaranteed Annual Wage, rejected the company's first draft proposal, presented in November.

The plan which will now go into effect is a substantial improvement over the original proposal, the union stated.

"The union deserves credit for improvements in the plan," James W. Towsen, company vice president told UPA-CIO representatives.

The union, in a letter to Mr. Towsen, stated that "this plan is not the product of collective bargaining. If the company institutes this plan, the union in no way waives any of its rights as the collective bargaining agent to protest the plan and its administration."

A recent ruling by the National Labor Relations Board, in the Inland Steel Company case, held that pension plans were subject to collective bargaining.

The CIO Paperworkers are the collective bargaining agents for the company's three paper mills at Covington, Va., Luke, Md., and Williamsburg, Pa. The employes at the Charleston, S. C., mill are represented by several AFL organizations and the Mechanicsville, N. Y., mill is organized by District 50 of the Mine Workers. The mill at Tyrone, Pa., is not organized.

The pension plan will be installed at all six of the company's establishments.

Parsons Police Chief Resigns

PARSONS, W. Va.—Howard Ferguson, chief of police in Parsons for the past 10 months, during which time he made 108 arrests which brought the town approximately $750 in fines and costs, has resigned his position, effective at once.

Former Police Chief Ferguson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, Parsons, has accepted a position with the State Conservation Commission as a forest protector in Logan County.

Kirk Kee, former city police chief, has been appointed as city police chief until the Council meeting.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for their help and kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of Amos E. See. The use of cars, floral tributes and expressions of sympathy are all truly appreciated.
MR. & MRS. CHARLES M. SEE
MR. & MRS. GLENN K. DAVIS

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind and helpful during the illness and following the death of our beloved wife and daughter, Mrs. Katherine Anna Goodrich. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral and all others who in any manner assisted us.
SOLOMON GOODRICH, JOHN ROMPP and daughter, FLORENCE.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Abraham J. Deter, who passed away ten years ago today, May 5, 1938.
Ten years ago today
Our loved one passed away.
His generous heart and smiling face
Is something we can ne'er replace.
We love him more and more each day,
As though he had never been away.
Sadly missed by his loving wife and children.

In loving memory of our daughter and sister, Virginia A. Freeland, who died ten years ago today, May 5, 1938.
A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we love is stilled;
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled.
Sadly missed by her Mother, Father and Sisters.

In loving memory of my dear sister, Mary Mitchell, Lonaconing, Md.
Till memory fades, and life departs,
You'll live forever in our hearts,
Time takes away the edge of grief
But memory turns back every leaf.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere thanks to all our friends and neighbors for their help and kindness during our recent bereavement, the death of Amos E. See. The use of cars, floral tributes and expressions of sympathy are all truly appreciated.
MR. & MRS. CHARLES M. SEE
MR. & MRS. GLENN K. DAVIS

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind and helpful during the illness and following the death of our beloved wife and daughter, Mrs. Katherine Anna Goodrich. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral and all others who in any manner assisted us.
SOLOMON GOODRICH, JOHN ROMPF and daughter, FLORENCE.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Abraham J. Deter, who passed away ten years ago today, May 5, 1938.
'Ten years ago today
Our loved one passed away.
His generous heart and smiling face
Is something we can ne'er replace.
We love him more and more each day,
As though he had never been away.
Sadly missed by his loving wife and children.

In loving memory of our daughter and sister, Virginia A. Freeland, who died ten years ago today, May 5, 1938.
A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we love is stilled;
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled.
Sadly missed by her Mother, Father and Sisters.

In loving memory of my dear sister, Mary Mitchell, Lonaconing, Md.
Till memory fades, and life departs,
You'll live forever in our hearts,
Time takes away the edge of grief
But memory turns back every leaf.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

New Quiz, Old Morgan

There's a new quiz show on the air, if any one is interested, called "Everybody Wins." There is nothing else new about it except the candor of its title. Everybody has always won on these things but this show brings the matter out in the open. The chief distinction of "Everybody Wins" is that it restores Phil Baker to the microphone and, on the basis of his opening performance, that isn't much of a distinction.

Phil Baker

Baker seemed hostile not only to "Everybody Wins" but also to quiz shows in general and quiz contestants in particular. This feeling is by no means confined to Mr. Baker, but it's a little surprising to find him sharing it since he's been mixed up in this form of activity for quite a spell. For years he asked people to take it or leave it on the show of that name and finally left it himself, presumably because he could no longer stomach handing out $64 to the curious people who infested the place. Yet here he is back again passing out cash to people he gave every evidence of loathing. Some macabre compulsion, probably.

Because of his long layoff, he was also a little out of touch with the current fashions in jokes. There was one about Easter bonnets and an even more belated gag about Howard Hughes, two topics which have been laid aside temporarily by the more hep comedians. About all else you need to know about this show is that listeners send in five questions. If a contestant gets them all right, the listener who sent in the questions gets $100. If the contestant gets them all wrong, the listener gets $100. Everybody wins all right. That's enough on the subject.

Whenever you consider people with an apparent loathing for their profession you run squarely into Henry Morgan. One of Morgan's devoted fans once told me he had bought an Eversharp Schick razor in spite of the scorn with which Henry treated it. He begged me not to tell Morgan about it, fearing he would lose the comedian's respect. I believe he bought it at an obscure little drugstore in Harlem where he wasn't known. Probably asked for it in whispers. In any case, altogether sure it's the function of a comedian to put the product that pays the bill into this position. I don't say he has to sell the product exactly but I don't think he should try to prevent people from buying it.

On his new program, which is new only in that it's at a different time and under different sponsorship, Mr. Morgan has to some degree curbed his dislike of consumer products. He still delivers commercials but he remains extraordinarily aloof from them. His detachment from the marvels of Rayve Cream Shampoo —even while he's talking about them —is as marvelous and complete as that of Edgar Bergen from Charlie McCarthy.

Mr. Morgan, one of the most talented and least manageable comics on the air, has been a little spotty this year. I bring it up only because I'm fond of the boy and this hurts me worse than it does him. Morgan has gained ease and polish as a performer but the scripts are patently bright, partly terrible and partly just tired.

For quite a while now, for reasons not apparent to me, Mr. Morgan has been carrying on something called the "John J. Morgan Trouble Clinic," a satire and quite a vicious little one on John J. Anthony. This would be a noble project if Mr. Anthony were still on the air. But he isn't. (Or if he is, he's out of my range.) There must be fresher idiocies to parody than that one.

Also, Mr. Morgan has developed quite a crush on Phil Silvers, who's been present four times this season. Seems to me a man who's been around that long should lose his status as guest star and take his turn at the bathroom like every one else. I have nothing in particular against Mr. Silvers, but his appearance four times indicates a lack of imagination somewhere.

To pass on to pleasanter aspects, Morgan's weekly tilts with that tired, perennially distrustful Gerard (Arnold Stang) are a joy; Bernie Green's orchestra, which behaves like a drunken player-piano, massacres popular music even more convincingly than Spike Jones. And, of course, there's Morgan himself who, after two years, still manages to avoid the comedy cliches of all the other radio comedians. But he'd better be careful not to develop his own cliches.

Stocks Continue Making Headway On Selective Basis In Dealings

NEW YORK, May 4—(AP)—Stocks continued to make headway on a selective basis today although more insistent profit cashing chilled many market leaders.

Individual rails and industrials did well from the start but top gains running to a point or so were reduced in the majority of cases at the close with declines widespread.

Dealings turned active at intervals and volume for the full session totalled 1,460,000 shares against 1,150,000 the day before. It was the 31st day since March 18 on which the million level has been exceeded.

Amusements were weak spots throughout as belief recognition was taken of Monday's Supreme Court ruling which involved some prominent film distributors.

Bidding still was predicated on the thought that government spending will accentuate inflationary psychology, and bolster industry for some time to come.

The question of a real technical correction of the big April rally served to cool enthusiasm and inspire the trimming of accounts. Cloudy labor situations, with a rail strike theatened, also were blamed for a certain amount of liquidation.

Central Railroad of N. J. hit another new 1948 high and ended up 4¼ points at 29½. Major fractions were retained by American Woolen at 51⅛, U. S. Steel 76⅝, Great Northern Railway 47¾, Atlantic Coast Line 58¼, Oliver Corporation 30⅜, du Pont 175½ and Allied Chemical 186.

Down 1 to around 2 points were Twentieth Century-Fox at 21¾, Loew's 17⅜, Paramount Pictures 22¼, Warner Brothers 11¼, Mission Corporation 63½ and Standard Oil (NJ) 78¼.

On the offside were Republic Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Illinois Central, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Shenley, Kennecott, Westinghouse Electric and American Tobacco.

The quick over-subscription of $100,000,000 new bonds of Southewestern Bell Telephone highlighted a not-too active bond market.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

New Quiz, Old Morgan

There's a new quiz show on the air, if any one is interested, called "Everybody Wins." There is nothing else new about it except the candor of its title. Everybody has always won on these things but this show brings the matter out in the open. The chief distinction of "Everybody Wins" is that it restores Phil Baker to the microphone and, on the basis of his opening performance, that isn't much of a distinction.

Phil Baker

Baker seemed hostile not only to "Everybody Wins" but also to quiz shows in general and quiz contestants in particular. This feeling is by no means confined to Mr. Baker, but it's a little surprising to find him sharing it since he's been mixed up in this form of activity for quite a spell. For years he asked people to take it or leave it on the show of that name and finally left it himself, presumably because he could no longer stomach handing out $64 to the curious people who infested the place. Yet here he is back again passing out cash to people he gave every evidence of loathing. Some macabre compulsion, probably.

Because of his long layoff, he was also a little out of touch with the current fashions in jokes. There was one about Easter bonnets and an even more belated gag about Howard Hughes, two topics which have been laid aside temporarily by the more hep comedians. About all on the basis of his opening performance, that isn't much of a distinction.

Whenever you consider people with an apparent loathing for their profession you run squarely into Henry Morgan. One of Morgan's devoted fans once told me he had bought an Eversharp Schick razor in spite of the scorn with which Henry treated it. He begged me not to tell Morgan about it, fearing he would lose the comedian's respect. I believe he bought it at an obscure little drugstore in Harlem where he wasn't known. Probably asked for it in whispers. I'm not altogether sure it's the function of a comedian to put the product that pays the bill into this position. I don't say he has to sell the product exactly but I don't think he should try to prevent people from buying it.

On his new program, which is new only in that it's at a different time and under different sponsorship, Mr. Morgan has to some degree curbed his dislike of consumer products. He still delivers commercials but he remains extraordinarily aloof from them. His detachment from the marvels of Rayve Cream Shampoo —even while he's talking about them —is as marvelous and complete as that of Edgar Bergen from Charlie McCarthy.

Mr. Morgan, one of the most talented and least manageable comics on the air, has been a little spotty this year. I bring it up only because I'm fond of the boy and this hurts me worse than it does him. Morgan has gained enormously as a performer but the scripts are partly bright, partly terrible and partly just tired.

For quite a while now, for reasons not apparent to me, Mr. Morgan has been carrying on something called the "John J. Morgan Trouble Clinic," a satire and quite a vicious little one on John J. Anthony. This would be a noble project if Mr. Anthony were still on the air. But he isn't. (Or if he is, he's out of my range.) There must be fresher idiocies to parody than that one.

Also, Mr. Morgan has developed quite a crush on Phil Silvers, who's been present four times this season. Seems to me a man who's been around that long should lose his status as guest star and take his turn at the bathroom like every one else. I have nothing in particular against Mr. Silvers, but his appearance four times indicates a lack of imagination somewhere.

To pass on to pleasanter aspects, Morgan's weekly tilts with that tired, perennially distrustful Gerard (Arnold Stang) are a joy; Bernie Green's orchestra, which behaves like a drunken player-piano, massacres popular music even more convincingly than Spike Jones. And, of course, there's Morgan himself who, after two years, still manages to avoid the comedy cliches of all the other radio comedians. But he'd better be careful not to develop his own cliches.

Stocks Continue Making Headway On Selective Basis In Dealings

NEW YORK, May 4—(AP)—Stocks continued to make headway on a selective basis today although more insistent profit cashing chilled many market leaders.

Individual rails and industrials did well from the start but top gains running to a point or so were reduced in the majority of cases at the close with declines widespread.

Dealings turned active at intervals and volume for the full session totalled 1,460,000 shares against 1,150,000 the day before. It was the 31st day since March 18 on which the million level has been exceeded.

Amusements were weak spots throughout as belated recognition was taken of Monday's Supreme Court ruling which involved some prominent film distributors.

Bidding still was predicated on the thought that government spending will accentuate inflationary psychology and bolster industry for some time to come.

The question of a real technical correction of the big April rally served to cool enthusiasm and inspire the trimming of accounts. Cloudy labor situations, with a rail strike theatened, also were blamed for a certain amount of liquidation.

Central Railroad of N. J. hit another new 1948 high and ended up 4¼ points at 29½. Major fractions were retained by American Woolen at 51¼, U. S. Steel 76⅞, Great Northern Railway 47¾, Atlantic Coast Line 58¼, Oliver Corporation 30⅜, du Pont 175½ and Allied Chemical 188.

Down 1 to around 2 points were Twentieth Century-Fox at 21¾, Loew's 17⅞, Paramount Pictures 22⅛, Warner Brothers 11½, Mission Corporation 63½ and Standard Oil (NJ) 78¼.

On the offside were Republic Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Illinois Central, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Shenley, Kennecott, Westinghouse Electric and American Tobacco.

The quick over-subscription of $100,000,000 new bonds of Southewestern Bell Telephone highlighted a not-too active bond market.

NAVY JET SQUADRONS TRAIN TO OVERCOME CARRIER LANDING AND TAKEOFF PROBLEMS

ALL SET—FJ-1 pilot gets last minute instruction before taking off. Note bullet shape of fighter plane.

By HAROLD KEEN
Central Press Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—The "jet age" is catapulting naval aviation into new problems. If the Navy's air arm is called upon in a future conflict for as vital a role as it performed in World War II, much remains to be accomplished.

The Navy's first two all-jet squadrons, one here and the other on the east coast, have been setting speed records with their bullet-shaped new North American FJ-1 fighters.

"The public long ago arrived at the conclusion that eventually, if not soon, just about everything with wings would be jet-propelled," says Rear Adm. William K. Harrill, commander of Fleet Air, west coast.

"However, the actual change from the conventional to jet aircraft is infinitely easier to achieve in the imagination than in fact, particularly where carrier-based aircraft are concerned."

The FJ-1, capable of speeds of 600 miles an hour and better, may get to its target faster than any Navy plane ever built. However, for distant overseas operations, where assaults on enemy territory can be accomplished best from a floating base, this speed would be useless if it could not originate from an aircraft carrier.

As a result, the two squadrons are intensifying their training to perfect their operations from aircraft carriers.

Not only are jet aircraft considerably faster than conventional planes, but they also land faster. That presents the problem of making the planes strong enough to withstand the shock of arrested landings on flight decks without sacrificing desired flight characteristics, Admiral Harrill points out.

• • •

ALMOST as troublesome is the problem of how to launch jets from a carrier. The searing blast from the tail can be deadly. Anyone careless enough to wander closer than 20 feet from the tail could be burned to a crisp, or if lucky, escape with multiple fractures. If he walks too close to the nose, he might well be sucked into the spacious intake duct.

That tail tornado would so limit the number of planes which could be spotted behind the FJ-1 that conventional deck runs could be greatly handicapped, the admiral frankly admits.

The limited thrust available for acceleration from motionless position presents another difficulty. Little wonder that the mere landing and take-off of all-jet planes on carriers is as revolutionary a project as the inaugural use of carriers themselves many years ago.

The Navy's fighter pilots must now reorient themselves in other ways. Assuming that in future aerial battles, both antagonists will be in jet planes, the time elapsing between the moment they spot each other until they meet and pass would be desperately short.

This requires a complete readjustment of established gunnery techniques. Where flyers of high speed conventional planes might have had leeway of seconds to react to a combat situation, the new "supermen" flying jets may have only split seconds between life and death.

Pilots are demonstrating why it has the reputation of being the fastest plane with any operational unit of the United States fleet. Within a period of a week, speed records between several west coast cities were shattered with ridiculous ease.

Squadron Commander E. P. Aurand streaked from Seattle to Los Angeles in 1 hour, 58 minutes 7 seconds. Lt. Comdr. R. N. Elder swooped into San Francisco 1 hour, 21 minutes after leaving Seattle.

Lt. Comdr. John J. Magda flew the thousand miles from Seattle to San Diego in 2 hours, 12 minutes, 54 seconds, astounding an "open house" throng at the Naval Air Station here by flashing at low altitude across the landing field at 600 miles an hour.

After two of his squadron mates failed to shatter an Army P-80 mark of 42 minutes, 33 seconds from San Francisco to Los Angeles simply because they came out of the clouds so fast they "overshot" their destination, Comdr. W. A. Sherrill easily set a new record of 40 minutes—with no tail wind to help him.

"I could have gone 50 miles an hour faster," he lamented, "if the nose gear door hadn't kept flapping open."

One of the flyers "loafed" the 100 air miles from Los Angeles to San Diego in 11 minutes, a distance that takes conventional transports almost an hour. "With these babies, you start looking for your destination the minute you take off," he remarked.

IN FLIGHT—Two FJ-1s, with droppable wing tanks, roar on their way.

NAVY JET SQUADRONS TRAIN TO OVERCOME CARRIER LANDING AND TAKEOFF PROBLEMS

ALL SET—FJ-1 pilot gets last minute instruction before taking off. Note bullet shape of fighter plane.

By HAROLD KEEN
Central Press Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—The "jet age" is catapulting naval aviation into new problems. If the Navy's air arm is called upon in a future conflict for as vital a role as it performed in World War II, much remains to be accomplished.

The Navy's first two all-jet squadrons, one here and the other on the east coast, have been setting speed records with their bullet-shaped new North American FJ-1 fighters.

"The public long ago arrived at the conclusion that eventually, if not soon, just about everything with wings would be jet-propelled," says Rear Adm. William K. Harrill, commander of Fleet Air, west coast.

"However, the actual change from the conventional to jet aircraft is infinitely easier to achieve in the imagination than in fact, particularly where carrier-based aircraft are concerned."

The FJ-1, capable of speeds of 600 miles an hour and better, may get to its target faster than any Navy plane ever built. However, for distant overseas operations, where assaults on enemy territory can be accomplished best from a floating base, this speed would be useless if it could not originate from an aircraft carrier.

As a result, the two squadrons are intensifying their training to perfect their operations from aircraft carriers.

Not only are jet aircraft considerably faster than conventional planes, but they also land faster. That presents the problem of making the planes strong enough to withstand the shock of arrested landings on flight decks without sacrificing desired flight characteristics, Admiral Harrill points out.

• • •

ALMOST as troublesome is the problem of how to launch jets from a carrier. The searing blast from the tail can be deadly. Anyone careless enough to wander closer than 20 feet from the tail could be burned to a crisp, or if lucky, escape with multiple fractures. If he walks too close to the nose, he might well be sucked into the spacious intake duct.

That tail tornado would so limit the number of planes which could be spotted behind the FJ-1 that conventional deck runs could be greatly handicapped, the admiral frankly admits.

The limited thrust available for acceleration from motionless position presents another difficulty.

IN FLIGHT—Two FJ-1s, with droppable wing tanks, roar on their way.

Little wonder that the mere landing and take-off of all-jet planes on carriers is as revolutionary a project as the inaugural use of carriers themselves many years ago.

The Navy's fighter pilots must now reorient themselves in other ways. Assuming that in future aerial battles, both antagonists will be in jet planes, the time elapsing between the moment they spot each other until they meet and pass would be desperately short.

This requires a complete readjustment of established gunnery techniques. Where flyers of high speed conventional planes might have had leeway of seconds to react to a combat situation, the new "supermen" flying jets may have only split seconds between life and death.

Pilots are demonstrating why it has the reputation of being the fastest plane with any operational unit of the United States fleet. Within a period of a week, speed records between several west coast cities were shattered with ridiculous ease.

Squadron Commander E. P. Aurand streaked from Seattle to Los Angeles in 1 hour, 58 minutes 7 seconds. Lt. Comdr. R. N. Elder swooped into San Francisco 1 hour, 21 minutes after leaving Seattle.

Lt. Comdr. John J. Magda flew the thousand miles from Seattle to San Diego in 2 hours, 12 minutes, 54 seconds, astounding an "open house" throng at the Naval Air Station here by flashing at low altitude across the landing field at 600 miles an hour.

After two of his squadron mates failed to shatter an Army P-80 mark of 42 minutes, 33 seconds from San Francisco to Los Angeles simply because they came out of the clouds so fast they "overshot" their destination, Comdr. W. A. Sherrill easily set a new record of 40 minutes—with no tail wind to help him.

"I could have gone 50 miles an hour faster," he lamented, "if the nose gear door hadn't kept flapping open."

One of the flyers "loafed" the 100 air miles from Los Angeles to San Diego in 11 minutes, a distance that takes conventional transports almost an hour. "With these babies, you start looking for your destination the minute you take off," he remarked.

"Misunderstood," Say Local Petition Signers

Request Withdrawal From Wallace List

Nine more replies addressed to The Cumberland News were received from signers of the petition to have the name of Wallace appear on the November election ballot. All ask that their names be removed.

Two other persons have written in saying they had signed the petition but their names hadn't appeared. The letter is signed by Velma and Joseph Skelley, 538 Pine Avenue, Cumberland. The Skelley letter follows: "My name was not listed in the paper as signing the petition for Wallace to run. I did sign it and so did my husband . . . Will you please strike our names from the petitions, as we want no part of the Communist Party." Signed: Velma Skelley and Joseph Skelley, 538 Pine Street, Cumberland.

MARY A. BOYER, 125 Oak Street, Cumberland says' "I signed the Wallace for President petition, not realizing what I was signing. Therefore request my name be removed from the list."

ALDEN H. LOWERY, Ellerslie, on a post card writes: "My name has appeared in your paper by mistake under the Wallace petition. I am registered Democrat and have been since birth."

ROBERT L. KRAMPF, 427 Walnut Street, Cumberland writes: "I, Robert L. Krampf, request the removal of my name from the Wallace petition. I signed this petition to give an American the right to run for President. If signing means my friends think I am a Communist, then the removal is the only alternative.

MILDRED I. WELCH, rear 110 Springdale Street, Cumberland, relates: "In the issue of the Cumberland News on May 3, I was listed as a signer of the Wallace for President petition. I was not aware of the fact that Wallace had received the endorsement of the Communist Party. I signed the petition with the understanding he was a Democrat, and was not aware it had anything to do with Communism or a Third Party. I am a Democrat and not a Communist and I want the people who stand up for the Communist party to understand that. I wish to have my name withdrawn from this petition and I am sending a letter to the Secretary of State asking him to remove my name.

JOHN McLAUGHLIN, 23 Virginia Avenue, Cumberland, in his note comments: "I signed the Wallace petition through a misunderstanding on my part. I want no part of Wallace or anything connected with him. My signature was placed on the petition purely through my misunderstanding. I intend to write to the Secretary of State to have my name removed from the petition. I hope the general public will notice that I am withdrawing my name. I have been a registered Republican for over 30 years."

MRS. CORA REPLEY, 365 Bedford Street, Cumberland, writes that she signed the Wallace petition through a misunderstanding, and says she had also written to the Secretary of State to remove her name from the petition. She said she is not a Communist, never has associated with the organization and has no intentions of supporting a man for president who has been endorsed by the Communist Party. She wrote that she does not think for a minute that any of her acquaintances believe she is a supporter of Communism, adding, "But I want my name removed from the Wallace petition because you know that some may say "where there is smoke there must be fire."

MRS. DOROTHY A. DAYCHAK, 118 Oak Street, Cumberland.

MRS. LILLIAN JANE KOSER, 116 Oak Street, Cumberland.

CHARLES W. KOSER, 116 Oak Street, Cumberland.

NELLIE L. DAY, 111 Oak Street, Cumberland.

MYRTLE R. STEELE, 120 Oak Street, Cumberland.

The above five signers in a joint letter state: "We, the undersigned, have today asked Secretary of State Bertram Boone to remove our names from the Henry Wallace petition, as they were placed there through misunderstanding."

Area Rent Office Finds New Quarters

The area rent office, which has been without quarters since the Union Street Building was badly damaged by fire the night of April 21, has secured office space in the Postoffice Building, according to Acting Postmaster William C. McDermott.

Local rent officials said the new office, located in Room 3 in the basement of the Postoffice Building, will be open for business Thursday morning and will maintain a regular office schedule thereafter.

Until Thursday, however, those having business with the Office may continue to telephone Mrs. Hazel Brant, clerk, at 3645-J.

All rent files were destroyed in the Union Street fire, but duplicate records are maintained in the Baltimore office.

The Weather

While most of yesterday was cloudy with threatening rain, the raindrops didn't appear until early last night and then only in small areas, until all at once torrents of the wet little particles came pouring down as if by bucketfulls. According to the weatherman, who has returned from his hiding place, more rain with occasional thunder showers is predicted for today, with not much change in temperature. Tuesday's high was 63 degrees, with a low of 45 registered during the night. The mercury stood at 53 degrees last night at 11 o'clock. The weather vane tells us the winds last night, which were sort of coolish after the rains, were coming from the east.

William L. Dailey Resigns Post As Clerk, Treasurer

Ridgeley Official Accepts New Duties

William L. Dailey, recorder and treasurer of the Town of Ridgeley, W. Va., submitted his resignation to the Ridgeley Mayor and Council last night, effective June 30.

Dailey explained he has accepted the position of managing and operating a new cafeteria and dormitory being constructed for railroad men at Maryland Junction, by the Western Maryland Railway.

Dailey, a veteran of World War II and one of the organizers of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, was elected to the office of town recorder and treasurer about a year ago. He also operates a lunch stand in the firemen's hall, and prior to entering the Army, he was employed as a cook at the Celanese for nine years.

The new position, he told the mayor and council, offers him an excellent opportunity, and one that he feels he must accept. He said a new two-story brick building is being constructed by the Railway Company. The structure will house a cafeteria on the first floor and 30 dormitories on the second floor for transient railroaders.

Dailey will have full charge of managing the place, and will operate the cafeteria and other concessions. The new place is to be ready for business early in July, he indicated.

Mayor Frank Magruder said last night the council accepted the resignation with regret and a vote of confidence to Dailey for his competent service. Mayor Magruder said council will consider applications for an appointment to fill the vacancy.

Construction Industry "Vacation" Reported

Major construction work in this county was reported grinding to a halt yesterday as a result, an informed source reported, of an apparent refusal of building trade craftsmen to work at the rate of pay which existed prior to May 1.

A general agreement was reached last week on wage increases generally of about 25 cents an hour for locals of the building trade unions effective May 1 but the matter of the effective date on work already under contract and construction was left up in the air for at least some of the contractors.

The informant said he was told it was "not a strike" but just "sort of a vacation."

It was also reported that the situation is not too unusual and that a change in rates of building crafts often results in some disagreement as to rates during completion of jobs already started.

Last year the new rates were reported being paid on all work about two months after the increase became effective on new work.

A labor source said an agreement had been reached with 17 of the 19 local and two out-of-town contractors by yesterday and that all but two have agreed on the details. Among the projects affected is the new telephone building.

The Allegany County Court House will be closed Thursday at noon in honor of Mr. Jackson, who had been employed at the Court House since 1914 and was Clerk of Court since 1937.

Millard Outlines Advantages Of City Management

Says Cities Becoming More Competitive

Cities are becoming highly competitive, and with the standard of living steadily advancing, if a city expects to retain its young people and continue to grow, it must offer the best in recreation, employment, schools, government, living conditions, Walter J. Millard, Cincinnati newspaperman and expert on the council-manager form of government, told an audience of 200 at Ali Ghan Country Club last night.

Sponsored by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, the meeting was attended by members of the organization, city officials, members of the City Charter Commission and a number of guests. Millard was introduced by Harold W. Smith, secretary, and John J. Robinson presided.

Outlining the changes in municipal government through the years, Millard said council-manager form of city government seems to be the most successful because it meets present day needs.

A strong advocate of Home Rule and a council of about seven men serving four-year terms, with a city manager, Millard outlined how such a system might work in Cumberland, and described its benefits as they have materialized in other cities.

The system is very simple, he explained, and can best be described by viewing the council members as a board of directors elected by the citizens who are the stockholders. The council members should elect the mayor, he advocated, and the mayor then becomes the executive officer. He presides at meetings, keeps things going and makes reports to the citizens.

Provides More Services

The council employs a city manager, and he strongly recommended that "the best way to keep this out of politics is to hire a man from some other place than Cumberland." The city manager becomes manager in fact as well as title, and has the responsibility for actually managing and supervising all services of the government.

Millard told his listeners that he would be the last to state that a city manager will do such a good job that the tax rate would be lowered. What he actually does accomplish, Millard explained, is provide more services for each tax dollar. Cities that have city managers are finding they get a dollar's worth of service for each dollar of taxes paid, he claimed.

Woman On Council

"No city council is quite complete without at least one woman member," Millard recommended. He reminded his listeners that over half the property is owned and half the taxes are paid by women in the average American community. "They have a right to representation," he declared.

Recommending the formation of a citizens group or groups which would offer a slate or slates of candidates for council, Millard said in this manner a better representation of council material can be obtained.

When industry today seeks plant location and surveys cities as possible sites for plants, they do so with different thoughts in mind than a few years ago, Millard said. There was a time when industrialists were interested in the location of highways, railroads, in bank clearings, raw material and the labor market. Today they are interested in the kind of services a city government supplies its citizens.

Cities with good recreational features, good housing, good schools and churches, adquate parking facilities, good sewage and water systems and all the other things that go to make life more pleasant are getting the industries, Millard said.

East Side P-TA Re-Elects Officers

The East Side Parent-Teachers Association held election of officers and had a talk by Miss Winifred Green, superintendent of primary grades of Allegany County schools, at the meeting last night.

Officers for the year were all re-elected and are William Deremer, president; Miss Agnes Carroll, vice president; Mrs. Gyneth McGee, secretary, and Richard Aaron, treasurer.

Speaking on "Reasearch and Steps of Improvement of the Traditional School versus the Modern School," Miss Green outlined the principal changes, explained the progress of children and asked the co-operation of the parents.

It also was decided that the Lay Health Group will combine its monthly meetings with the new Social Hygiene Studies being undertaken by the East Side School. It will begin with the May meeting.

Concluding the business session pupils of the Dixon Dance Studio, Midland, presented a program. It included a tap dance by Lois Jane Howell; a toe dance by Patricia Henry; a song and tap number by Janie Lee Bradley and an acrobatic routine by Audrey Rice.

Mrs. Rosalie Shobe's room won the attendance award.

SPEAKER-- Walter J. Millard, expert on city management and the council-manager form of government, is seen here as he addressed a meeting of members of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and their guests at Ali Ghan Country Club last night. Seated next to Millard is Rev. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, who offered the invocation.

Moose Lodge To Hold Program On Mother's Day

Rev. Keesecker Will Be Chief Speaker

Plans are being completed for the Mother's Day observance of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, according to Harry S. Lannon, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The observance, to be held next Sunday, will begin with a concert at 1:30 p. m. on the lawn at the Moose Home by the Moose Band under the direction of Walter Fisher.

Instrumental selections by the band will open the formal program at 2:30 p. m., when the annual awards of orchid corsages to mothers in the audience will be made. Awards will be given to the youngest mother, the oldest, the mother with the most children and the mother with the most living children.

The public is invited to attend. All mothers in the audience will receive a rose.

The principal speaker will be Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church, who will discuss the history of the observance of Mother's Day.

Charles E. Pettie, governor of the lodge, will give the address of welcome.

Lannon is being assisted in making arrangements by A. G. Brown and Russell Minnicks.

Sunday evening a class of 15 candidates will be initiated by the lodge degree team.

Welfare Director Discusses Claims

The Allegany County Welfare Board can make no claim against the estate of a deceased recipient of old age assistance as long as the home is occupied by his spouse or dependents, regardless of whether the latter are receiving assistance, Mrs. Elinor Westerfield, director, said last night.

Mrs. Westerfield amplified statements concerning the operation of the board at a meeting of local officials with J. Milton Patterson, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, Monday night at the Court House Building.

However, if there are no survivors, the board, which becomes a common creditor in the eyes of the law, seeks from the estate the total amount of money granted as assistance, Mrs. Westerfeld explained.

Formerly, welfare boards had a prior claim against such estates, but the priority act was changed about 1939.

No claim is made against personal property of a deceased recipient except in the case of an insurance policy having a face value of over $300, she said.

Mrs. Westerfeld said that the average monthly old age assistance grant in Maryland amounts to $28, but that Allegany County has the second highest average outside of Baltimore City, with $32 monthly.

The board takes no liens except an assignment on insurance policies over $300.

Mrs. Westerfeld said that the board's $22,000 surplus last year was turned back to the county because matching funds were not available from the state. A previous report on the Monday night meeting stated that the $22,000 was turned back to the state.

Austin Holds Lead In District Race

On the basis of returns already tabulated, F. Byrne Austin is virtually the winner in the Sixth District Congressional race for the Democratic nomination.

With only four small precincts in Garrett County still out, Austin has a lead of 297 votes over his closest rival, Will Allen, Washington newspaperman, who was a labor-backed candidate and carried Allegany County by a plurality of 334 votes.

Allen conceded the election to Austin Monday night, after 33 precincts were unreported.

County Fire Chiefs Will Elect Tonight

The monthly meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Fire Chiefs Association will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the Corriganville Fire Hall.

There will be nomination and election of officers for the ensuing year. There will also be shown a moving picture on "Forestry."

Heavy Balloting Marks Election Of Cumberland FOE

Schultz Retained As Lodge Trustee

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held its annual election yesterday with 835 ballots cast, the largest number in the history of the organization. Interest centered around the election of a trustee and delegates to the state convention in Hagerstown.

Francis Schultz was elected for a fifth three-year term as trustee in an overwhelming victory over his opponent, Fred Daum. Nine delegates to the convention were chosen with three others tieing for the 10th position.

Those elected include James E. Kelly, Harry Davidson, Victor Long, Albert Heintz, William S. Appold, Robert Young, Francis Twigg, Charles Burkey, and "Boots" Rice. The three tied are Samuel Neumann, Merle Lookabaugh, and Charles Keplinger.

Charles Keplinger was elected worthy president to succeed C. William H. Baer, who becomes worthy past president.

Other new officers are Francis H. Twigg, worthy vice president; John H. Harbaugh, chaplain; Frank C. McKnight, worthy secretary; Blaine Wilkens, worthy treasurer; Peter Elliott, worthy conductor; Merle Lookabaugh, worthy inside guard; Robert Rhodea, worthy outside guard.

Daniel Willard, treasurer, declined to be a candidate to succeed himself, and lodge officials recalled last night that McKnight is beginning his 20th consecutive term as secretary.

The election was conducted by ballot in a manner similar to general municipal elections. Polls were open from noon until 7 p. m. and 12 judges, clerks and officials conducted the voting.

Full military rites were accorded by members of the First Battalion, 115th Infantry.

Pallbearers were Captains Robert C. Matlick, Robert L. Powell, Robert W. Fink, all of this city; James A. Cutsail, Frederick, William T. Buzzard, Hagerstown, and Gerald E. Reeves, Lonaconing, all company commanders of the First Battalion.

Mental Hygiene Clinic Scheduled This Week

Appointments have been filled for the monthly mental hygiene clinic, to be held Thursday and Friday at headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, according to Health Department officials.

The clinic will be conducted by Dr. Gertrude Gross of the staff of Springfield State Hospital.

Each clinic will be held from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m., with three children to be examined Thursday and four adults on Friday. In addition, other patients who return periodically for discussions will attend.

City To Request Actuarial Study On Pension Plan

Kimble To Secure Application Forms

The Mayor and Council, at a special meeting with representatives of city employes yesterday afternoon, decided to make application to the state for an actuarial study to determine the cost of a pension plan for city employes.

State Senator Robert B. Kimble, who explained the operation of the state employes' retirement system, said he will secure the necessary application forms in Annapolis today and return with them tomorrow.

The study would be made by a New York actuary retained by the Maryland retirement system to make similar studies for counties and municipalities desiring to take part in the pension program, Kimble said.

Cost About $200

He added that a study made for Hagerstown cost approximately $200, and said the charge would probably be the same in Cumberland's case.

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz suggested that the study be made so that further details regarding the cost of a pension plan could be obtained.

Kimble advised the Mayor and Council to write direct to the New York actuary for a separate study on the cost of setting up a "sound system" for the Police and Fire Departments.

Police and firemen are the only City of Cumberland employes now covered by a pension plan, which was set up by legislative statute. Employes of both departments contribute three per cent, while the city contributes five per cent toward Fire Department pensions and seven per cent toward police pensions.

The mandatory retirement age for Cumberland firemen is 60 years, although they may retire after 25 years of service. Police Department employes may retire at the age of 60 or continue working until they are 65 under certain conditions.

Kimble said the separate actuarial study to determine rates for the Police and Fire Departments may cost several hundred dollars more than the $200 estimated for the main study.

He explained that regular actuarial fees would be charged for the former, while in the latter case the study could be applied for through the state retirement system, which retains the New York expert for that purpose.

He estimated that it would take about 30 days to receive the actuarial report.

Following receipt of the report, if the Mayor and Council decided to place all city employes except those in the Police and Fire Departments under the pension plan, only the passage of an ordinance would be required.

Separate System Cited

However, in the case of policemen and firemen, legislative action would be necessary, Kimble explained. He said Hagerstown decided to operate a separate retirement system for policemen because the nature of their work usually prevented them from being able to continue on the force until reaching retirement age.

Under the state employes' retirement system, rates of payment by employes are based on age, sex, and work classification, with employe contributions matched by the state or the employing unit.

Employe payments are placed in one account to provide an annuity when he reaches retirement age, while the state contributes an equal amount to a second account, to provide a retirement pension.

Gibson Serves As Acting City Clerk

Mayor Thomas S. Post said late yesterday afternoon that City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson will serve as acting city clerk pending a special meeting of city officials to appoint a temporary clerk.

The action was announced following the sudden death of City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger yesterday afternoon as he was working at his desk in City Hall.

The post of city clerk, for many years an appointive position, was placed under Civil Service when the merit system was adopted in May, 1943.

Mayor Post explained that a temporary city clerk will be appointed to serve until a list of eligible applicants can be prepared and an examination held by the Board of Civil Service Commissioners.

Date of the secial meeting has not been set.

Gibson served as acting city clerk when Mr. Griminger was ill from last December until February.

Clinic Scheduled

A child hygiene clinic will be held at the Barrelville Health Center tomorrow at 10 a. m., instead of in the afternoon as was formerly the case.

The clinic will be conducted by Dr. William F. McFarland, assistant city and county health officer, marking the first time a physician has been present at the clinic. Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenmerkel will be the public health nurse in charge.

FATALLY STRICKEN — City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger, 63, 207 Piedmont Avenue, was fatally stricken while working at his desk in City Hall yesterday afternoon. He began his service with the city in April, 1930, during the administration of the late Dr. Thomas W. Koon.

Camera Club To Hold Banquet, Contest Saturday

Noted Photographers Will Judge Prints

The Cumberland Camera Club will hold its 10th anniversary banquet and "picture of the year" contest on Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Three noted photographers, A. Aubrey Bodine, staff photographer for the Baltimore Sun; Edward L. Bafford, Baltimore, and William M. Rittase, Philadelphia, will serve as judges.

Sixty black and white prints which have won monthly contests held by the club during the past year will be entered in the contest. Twenty-five will be selected for a traveling exhibit to be sent to other camera clubs in Ohio, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

Trophies will be presented by Harvey's Jewelry Store to the three club members whose prints are judged the best, and two others will be selected for honorable mention.

The five pictures will be displayed at Harvey's for two weeks, and the winning print will be submitted in the contest held by "The Camera," a national magazine, for all camera club winners. Fifty prints are selected in that contest, with each winner receiving $50.

Bodine, who is a noted exhibitor in international photographic salons, has visited Cumberland on numerous occasions to take pictures of this area for the Baltimore Sun and national magazines. His photographs recently appeared in the magazine Holiday with an article on Maryland.

Camera club members in Hagerstown, Keyser, Bedford and Gettysburg have been invited to attend the banquet Saturday, for which over 40 reservations have been made.

Today is the deadline for making reservations, which may be obtained at Harvey's or from members of the club. The public is invited to attend the judging event, which will include informal discussions of the various prints.

S. E. Griminger, City Clerk, Dies While At Work

Fatally Stricken At Desk In City Hall

Samuel E. Griminger, 63, who began his service as city clerk in 1930 during the administration of the late Dr. Thomas W. Koon, collapsed and died yesterday afternoon while working at his desk in City Hall.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, set the time of death at 3:25 p. m. and said Mr. Griminger died of a coronary occlusion.

Mr. Griminger's death came less than 48 hours after Robert Jackson, Allegany County Circuit Court clerk, was found dead in his room at the Algonquin Hotel, also of a coronary occlusion.

Death Instantaneous

Miss Nellie G. Cozad, assistant to the city auditor, was working at the other end of the desk from Mr. Griminger when she heard a slight noise and saw him slump over in his chair.

Dr. John K. Rozum, city physician, arrived a few minutes later and said death had been instantaneous. Mr. Griminger had been suffering from a heart condition since last November, according to Dr. Deming.

Mr. Griminger was a patient in Allegany Hospital from last December 3 until Christmas Eve, when he returned home to complete his convalescence from virus pneumonia, Mrs. Griminger said.

He resumed his duties at City Hall early in February, working on a part-time basis for a number of weeks after that time.

City Hall officials said Mr. Griminger did not complain of feeling ill yesterday, but that he had seemed visibly tired during the reading of two lengthy ordinances at a meeting of the Mayor and Council a week ago.

A native and lifelong resident of Cumberland, Mr. Griminger was a son of the late Samuel and Mary Manley Griminger. He was employed in the office of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company prior to being appointed city clerk in April, 1930.

The position, was an appointive one until the merit system was instituted in 1943.

In 1932 Harry S. Thayer was appointed city clerk, and during the next two years, until Thayer's resignation to accept another position, Mr. Griminger was employed by the cvity tax collector's office to collect delinquent taxes.

Under Five Mayors

Upon Thayer's resignation, Mr. Griminger was reappointed and served continuously as city clerk until his death.

Besides Dr. Koon, other mayors in whose administration Mr. Griminger served were George W. Legge, Harry Irvine, Thomas F. Conlon and Mayor Thomas S. Post.

He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and served as secretary of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, for a number of years. He became a fourth degree member of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, recently, and also belonged to Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks.

Mr. Griminger resided with his wife, the former Edith Thuss, at 207 Piedmont Avenue. The couple would have observed their 39th wedding anniversary on June 17. They have no children.

Besides Mrs. Griminger, survivors include two brothers, William T. and Bernard F. Griminger, both of this city.

Driver Exonerated In Woman's Death

The State's Attorney's office said yesterday that no criminal charge will be preferred against Robert M. Smutke, Windber, Pa., driver of the car that struck and fatally injured a 36-year-old local woman on McMullen Highway Monday morning.

A second motorist, James Piacepelli, Norristown, Pa., whose machine crashed against the Smutke vehicle after it hit Mrs. Hazel V. Russ, 529 Greene Street, also was interrogated.

Authorities said that questioning showed Mrs. Russ had alighted from a bus and started to cross the highway rapidly, without looking for approaching cars.

Smutke was not driving at "unreasonable speed" at the time of the accident, and there was no evidence of criminal negligence in the case, the State's Attorney's office said.

Mrs. Russ, a widow, was en route to work in the Celanese cafeteria when the accident occurred.

The body is at the residence where a brief service will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Final rites will be held at Stein's Chapel at 3 p. m. with Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

"Mr. Quiz" To Help Explain New Pension Plan For Paper Workers

In connection with the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company pension plan, the personnel department of the Luke plant today began mailing to each hourly paid employe a copy of the formal plan and an illustrated explanatory booklet.

"The strict language of the legal document," a company spokesman said, "is not light reading. We hope the booklet, which gives examples illustrated by a cartoon figure called 'Mr. Quiz,' will help everybody understand better the general advantages of the plan and its application in his own particular case.

"In addition we expect to arrange for showings of a sound slide film which describes the main features of the plan and explains how to figure benefits and contributions in a typical case. It's important to the ultimate success of the plan that everybody concerned understand and appreciate it as thoroughly as possible."

The cartoon figure, Mr. Quiz, is an animated question mark, dressed in cap and overalls, designed to stimulate the interest and curiosity of the reader. He and his family appear in situations appropriate to the text of each page. He was devised in anticipation of a lively interest by employes of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company in the plan he introduces.

The booklet, entitled "Mr. Quiz Presents Highlights of a Pension Plan," consists of 28 pages in two colors, designed and printed especially for the employes affected.

"Mr. Quiz" also appears in the sound slide film which will be used in explaining the plan to employes and other interested groups.

Western Maryland Motor Club Begins Another Safety Campaign On May 10

A Cumberland and area safety campaign, sponsored by the Western Maryland Motor Club, affiliate of the American Automobile Association, will get underway on Monday, William P. Rosenmerkel, manager of the local organization, announced last night.

Each day during the week, the Motor Club will honor the most courteous driver in this area, and that driver will be presented with a $5 cash award.

Unlike the previous drive, which was concentrated in Cumberland, Rosenmerkel said that possibly two or three days of the week will be spent in the Frostburg area and drivers of that section will be duly honored.

Rosenmerkel said the inspector, accompanied by a civic official or a person associated with traffic work, will tour the area from Monday through Friday in search of the winners.

Motorists will be observed from all vantage points, continued Rosenmerkel, and only those who actually deserve the award will be given the honor.

The success in recent drives conducted locally prompted the Motor Club authorities to expand in the drive which will be carried out with the aid of the State and City Police in an effort to curb faulty driving and traffic accidents.

"Misunderstood," Say Local Petition Signers

Request Withdrawal From Wallace List

Nine more replies addressed to The Cumberland News were received from signers of the petition to have the name of Wallace appear on the November election ballot. All ask that their names be removed.

Two other persons have written in saying they had signed the petition but their names hadn't appeared. The letter is signed by Velma and Joseph Skelley, 538 Pine Avenue, Cumberland. The Skelley letter follows: "My name was not listed in the paper as signing the petition for Wallace to run. I did sign it and so did my husband . . . Will you please strike our names from the petitions, as we want no part of the Communist Party." Signed: Velma Skelley and Joseph Skelley, 538 Pine Street, Cumberland.

MARY A. BOYER, 125 Oak Street, Cumberland says' "I signed the Wallace for President petition, not realizing what I was signing. Therefore request my name be removed from the list."

ALDEN H. LOWERY, Ellerslie, on a post card writes: "My name has appeared in your paper by mistake under the Wallace petition. I am registered Democrat and have been since birth."

ROBERT L. KRAMPF, 427 Walnut Street, Cumberland writes: "I, Robert L. Krampf, request the removal of my name from the Wallace petition. I signed this petition to give an American the right to run for President. If signing means my friends think I am a Communist, then the removal is the only alternative.

MILDRED I. WELCH, rear 110 Springdale Street, Cumberland, relates: "In the issue of the Cumberland News on May 3, I was listed as a signer of the Wallace for President petition. I was not aware of the fact that Wallace had received the endorsement of the Communist Party. I signed the petition with the understanding he was a Democrat, and was not aware it had anything to do with Communism or a Third Party. I am a Democrat and not a Communist and I want the people who stand up for the Communist party to understand that. I wish to have my name withdrawn from this petition and I am sending a letter to the Secretary of State asking him to remove my name.

JOHN McLAUGHLIN, 23 Virginia Avenue, Cumberland, in his note comments: "I signed the Wallace petition through a misunderstanding on my part. I want no part of Wallace or anything connected with him. My signature was placed on the petition purely through my misunderstanding. I intend to write to the Secretary of State to have my name removed from the petition. I hope the general public will notice that I am withdrawing my name. I have been a registered Republican for over 30 years."

MRS. CORA REPLEY, 365 Bedford Street, Cumberland, writes that she signed the Wallace petition through a misunderstanding, and says she had also written to the Secretary of State to remove her name from the petition. She said she is not a Communist, never has associated with the organization and has no intentions of supporting a man for president who has been endorsed by the Communist Party. She wrote that she does not think for a minute that any of her acquaintances believe she is a supporter of Communism, adding, "But I want my name removed from the Wallace petition because you know that some may say "where there is smoke there must be fire."

MRS. DOROTHY A. DAYCHAK, 118 Oak Street, Cumberland.

MRS. LILLIAN JANE KOSER, 116 Oak Street, Cumberland.

CHARLES W. KOSER, 116 Oak Street, Cumberland.

NELLIE L. DAY, 111 Oak Street, Cumberland.

MYRTLE R. STEELE, 120 Oak Street, Cumberland.

The above five signers in a joint letter state: "We, the undersigned, have today asked Secretary of State Bertram Boone to remove our names from the Henry Wallace petition, as they were placed there through misunderstanding."

Area Rent Office Finds New Quarters

The area rent office, which has been without quarters since the Union Street Building was badly damaged by fire the night of April 21, has secured office space in the Postoffice Building, according to Acting Postmaster William C. McDermott.

Local rent officials said the new office, located in Room 3 in the basement of the Postoffice Building, will be open for business Thursday morning and will maintain a regular office schedule thereafter.

Until Thursday, however, those having business with the Office may continue to telephone Mrs. Hazel Brant, clerk, at 3645-J.

All rent files were destroyed in the Union Street fire, but duplicate records are maintained in the Baltimore office.

The Weather

While most of yesterday was cloudy with threatening rain, the raindrops didn't appear until early last night and then only in small areas, until all at once torrents of the wet little particles came pouring down as if by bucketfulls. According to the weatherman, who has returned from his hiding place, more rain with occasional thunder showers is predicted for today, with not much change in temperature. Tuesday's high was 63 degrees, with a low of 45 registered during the night. The mercury stood at 53 degrees last night at 11 o'clock. The weather vane tells us the winds last night, which were sort of coolish after the rains, were coming from the east.

William L. Dailey Resigns Post As Clerk, Treasurer

Ridgeley Official Accepts New Duties

William L. Dailey, recorder and treasurer of the Town of Ridgeley, W. Va., submitted his resignation to the Ridgeley Mayor and Council last night, effective June 30.

Dailey explained he has accepted the position of managing and operating a new cafeteria and dormitory being constructed for railroad men at Maryland Junction, by the Western Maryland Railway.

Dailey, a veteran of World War II and one of the organizers of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, was elected to the office of town recorder and treasurer about a year ago. He also operates a lunch stand in the firemen's hall, and prior to entering the Army, he was employed as a cook at the Celanese for nine years.

The new position, he told the mayor and council, offers him an excellent opportunity, and one that he feels he must accept. He said a new two-story brick building is being constructed by the Railway Company. The structure will house a cafeteria on the first floor and 30 dormitories on the second floor for transient railroaders.

Dailey will have full charge of managing the place, and will operate the cafeteria and other concessions. The new place is to be ready for business early in July, he indicated.

Mayor Frank Magruder said last night the council accepted the resignation with regret and a vote of confidence to Dailey for his competent service. Mayor Magruder said council will consider applications for an appointment to fill the vacancy.

Construction Industry "Vacation" Reported

Major construction work in this county was reported grinding to a halt yesterday as a result, an informed source reported, of an apparent refusal of building trade craftsmen to work at the rate of pay which existed prior to May 1.

A general agreement was reached last week on wage increases generally of about 25 cents an hour for locals of the building trade unions effective May 1 but the matter of the effective date on work already under contract and construction was left up in the air for at least some of the contractors.

The informant said he was told it was "not a strike" but just "sort of a vacation."

It was also reported that the situation is not too unusual and that a change in rates of building crafts often results in some disagreement as to rates during completion of jobs already started.

Last year the new rates were reported being paid on all work about two months after the increase became effective on new work.

A labor source said an agreement had been reached with 17 of the 19 local and two out-of-town contractors by yesterday and that all but two have agreed on the details. Among the projects affected is the new telephone building.

The Allegany County Court House will be closed Thursday at noon in honor of Mr. Jackson, who had been employed at the Court House since 1914 and was Clerk of Court since 1937.

Millard Outlines Advantages Of City Management

Says Cities Becoming More Competitive

Cities are becoming highly competitive, and with the standard of living steadily advancing, if a city expects to retain its young people and continue to grow, it must offer the best in recreation, employment, schools, government, living conditions, Walter J. Millard, Cincinnati newspaperman and expert on the council-manager form of government, told an audience of 200 at Ali Ghan Country Club last night.

Sponsored by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, the meeting was attended by members of the organization, city officials, members of the City Charter Commission and a number of guests. Millard was introduced by Harold W. Smith, secretary, and John J. Robinson presided.

Outlining the changes in municipal government through the years, Millard said council-manager form of city government seems to be the most successful because it meets present day needs.

A strong advocate of Home Rule and a council of about seven men serving four-year terms, with a city manager, Millard outlined how such a system might work in Cumberland, and described its benefits as they have materialized in other cities.

The system is very simple, he explained, and can best be described by viewing the council members as a board of directors elected by the citizens who are the stockholders. The council members should elect the mayor, he advocated, and the mayor then becomes the executive officer. He presides at meetings, keeps things going and makes reports to the citizens.

Provides More Services

The council employs a city manager, and he strongly recommended that "the best way to keep this out of politics is to hire a man from some other place than Cumberland." The city manager becomes manager in fact as well as title, and has the responsibility for actually managing and supervising all services of the government.

Millard told his listeners that he would be the last to state that a city manager will do such a good job that the tax rate would be lowered. What he actually does accomplish, Millard explained, is provide more services for each tax dollar. Cities that have city managers are finding they get a dollar's worth of service for each dollar of taxes paid, he claimed.

Woman On Council

"No city council is quite complete without at least one woman member," Millard recommended. He reminded his listeners that over half the property is owned and half the taxes are paid by women in the average American community. "They have a right to representation," he declared.

Recommending the formation of a citizens group or groups which would offer a slate or slates of candidates for council, Millard said in this manner a better representation of council material can be obtained.

When industry today seeks plant location and surveys cities as possible sites for plants, they do so with different thoughts in mind than a few years ago, Millard said. There was a time when industrialists were interested in the location of highways, railroads, in bank clearings, raw material and the labor market. Today they are interested in the kind of services a city government supplies its citizens.

Cities with good recreational features, good housing, good schools and churches, adquate parking facilities, good sewage and water systems and all the other things that go to make life more pleasant are getting the industries, Millard said.

East Side P-TA Re-Elects Officers

The East Side Parent-Teachers Association held election of officers and had a talk by Miss Winifred Green, superintendent of primary grades of Allegany County schools, at the meeting last night.

Officers for the year were all re-elected and are William Deremer, president; Miss Agnes Carroll, vice president; Mrs. Gyneth McGee, secretary, and Richard Aaron, treasurer.

Speaking on "Reasearch and Steps of Improvement of the Traditional School versus the Modern School," Miss Green outlined the principal changes, explained the progress of children and asked the co-operation of the parents.

It also was decided that the Lay Health Group will combine its monthly meetings with the new Social Hygiene Studies being undertaken by the East Side School. It will begin with the May meeting.

Concluding the business session pupils of the Dixon Dance Studio, Midland, presented a program. It included a tap dance by Lois Jane Howell; a toe dance by Patricia Henry; a song and tap number by Janie Lee Bradley and an acrobatic routine by Audrey Rice.

Mrs. Rosalie Shobe's room won the attendance award.

Welfare Director Discusses Claims

The Allegany County Welfare Board can make no claim against the estate of a deceased recipient of old age assistance as long as the home is occupied by his spouse or dependents, regardless of whether the latter are receiving assistance, Mrs. Elinor Westerfield, director, said last night.

Mrs. Westerfield amplified statements concerning the operation of the board at a meeting of local officials with J. Milton Patterson, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, Monday night at the Court House Building.

However, if there are no survivors, the board, which becomes a common creditor in the eyes of the law, seeks from the estate the total amount of money granted as assistance, Mrs. Westerfield explained.

Formerly, welfare boards had a prior claim against such estates, but the priority act was changed about 1939.

No claim is made against personal property of a deceased recipient except in the case of an insurance policy having a face value of over $300, she said.

Mrs. Westerfield said that the average monthly old age assistance grant in Maryland amounts to $28, but that Allegany County has the second highest average outside of Baltimore City, with $32 monthly.

The board takes no liens except an assignment on insurance policies over $300.

Mrs. Westerfeld said that the board's $22,000 surplus last year was turned back to the county because matching funds were not available from the state. A previous report on the Monday night meeting stated that the $22,000 was turned back to the state.

Austin Holds Lead In District Race

On the basis of returns already tabulated, F. Byrne Austin is virtually the winner in the Sixth District Congressional race for the Democratic nomination.

With only four small precincts in Garrett County still out, Austin has a lead of 297 votes over his closest rival, Will Allen, Washington newspaperman, who was a labor-backed candidate and carried Allegany County by a plurality of 334 votes.

Allen conceded the election to Austin Monday night, after 33 precincts were unreported.

City To Request Actuarial Study On Pension Plan

Kimble To Secure Application Forms

The Mayor and Council, at a special meeting with representatives of city employes yesterday afternoon, decided to make application to the state for an actuarial study to determine the cost of a pension plan for city employes.

State Senator Robert B. Kimble, who explained the operation of the state employes' retirement system, said he will secure the necessary application forms in Annapolis today and return with them tomorrow.

The study would be made by a New York actuary retained by the Maryland retirement system to make similar studies for counties and municipalities desiring to take part in the pension program, Kimble said.

Cost About $200

He added that a study made for Hagerstown cost approximately $200, and said the charge would probably be the same in Cumberland's case.

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz suggested that the study be made so that further details regarding the cost of a pension plan could be obtained.

Kimble advised the Mayor and Council to write direct to the New York actuary for a separate study on the cost of setting up a "sound system" for the Police and Fire Departments.

Police and firemen are the only City of Cumberland employes now covered by a pension plan, which was set up by legislative statute. Employes of both departments contribute three per cent, while the city contributes five per cent toward Fire Department pensions and seven per cent toward police pensions.

The mandatory retirement age for Cumberland firemen is 60 years, although they may retire after 25 years of service. Police Department employes may retire at the age of 60 or continue working until they are 65 under certain conditions.

Kimble said the separate actuarial study to determine rates for the Police and Fire Departments may cost several hundred dollars more than the $200 estimated for the main study.

He explained that regular actuarial fees would be charged for the former, while in the latter case the study could be applied for through the state retirement system, which retains the New York expert for that purpose.

He estimated that it would take about 30 days to receive the actuarial report.

Following receipt of the report, if the Mayor and Council decided to place all city employes except those in the Police and Fire Departments under the pension plan, only the passage of an ordinance would be required.

Separate System Cited

However, in the case of policemen and firemen, legislative action would be necessary, Kimble explained. He said Hagerstown decided to operate a separate retirement system for policemen because the nature of their work usually prevented them from being able to continue on the force until reaching retirement age.

Under the state employes' retirement system, rates of payment by employes are based on age, sex, and work classification, with employe contributions matched by the state or the employing unit.

Employe payments are placed in one account to provide an annuity when he reaches retirement age, while the state contributes an equal amount to a second account, to provide a retirement pension.

The action was announced following the sudden death of City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger yesterday afternoon as he was working at his desk in City Hall.

The post of city clerk, for many years an appointive position, was placed under Civil Service when the merit system was adopted in May, 1943.

Mayor Post explained that a temporary city clerk will be appointed to serve until a list of eligible applicants can be prepared and an examination held by the Board of Civil Service Commissioners.

Date of the secial meeting has not been set.

Gibson served as acting city clerk when Mr. Griminger was ill from last December until February.

Three noted photographers, A. Aubrey Bodine, staff photographer for the Baltimore Sun; Edward L. Bafford, Baltimore, and William M. Rittase, Philadelphia, will serve as judges.

S. E. Griminger, City Clerk, Dies While At Work

Fatally Stricken At Desk In City Hall

Samuel E. Griminger, 63, who began his service as city clerk in 1930 during the administration of the late Dr. Thomas W. Koon, collapsed and died yesterday afternoon while working at his desk in City Hall.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, set the time of death at 3:25 p. m. and said Mr. Griminger died of a coronary occlusion.

Mr. Griminger's death came less than 48 hours after Robert Jackson, Allegany County Circuit Court clerk, was found dead in his room at the Algonquin Hotel, also of a coronary occlusion.

Death Instantaneous

Miss Nellie G. Cozad, assistant to the city auditor, was working at the other end of the desk from Mr. Griminger when she heard a slight noise and saw him slump over in his chair.

Dr. John K. Rozum, city physician, arrived a few minutes later and said death had been instantaneous. Mr. Griminger had been suffering from a heart condition since last November, according to Dr. Deming.

Mr. Griminger was a patient in Allegany Hospital from last December 3 until Christmas Eve, when he returned home to complete his convalescence from virus pneumonia, Mrs. Griminger said.

He resumed his duties at City Hall early in February, working on a part-time basis for a number of weeks after that time.

City Hall officials said Mr. Griminger did not complain of feeling ill yesterday, but that he had seemed visibly tired during the reading of two lengthy ordinances at a meeting of the Mayor and Council a week ago.

A native and lifelong resident of Cumberland, Mr. Griminger was a son of the late Samuel and Mary Manley Griminger. He was employed in the office of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company prior to being appointed city clerk in April, 1930.

The position, was an appointive one until the merit system was instituted in 1943.

In 1932 Harry S. Thayer was appointed city clerk, and during the next two years, until Thayer's resignation to accept another position, Mr. Griminger was employed by the cvity tax collector's office to collect delinquent taxes.

Under Five Mayors

Upon Thayer's resignation, Mr. Griminger was reappointed and served continuously as city clerk until his death.

Besides Dr. Koon, other mayors in whose administration Mr. Griminger served were George W. Legge, Harry Irvine, Thomas P. Conlon and Mayor Thomas S. Post.

He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and served as secretary of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, for a number of years. He became a fourth degree member of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, recently, and also belonged to Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks.

Mr. Griminger resided with his wife, the former Edith Thuss, at 207 Piedmont Avenue. The couple would have observed their 39th wedding anniversary on June 17. They have no children.

Besides Mrs. Griminger, survivors include two brothers, William T. and Bernard F. Griminger, both of this city.

Driver Exonerated In Woman's Death

The State's Attorney's office said yesterday that no criminal charge will be preferred against Robert M. Smutke, Windber, Pa., driver of the car that struck and fatally injured a 36-year-old local woman on McMullen Highway Monday morning.

A second motorist, James Piacepelli, Norristown, Pa., whose machine crashed against the Smutke vehicle after it hit Mrs. Hazel V. Russ, 529 Greene Street, also was interrogated.

Authorities said that questioning showed Mrs. Russ had alighted from a bus and started to cross the highway rapidly, without looking for approaching cars.

Smutke was not driving at "unreasonable speed" at the time of the accident, and there was no evidence of criminal negligence in the case, the State's Attorney's office said.

Mrs. Russ, a widow, was en route to work in the Celanese cafeteria when the accident occurred.

The body is at the residence where a brief service will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Final rites will be held at Stein's Chapel at 3 p. m. with Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Western Maryland Motor Club Begins Another Safety Campaign On May 10

A Cumberland and area safety campaign, sponsored by the Western Maryland Motor Club, affiliate of the American Automobile Association, will get underway on Monday, William P. Rosenmerkel, manager of the local organization, announced last night.

Each day during the week, the Motor Club will honor the most courteous driver in this area, and that driver will be presented with a $5 cash award.

Unlike the previous drive, which was concentrated in Cumberland, Rosenmerkel said that possibly two or three days of the week will be spent in the Frostburg area and drivers of that section will be duly honored.

Rosenmerkel said the inspector, accompanied by a civic official or a person associated with traffic work, will tour the area from Monday through Friday in search of the winners.

Motorists will be observed from all vantage points, continued Rosenmerkel, and only those who actually deserve the award will be given the honor.

The success in recent drives conducted locally prompted the Motor Club authorities to expand in the drive which will be carried out with the aid of the State and City Police in an effort to curb faulty driving and traffic accidents.
